PREFACE TO THE FIRST EDITION.

1. SHAKESPEARE'S KING JOHN was printed for the first time in the Folio of 1623. The poet adopted most of the characters, the general plot, and occasional lines, or fragments of lines, from an earlier play, in two parts, published in 1591, with the following title-page :

THE | Troublesome Raigne | of Iohn King of England, with the dis-|couerie of King Richard Cordelions | Base sonne (vulgarly named, The Ba-|stard Fawconbridge) : also the | death of King Iohn
at Swinstead | Abbey. | As it was (sundry times) publikely acted by the | Queenes Maiesties Players, in the ho-|nourable Citie of | London. |
Imprinted at London for Sampson Clarke, | and are to be solde at his shop, on the backe-|side of the Royall Exchange. | 1591. |

This play was reprinted for a different bookseller in 1611, with the words 'W. Sh.' added to the title ; and a third edition in 1622, again issued by a different bookseller, has 'W. Shakespeare.'

There can be little doubt that the booksellers attributed the play to Shakespeare in the hope that so popular a name might help the sale, for although the earlier play is by no means devoid of merit, the evidence of its style conclusively proves that Shakespeare had no part in the authorship. We have therefore not reprinted it, but contented ourselves with indicating the passages borrowed verbally from it.

2. Of RICHARD II. four editions in Quarto were published before the appearance of the first Folio :

Q<sub>1</sub>. THE | Tragedie of King Ri-chard the se-cond. | As it hath beene publikely acted | by the right Honourable the | Lorde Chamber-laine his Ser-uants. | LONDON | Printed by Valentine Simmes for Andrew Wise, and | are to be sold at his shop in Paules church yard at | the signe of the Angel. | 1597. |

Q<sub>2</sub>. THE | Tragedie of King Ri-chard the second. | As it hath beene publikely acted by the Right Ho-nourable the Lord Chamber-laine his | seruants. | By William Shake-speare. | LONDON | Printed by Valentine Simmes for Andrew Wise, and | are to be sold at his shop in Paules churchyard at | the signe of the Angel. | 1598. |

Q<sub>3</sub>. THE | Tragedie of King | Richard the second. | As it hath been publikely acted by the Right | Honourable the Lord Chamber-laine | his seruantes. | By William Shake-speare. | LONDON, | Printed by W. W. for Mathew Law, and are to be | sold at his shop in Paules Church-yard, at | the signe of the Foxe. | 1608. |

The same edition was also issued in the same year with the following title-page :

THE | Tragedie of King | Richard the Second : | With new additions of the Parlia-ment Sceane, and the deposing | of King Richard, | As it hath been lately acted by the Kinges | Maiesties seruantes, at the Globe. | By William Shake-speare. | At London, | Printed by W. W. for Mathew Law, and are to | be sold at his shop in Paules Church-yard, | at the signe of the Foxe. 1608. |

Q<sub>4</sub>. THE | Tragedie of King | Richard the Se-cond : | With new additions of the Parliament Sceane, | and the deposing of King | Richard. | As it hath been lately acted by the Kinges | Maiesties seruants, at the Globe. | By WILLIAM SHAKE-SPEARE. | At LONDON, | Printed for Mathew Law, and are to be sold | at his shop in Paules Church-yard, at the | signe of the Foxe. | 1615. |

Each of these Quartos was printed from its immediate predecessor. The third however contains an important addition, found in all the extant copies of Q<sub>3</sub>, amounting to 165 lines, viz.

iv. 1. 154—318. This is what is meant by 'the new additions of the Parliament Scene' mentioned in the title-pages of some copies of Q<sub>3</sub> and in that of Q<sub>4</sub>. These 'new additions' are found also in the first and following Folios and in Q<sub>5</sub>. The play, as given in the first Folio, was no doubt printed from a copy of Q<sub>4</sub>, corrected with some care and prepared for stage representation. Several passages have been left out with a view of shortening the performance. In the 'new additions of the Parliament ~~Scene~~' it would appear that the defective text of the Quarto had been corrected from the author's MS. For this part therefore the first Folio is our highest authority: for all the rest of the play the first Quarto affords the best text.

The fifth Quarto (Q<sub>5</sub>) was printed from the second Folio (F<sub>2</sub>), but its readings sometimes agree with one or other of the earlier Quartos, and in a few cases are entirely independent of previous editions. Its title-page is as follows:

The | Life and | Death of King | Richard the | Second. | With new Additions of the | Parliament Scene, and the | Deposing of
King Richard. | As it hath bene acted by the Kings Majesties |
Servants, at the Globe. | By William Shakespeare. | LONDON, |
Printed by Iohn Norton. | 1634. |

3. THE FIRST PART OF KING HENRY THE FOURTH appeared in six successive Quarto editions before the publication of the first Folio. The title-pages of the first five of these editions are given in full below. The version in the first Folio seems to have been printed from a partially corrected copy of the fifth Quarto. In many places the readings coincide with those of the earlier Quartos, which were probably consulted by the corrector. The title of the play in the Folio is, 'The First Part of Henry the Fourth, with the Life and Death of Henry Sirnamed Hot-spurre.' As there is no copy of the fourth Quarto in the Capell collection, our collation has been made from the copy in the Bodleian, and verified by that in the Devonshire Library. The deficiencies of Capell's copy of the third Quarto have been supplied by a collation of the Bodleian copy of that edition.

Q<sub>1</sub>. The | History of | Henrie the | Fovrth ; | With the battell at Shrewsburie, | betweene the King and Lord | Henry Percy, surnamed | Henrie Hotspur of | the North. | With the humorous conceits of Sir | Iohn Falstalffe. | AT LONDON, | Printed by P. S. for Andrew Wise, dwelling | in Paules Churchyard, at the signe of | the Angell. 1598. |

Q<sub>2</sub>. The | History of | Henrie the | Fovrth ; | With the battell at Shrewsburie, | betweene the King and Lord Henry | Percy, surnamed Henry Hot-|spur of the North. | VVith the humorous conceits of Sir | Iohn Falstalffe. | Newly corrected by W. Shake-speare. | AT LONDON, | Printed by S. S. for Andrew VVise, dwelling | in Paules Churchyard, at the signe of | the Angell. 1599. |

Q<sub>3</sub>. The | History of | Henrie the fourth, | VVith the battell at Shrewsburie, | betweene the King, and Lord | Henry Percy, surnamed Henry Hot-|spur of the North. | With the humorous conceits of Sir | Iohn Falstalffe. | Newly corrected by W. Shake-speare. | London Printed by Valentine Simmes, for Mathew Law, and | are to be solde at his shop in Paules Churchyard, | at the signe of the Fox. | 1604. |

Q<sub>4</sub>. The | History of | Henry the fourth, | VVith the battell at Shrewseburie, | betweene the King, and Lord | Henry Percy, surnamed Henry | Hotspur of the North. | With the humorous conceites of Sir | Iohn Falstalffe. | Newly corrected by W. Shake-speare. | LONDON, | Printed for Mathew Law, and are to be sold at | his shop in Paules Church-yard, neere vnto S. | Augustines gate, at the signe of | the Foxe. 1608. |

Q<sub>5</sub>. The | History of | Henrie the fourth, | With the Battell at Shrewseburie, betweene | the King, and Lord Henrie Percy, sur-| named Henrie Hotspur of the North. | VVith the humorous conceites of Sir | Iohn Falstaffe. | Newly corrected by W. Shake-speare. | LONDON, | Printed by W. W. for Mathew Law, and are to be sold | at his shop in Paules Church-yard, neere vnto S. | Augustines Gate, at the signe of the Foxe. | 1613.

Subsequent editions in Quarto were printed in 1622 (Q<sub>6</sub>) by T. P. for Mathew Law, in 1632 (Q<sub>7</sub>) by John Norton for William Sheares, and in 1639 (Q<sub>8</sub>) by John Norton for Hugh Perry. In all these the title-page is substantially the same. Each Quarto appears to have been printed from its predecessor.

The 'Dering MS.' quoted in our foot-notes was discovered in the muniment room at Surrenden by the Rev. Lambert B. Larking in 1844, and published in the following year for the Shakespeare Society under the editorship of Mr Halliwell. It contains a large portion of the First Part of Henry IV. and some scenes of the Second Part. Mr Halliwell believes it to have been written in the early part of the 17th century, certainly earlier than 1640, for the purpose of private theatrical performance. Some additions and corrections were made by the hand of Sir Edward Deryng, the first baronet, who died in 1644. (Introduction, p. xii. ed. 1845.)

We are of opinion that this MS. was copied from the fifth Quarto of the First Part, and from a complete Quarto of the Second Part. The writer seems to have been both illiterate and careless. His punctuation is singularly bad, and his spelling peculiar to himself. We have noticed such various readings as seemed in any way remarkable.

4. THE SECOND PART OF KING HENRY THE FOURTH was first published in Quarto in 1600 with the following title-page:

THE | Second part of Henrie | the fourth, continuing to his death, | and coronation of Henrie | the fift. | With the humours of sir Iohn Fal- | staffe, and swaggering | Pistoll. | As it hath been sundrie times publickely | acted by the right honourable, the Lord | Chamberlaine his seruants. | Written by William Shakespeare. | LONDON | Printed by V. S. for Andrew Wise, and | William Aspley. | 1600. |

In some copies of the Quarto the first scene of Act III. is left out altogether. The omission seems to have been discovered after part of the edition had been struck off and rectified by the insertion of two new leaves. In order to make this insertion, the type was taken to pieces in part of the preceding and subsequent leaves, so that there are two different impressions for the latter part of Act II. and the beginning of Act III. Sc. 2. Where this difference occurs we have used the symbols  $Q_1$  and  $Q_2$ ; where the two are identical we use only  $Q$ .

The version in the first Folio was probably printed from a transcript of the original MS. It contains passages of considerable length which are not found in the Quarto. Some of these are among the finest in the play, and are too closely connected with the context to allow of the supposition that they were later additions inserted by the author after the publication of the Quarto. In the MS. from which that edition was printed, these passages had been most likely omitted, or erased, in order to shorten the play for the stage. The Folio in other places affords occasional readings which seem preferable to those of the Quarto, but for the most part the Quarto is to be regarded as having the higher critical value.

5. KING HENRY THE FIFTH appears in its present form for the first time in the Folio of 1623. An imperfect edition in quarto was printed surreptitiously in 1600, with the following title:

( $Q_1$ ). The | Cronicle | History of Henry the fift, | With his battell fought at Agin Court in | France. Together with Auntient |
Pistoll. | As 'it hath bene sundry times playd by the Right honor- able | the Lord Chamberlaine his seruants. | LONDON | Printed by
Thomas Creede, for Tho. Milling- | ton, and Iohn Busby. And are to be | sold at his house in Carter Lane, next | the Powle head.
1600. |

The text of this edition is given literatim at the end of the present volume<sup>1</sup>, with the readings of two reprints which appeared in 1602 and 1608 respectively. The title-pages of these are as follows:

rable the Lord Chamberlaine his | Seruants*. | Printed for T. P. 1608. |

The text of these Quarto editions is so imperfect and varies so much from the more authentic text of the Folio, that it was impossible to give the variations in our foot-notes. We are inclined to agree with Mr Collier and others in the supposition that the Quarto text was 'hastily made up from notes taken at the theatre during the performance, subsequently patched together.' The references to these Quartos are inclosed in brackets in accordance with the rule mentioned in the Preface to Vol. i. p. xxiii.

It is scarcely necessary to add that 'The famous Victories of Henry the Fift,' published in [1598 and] 1617, has nothing to do with Shakespeare's play.

We have the pleasure of adding several new names to the list of our benefactors. Miss Thackeray, of Windsor, has been so kind as to lend us a copy of Nares's Glossary which belonged to her late father, the Provost of King's College, Cambridge, and is copiously annotated in his hand.

Mr Henry Wilbraham has obtained for us the loan of some valuable MS. notes on Shakespeare, compiled by the late Mr Roger Wilbraham, F.R.S., formerly Fellow of Trinity College, and now in the possession of Mr George Fortescue Wilbraham of Delamere House, Cheshire.

KING JOHN.

ACT I.

SCENE I. KING JOHN'S palace.

Enter KING JOHN, QUEEN ELINOR, PEMBROKE, ESSEX, SALISBURY, and others, with CHATILLON.

K. John. Now, say, Chatillon, what would France with us?

Chat. Thus, after greeting, speaks the King of France
In my behaviour to the majesty,
The borrowed majesty, of England here.

Eli. A strange beginning: 'borrowed majesty!' 5

K. John. Silence, good mother; hear the embassy.

Chat. Philip of France, in right and true behalf
Of thy deceased brother Geoffrey's son,
Arthur Plantagenet, lays most lawful claim

To Ireland, Poictiers, Anjou, Touraine, Maine,
Desiring thee to lay aside the sword
Which sways usurpingly these several titles,
And put the same into young Arthur's hand,
Thy nephew and right royal sovereign.

K. John. What follows if we disallow of this?

Chat. The proud control of fierce and bloody war,
To enforce these rights so forcibly withheld.

K. John. Here have we war for war and blood for blood,

Controlment for controlment: so answer France.

20

Chat. Then take my king's defiance from my mouth,
The farthest limit of my embassy.

K. John. Bear mine to him, and so depart in peace:
Be thou as lightning in the eyes of France;

For ere thou canst report I will be there,
The thunder of my cannon shall be heard:

So hence! Be thou the trumpet of our wrath
And sullen presage of your own decay.

An honourable conduct let him have.

Pembroke, look to't. Farewell, Chatillon.

[Exeunt Chatillon and Pembroke.]

Eli. What now, my son! have I not ever said
How that ambitious Constance would not cease
Till she had kindled France and all the world,
Upon the right and party of her son?

This might have been prevented and made whole

That e'er I heard: shall I produce the men?

K. John. Let them approach.
Our abbeyes and our priories shall pay
This expedition's charge.

Enter ROBERT FAULCONBRIDGE, and PHILIP his bastard brother.

What men are you?

Bast. Your faithful subject I, a gentleman 50
Born in Northamptonshire, and eldest son,
As I suppose, to Robert Faulconbridge,
A soldier, by the honour-giving hand
Of Cœur-de-lion knighted in the field.

K. John. What art thou? 55

Rob. The son and heir to that same Faulconbridge.

K. John. Is that the elder, and art thou the heir?
You came not of one mother then, it seems.

Bast. Most certain of one mother, mighty king;
That is well known; and, as I think, one father: 60
But for the certain knowledge of that truth
I put you o'er to heaven and to my mother:
Of that I doubt, as all men's children may.

Eli. Out on thee, rude man! thou dost shame thy mother

And wound her honour with this diffidence. 65

Bast. I, madam? no, I have no reason for it;
That is my brother's plea and none of mine;
The which if he can prove, a' pops me out
At least from fair five hundred pound a year:
Heaven guard my mother's honour and my land! 70

K. John. A good blunt fellow. Why, being younger born,

Doth he lay claim to thine inheritance?

Bast. I know not why, except to get the land.
But once he slander'd me with bastardy:
But whether I be as true begot or no, 75
That still I lay upon my mother's head;
But that I am as well begot, my liege,—
Fair fall the bones that took the pains for me!—
Compare our faces and be judge yourself.

 And were our father and this son like him,
 O old Sir Robert, father, on my knee
 I give heaven thanks I was not like to thee!

K. John. Why, what a madcap hath heaven lent us here!

Eli. He hath a trick of Cœur-de-lion's face; 85
 The accent of his tongue affecteth him.
 Dō you not read some tokens of my son
 In the large composition of this man?

K. John. Mine eye hath well examined his parts
 And finds them perfect Richard. Sirrah, speak, 90
 What doth move you to claim your brother's land?

Bast. Because he hath a half-face, like my father.
 With half that face would he have all my land:
 A half-faced groat five hundred pound a year!

Rob. My gracious liege, when that my father lived,
 Your brother did employ my father much,— 96

Bast. Well, sir, by this you cannot get my land:
 Your tale must be how he employ'd my mother.

Rob. And once dispatch'd him in an embassy
 To Germany, there with the emperor 100
 To treat of high affairs touching that time.
 The advantage of his absence took the king
 And in the mean time sojourn'd at my father's;
 Where how he did prevail I shame to speak,

Between my father and my mother lay,
 As I have heard my father speak himself,
 When this same lusty gentleman was got.
 Upon his death-bed he by will bequeath'd
 His lands to me, and took it on his death 110
 That this my mother's son was none of his;
 And if he were, he came into the world
 Full fourteen weeks before the course of time.
 Then, good my liege, let me have what is mine,
 My father's land, as was my father's will. 115

K. John. Sirrah, your brother is legitimate;
 Your father's wife did after wedlock bear him,
 And if she did play false, the fault was hers;
 Which fault lies on the hazards of all husbands
 That marry wives. Tell me, how if my brother, 120
 Who, as you say, took pains to get this son,
 Had of your father claim'd this son for his?
 In sooth, good friend, your father might have kept
 This calf, bred from his cow, from all the world;
 In sooth he might; then, if he were my brother's, 125
 My brother might not claim him; nor your father,
 Being none of his, refuse him: this concludes;
 My mother's son did get your father's heir;
 Your father's heir must have your father's land.

Rob. Shall then my father's will be of no force 130
 To dispossess that child which is not his?

Bast. Of no more force to dispossess me, sir,
 Than was his will to get me, as I think.

And like thy brother, to enjoy thy land, 135

Bast. Madam, an if my brother had my shape,
 And I had his, sir Robert's his, like him;
 And if my legs were two such riding-rods, 140
 My arms such eel-skins stuff'd, my face so thin
 That in mine ear I durst not stick a rose
 Lest men should say 'Look, where three-farthings goes!'
 And, to his shape, were heir to all this land,
 Would I might never stir from off this place, 145
 I would give it every foot to have this face;
 I would not be sir Nob in any case.

Eli. I like thee well: wilt thou forsake thy fortune,
 Bequeath thy land to him and follow me?
 I am a soldier and now bound to France. 150

Bast. Brother, take you my land, I'll take my chance.
 Your face hath got five hundred pound a year,
 Yet sell your face for five pence and 'tis dear.
 Madam, I'll follow you unto the death.

Eli. Nay, I would have you go before me thither.

Now blessed be the hour, by night or day, 165

Eli. The very spirit of Plantagenet !

Who dares not stir by day must walk by night,
And have is have, however men do catch :

 But with a heart full of unstained love :
 Welcome before the gates of Angiers, duke.

Lew. A noble boy! Who would not do thee right?

Aust. Upon thy cheek lay I this zealous kiss,
 As seal to this indenture of my love, 20
 That to my home I will no more return,
 Till Angiers and the right thou hast in France,
 Together with that pale, that white-faced shore,
 Whose foot spurns back the ocean's roaring tides
 And coops from other lands her islanders, 25
 Even till that England, hedged in with the main,
 That water-walled bulwark, still secure
 And confident from foreign purposes,
 Even till that utmost corner of the west
 Salute thee for her king: till then, fair boy, 30
 Will I not think of home, but follow arms.

Const. O, take his mother's thanks, a widow's thanks,
 Till your strong hand shall help to give him strength

With burden of our armour here we sweat.
 This toil of ours should be a work of thine;
 But thou from loving England art so far,
 That thou hast under-wrought his lawful king, 95
 Cut off the sequence of posterity,
 Out-faced infant state and done a rape
 Upon the maiden virtue of the crown.
 Look here upon thy brother Geffrey's face;
 These eyes, these brows, were moulded out of his: 100
 This little abstract doth contain that large
 Which died in Geffrey, and the hand of time
 Shall draw this brief into as huge a volume.
 That Geffrey was thy elder brother born,
 And this his son; England was Geffrey's right, 105
 • And this is Geffrey's: in the name of God
 How comes it then that thou art call'd a king,
 When living blood doth in these temples beat,
 Which owe the crown that thou o'ermasterest?

 Behold, the French amazed vouchsafe a parole;

 ...at severall doores. Ff. Flourish.
 Enter King John, and his Power, on one Side, Bastard, Elinor,
 Blanch, &c.: on the other, King
 Philip, and French, Austria, and Lewis. Capell.

Say, shall the current of our right run on? 335
 Whose passage, vex'd with thy impediment,
 Shall leave his native channel, and o'erswell
 With course disturb'd even thy confining shores,
 Unless thou let his silver water keep
 A peaceful progress to the ocean. 340
K. Phi. England, thou hast not saved one drop of blood,

In this hot trial, more than we of France;
 Rather, lost more. And by this hand I swear,
 That sways the earth this climate overlooks,
 Before we will lay down our just-borne arms, 345
 We'll put thee down, 'gainst whom these arms we bear,
 Or add a royal number to the dead,
 Gracing the scroll that tells of this war's loss
 With slaughter coupled to the name of kings.

Bast. Ha, majesty! how high thy glory towers, 350
 When the rich blood of kings is set on fire!
 O, now doth Death line his dead chaps with steel;
 The swords of soldiers are his teeth, his fangs;
 And now he feasts, mousing the flesh of men,
 In undetermined differences of kings. 355
 Why stand these royal fronts amazed thus?
 Cry 'havoc!' kings; back to the stained field,
 You equal potents, fiery kindled spirits!
 Then let confusion of one part confirm 359

King'd of our fears, until our fears, resolved,

Be by some certain king purged and deposed.

Your sharpest deeds of malice on this town: 380
 By east and west let France and England mount
 Their battering cannon charged to the mouths,
 Till their soul-fearing clamours have brawl'd down
 The flinty ribs of this contemptuous city :
 I'd play incessantly upon these jades, 385
 Even till unfenced desolation
 Leave them as naked as the vulgar air.
 That done, dissever your united strengths,
 And part your mingled colours once again ;
 Turn face to face and bloody point to point ; 390
 Then, in a moment, Fortune shall cull forth
 Out of one side her happy minion,
 To whom in favour she shall give the day,
 And kiss him with a glorious victory.
 How like you this wild counsel, mighty states ? 395
 Smacks it not something of the policy ?

K. John. Now, by the sky that hangs above our heads,
 I like it well. France, shall we knit our powers
 And lay this Angiers even with the ground ;
 Then after fight who shall be king of it ? 400

Bast. An if thou hast the mettle of a king,
 Being wrong'd as we are by this peevish town,
 Turn thou the mouth of thy artillery,
 As we will ours, against these saucy walls ;
 And when that we have dash'd them to the ground, 405
 Why then defy each other, and pell-mell
 Make work upon ourselves, for heaven or hell.

Of Lewis the Dauphin and that lovely maid:

425

If lusty love should go in quest of beauty,

Where should he find it fairer than in Blanch?

If zealous love should go in search of virtue,

Where should he find it purer than in Blanch?

 Two such controlling bounds shall you be, kings,
 To these two princes, if you marry them. 445
 This union shall do more than battery can

SCENE I. The French KING's Pavilion.Enter CONSTANCE, ARTHUR, and SALISBURY.

- Const.* Gone to be married! gone to swear a peace!
 False blood to false blood join'd! gone to be friends!
 Shall Lewis have Blanch, and Blanch those provinces?
 It is not so; thou hast misspoke, misheard;
 Be well advised, tell o'er thy tale again: 5
 It cannot be; thou dost but say 'tis so:
 • I trust I may not trust thee; for thy word
 Is but the vain breath of a common man:
 Believe me, I do not believe thee, man;
 I have a king's oath to the contrary. 10
 Thou shalt be punish'd for thus frightening me,
 For I am sick and capable of fears,
 Oppress'd with wrongs and therefore full of fears,
 A widow, husbandless, subject to fears,
 A woman, naturally born to fears; 15
 And though thou now confess thou didst but jest,
 With my vex'd spirits I cannot take a truce,
 But they will quake and tremble all this day.
 What dost thou mean by shaking of thy head?
 Why dost thou look so sadly on my son? 20

I would not care, I then would be content,
 For then I should not love thee, no, nor thou
 Become thy great birth nor deserve a crown. 50
 But thou art fair, and at thy birth, dear boy,
 Nature and Fortune join'd to make thee great :
 Of Nature's gifts thou mayst with lilies boast
 And with the half-blown rose. But Fortune, O,
 She is corrupted, changed and won from thee ; 55
 She adulterates hourly with thine uncle John,
 And with her golden hand hath pluck'd on France
 To tread down fair respect of sovereignty,
 And made his majesty the bawd to theirs.
 France is a bawd to Fortune and King John, 60
 That strumpet Fortune, that usurping John !
 Tell me, thou fellow, is not France forsworn ?
 Envenom him with words, or get thee gone,
 And leave those woes alone which I alone
 Am bound to under-bear.

135 SCENE II. Pope. SCENE III. Hamer.

To thee, King John, my holy errand is.
 I Pandulph, of fair Milan cardinal,
 And from Pope Innocent the legate here,
 Do in his name religiously demand 140
 Why thou against the church, our holy mother,
 So wilfully dost spurn; and force perforce
 Keep Stephen Langton, chosen archbishop
 Of Canterbury, from that holy see:
 This, in our foresaid holy father's name, 145
 Pope Innocent, I do demand of thee.

- K. John.* What earthy name to interrogatories
 Can task the free breath of a sacred king?
 Thou canst not, cardinal, devise a name
 So slight, unworthy and ridiculous, 150
 • To charge me to an answer, as the pope.
 Tell him this tale; and from the mouth of England
 Add thus much more, that no Italian priest
 Shall tithe or toll in our dominions;
 But as we, under heaven, are supreme head, 155
 So under Him that great supremacy,
 Where we do reign, we will alone uphold,
 Without the assistance of a mortal hand.
 So tell the pope, all reverence set apart
 To him and his usurp'd authority. 160

K. Phi. Brother of England, you blaspheme in this.

K. John. Though you and all the kings of Christendom
 Are led so grossly by this meddling priest,
 Dreading the curse that money may buy out;

And by the merit of vile gold, dross, dust, 165
 Purchase corrupted pardon of a man,
 Who in that sale sells pardon from himself,
 Though you and all the rest so grossly led

 Yet I alone, alone do me oppose 170
 Against the pope and count his friends my foes.

Pand. Then, by the lawful power that I have,
 Thou shalt stand cursed and excommunicate :
 And blessed shall he be that doth revolt
 From his allegiance to an heretic ; 175
 And meritorious shall that hand be call'd,

Const. O, lawful let it be

 Good father cardinal, cry thou amen

 There is no tongue hath power to curse him right.

Pand. There's law and warrant, lady, for my curse.

Const. And for mine too : when law can do no right,
 Let it be lawful that law bar no wrong : 186
 Law cannot give my child his kingdom here,

K. Phi. I am perplex'd, and know not what to say.

Pand. What canst thou say but will perplex thee more,
If thou stand excommunicate and cursed? 223

K. Phi. Good reverend father, make my person yours,
And tell me how you would bestow yourself. 225

This royal hand and mine are newly knit,
And the conjunction of our inward souls
Married in league, coupled and link'd together
With all religious strength of sacred vows;

The latest breath that gave the sound of words 230
Was deep-sworn faith, peace, amity, true love

Between our kingdoms and our royal selves,
And even before this truce, but new before,
No longer than we well could wash our hands
To clap this royal bargain up of peace, 235

Heaven knows, they were besmear'd and overstain'd
With slaughter's pencil, where revenge did paint
The fearful difference of incensed kings:

And shall these hands, so lately purged of blood,
So newly join'd in love, so strong in both, 240

 My reverend father, let it not be so!
 Out of your grace, devise, ordain, impose 250
 Some gentle order; and then we shall be blest
 To do your pleasure and continue friends.

Pand. All form is formless, order orderless,
 Save what is opposite to England's love.
 Therefore to arms! be champion of our church, 255
 Or let the church, our mother, breathe her curse,
 A mother's curse, on her revolting son.

K. Phi. I may disjoin my hand, but not my faith.

Pand. So makest thou faith an enemy to faith;
 And like a civil war set'st oath to oath,
 Thy tongue against thy tongue. O, let thy vow 265

Pand. Lady, you utter madness, and not sorrow.

Const. Thou art not holy to belie me so;

I am not mad: this hair I tear is mine; 45

My name is Constance; I was Geoffrey's wife;

Young Arthur is my son, and he is lost:

I am not mad: I would to heaven I were!

For then, 'tis like I should forget myself:

O, if I could, what grief should I forget! 50

Preach some philosophy to make me mad,

And thou shalt be canonized, cardinal;

For, being not mad but sensible of grief,

My reasonable part produces reason

How I may be deliver'd of these woes, 55

And teaches me to kill or hang myself:

If I were mad, I should forget my son,

Or madly think a babe of clouts were he:

I am not mad; too well, too well I feel

The different plague of each calamity. 60

K. Phi. Bind up those tresses. O, what love I note
In the fair multitude of those her hairs!

Where but by chance a silver drop hath fallen,

Even to that drop ten thousand wiry friends

Do glue themselves in sociable grief, 65

Like true, inseparable, faithful loves,

Sticking together in calamity.

 As they have given these hairs their liberty !'
 But now I envy at their liberty,
 And will again commit them to their bonds,
 Because my poor child is a prisoner. 75
 And, father cardinal, I have heard you say
 That we shall see and know our friends in heaven :
 If that be true, I shall see my boy again ;
 For since the birth of Cain, the first male child,
 To him that did but yesterday suspire, 80
 There was not such a gracious creature born.
 But now will canker sorrow eat my bud
 And chase the native beauty from his cheek
 • And he will look as hollow as a ghost,
 As dim and meagre as an ague's fit, 85
 And so he'll die ; and, rising so again,
 When I shall meet him in the court of heaven
 I shall not know him : therefore never, never Must I behold my pretty Arthur more.
Pand. You hold too heinous a respect of grief. 90
Const. He talks to me that never had a son.
K. Phi. You are as fond of grief as of your child.
Const. Grief fills the room up of my absent child,
 Lies in his bed, walks up and down with me,

Shall blow each dust, each straw, each little rub,
Out of the path which shall directly lead
Thy foot to England's throne; and therefore mark. 130
John hath seized Arthur; and it cannot be
That, whiles warm life plays in that infant's veins,
The misplaced John should entertain an hour,
One minute, nay, one quiet breath of rest.
A sceptre snatch'd with an unruly hand 135
Must be as boisterously maintain'd as gain'd;
And he that stands upon a slippery place
Makes nice of no vile hold to stay him up:
That John may stand, then Arthur needs must fall;
So be it, for it cannot be but so. 140

Lew. But what shall I gain by young Arthur's fall?

Pand. You, in the right of Lady Blanch your wife,
May then make all the claim that Arthur did.

Young lad, come forth; I have to say with you.

Enter ARTHUR.

Arth. Good morrow, Hubert.

Hub. Good morrow, little prince.

Arth. As little prince, having so great a title 10
To be more prince, as may be. You are sad.

Hub. Indeed, I have been merrier.

Arth. Mercy on me!
Methinks no body should be sad but I:
Yet, I remember, when I was in France,
Young gentlemen would be as sad as night, 15
Only for wantonness. By my christendom,
So I were out of prison and kept sheep,
I should be as merry as the day is long;
And so I would be here, but that I doubt
My uncle practises more harm to me: 20

He is afraid of me and I of him:
Is it my fault that I was Geffrey's son?
No, indeed, is 't not; and I would to heaven
I were your son, so you would love me, Hubert.

Hub. [Aside] If I talk to him, with his innocent prate
He will awake my mercy which lies dead: 26
Therefore I will be sudden and dispatch.

Arth. Are you sick, Hubert? you look pale to-day:
In sooth, I would you were a little sick,
That I might sit all night and watch with you: 30
I warrant I love you more than you do me.

Read here, young Arthur. [Showing a paper.]

[Aside] How now, foolish rheum!

Turning despiteous torture out of door!

I must be brief, lest resolution drop 35

Out at mine eyes in tender womanish tears.

Can you not read it? is it not fair writ?

Arth. Too fairly, Hubert, for so foul effect:

Must you with hot irons burn out both mine eyes?

Hub. Young boy, I must.

Arth. And will you?

Hub. And I will.

Arth. Have you the heart? When your head did but ache, 41

I knit my handkercher about your brows,

The best I had, a princess wrought it me,

And I did never ask it you again;

And with my hand at midnight held your head, 45

And like the watchful minutes to the hour,

Still and anon cheer'd up the heavy time,

Saying, 'What lack you?' and 'Where lies your grief?'

Or 'What good love may I perform for you?'

Many a poor man's son would have lien still 50

And ne'er have spoke a loving word to you;

 Approaching near these eyes, would drink my tears

Or, Hubert, if you will, cut out my tongue,

Being create for comfort, to be used
In undeserved extremes: see else yourself;
There is no malice in this burning coal;
The breath of heaven hath blown his spirit out 110

Pem. This 'once again,' but that your highness pleased,
 Was once superfluous: you were crown'd before,
 And that high royalty was ne'er pluck'd off, 5
 The faiths of men ne'er stained with revolt;
 Fresh expectation troubled not the land
 With any long'd-for change or better state.

Sal. Therefore, to be possess'd with double pomp,
 To guard a title that was rich before, 10
 To gild refined gold, to paint the lily,
 To throw a perfume on the violet,
 To smooth the ice, or add another hue
 Unto the rainbow, or with taper-light
 To seek the beauteous eye of heaven to garnish, 15
 Is wasteful and ridiculous excess.

Pem. But that your royal pleasure must be done, •
 This act is as an ancient tale new told,
 And in the last repeating troublesome,
 Being urged at a time unseasonable. 20

Sal. In this the antique and well noted face
 Of plain old form is much disfigured;
 And, like a shifted wind unto a sail,
 It makes the course of thoughts to fetch about,
 Startles and frights consideration, 25
 Makes sound opinion sick and truth suspected,
 For putting on so new a fashion'd robe.

Pem. When workmen strive to do better than well,
 They do confound their skill in covetousness;
 And oftentimes excusing of a fault 30

Sal. To this effect, before you were new crown'd, 35
 We breathed our counsel: but it pleased your highness
 To overbear it, and we are all well pleased,
 Since all and every part of what we would Doth make a stand at what your highness will.

K. John. Some reasons of this double coronation 40
 I have possess'd you with and think them strong;
 And more, more strong, then lesser is my fear,
 I shall indue you with: meantime but ask
 What you would have reform'd that is not well,
 And well shall you perceive how willingly 45
 I will both hear and grant you your requests.

Pem. Then I, as one that am the tongue of these,
 To sound the purposes of all their hearts,
 Both for myself and them, but, chief of all,
 Your safety, for the which myself and them 50
 Bend their best studies, heartily request
 The enfranchisement of Arthur; whose restraint

From forth the streets of Pomfret, whom I found
 With many hundreds treading on his heels;
 To whom he sung, in rude harsh-sounding rhymes, 150
 That, ere the next Ascension-day at noon,
 Your highness should deliver up your crown.

K. John. Thou idle dreamer, wherefore didst thou so?

Peter. Foreknowing that the truth will fall out so.

K. John. Hubert, away with him; imprison him; 155
 And on that day at noon, whereon he says
 I shall yield up my crown, let him be hang'd.
 Deliver him to safety; and return,
 For I must use thee. [Exit Hubert with Peter.

O my gentle cousin, •

Hear'st thou the news abroad, who are arrived? 160

Bast. The French, my lord; men's mouths are full of it: •
 Besides, I met Lord Bigot and Lord Salisbury,
 With eyes as red as new-enkindled fire,
 And others more, going to seek the grave
 Of Arthur, whom they say is kill'd to-night 165
 On your suggestion.

K. John. Gentle kinsman, go,
 And thrust thyself into their companies:
 I have a way to win their loves again;
 Bring them before me.

Bast. I will seek them out.

K. John. Nay, but make haste; the better foot before.
 O, let me have no subject enemies, 171

Some messenger betwixt me and the peers;
And be thou he.

K. John. My mother dead!

Re-enter HUBERT.

Hub. My lord, they say five moons were seen to-night;
Four fixed, and the fifth did whirl about
The other four in wondrous motion.

• K. John. Five moons!

Hub. Old men and beldams in the streets
Do prophesy upon it dangerously: 186
Young Arthur's death is common in their mouths:
And when they talk of him, they shake their heads
And whisper one another in the ear;
And he that speaks doth gripe the hearer's wrist, 190
Whilst he that hears makes fearful action,
With wrinkled brows, with nods, with rolling eyes.
I saw a smith stand with his hammer, thus,
The whilst his iron did on the anvil cool,
With open mouth swallowing a tailor's news; 195
Who, with his shears and measure in his hand,
Standing on slippers, which his nimble haste
Had falsely thrust upon contrary feet,
Told of a many thousand warlike French
That were embattailed and rank'd in Kent: 200

Thy hand hath murder'd him: I had a mighty cause 205
To wish him dead, but thou hadst none to kill him.

Hub. No had, my lord! why, did you not provoke me?

 But taking note of thy abhorr'd aspect,
 Finding thee fit for bloody villany, 225
 Apt, liable to be employ'd in danger,
 I faintly broke with thee of Arthur's death ;
 And thou, to be endeared to a king,
 Made it no conscience to destroy a prince.

When I spake darkly what I purposed,
 Or turn'd an eye of doubt upon my face,
 As bid me tell my tale in express words, 234
 Deep shame had struck me dumb, made me break off,
 And those thy fears might have wrought fears in me :
 But thou didst understand me by my signs
 And didst in signs again parley with sin ;
 Yea, without stop, didst let thy heart consent,
 And consequently thy rude hand to act 240
 The deed, which both our tongues held vile to name.

 My crown I should give off? Even so I have :
 I did suppose it should be on constraint ;
 But, heaven be thank'd, it is but voluntary.

Enter the BASTARD.

Bast. All Kent hath yielded ; nothing there holds out
 But Dover Castle : London hath received, 31
 Like a kind host, the Dauphin and his powers :
 Your nobles will not hear you, but are gone
 To offer service to your enemy,
 And wild amazement hurries up and down 35
 The little number of your doubtful friends.

K. John. Would not my lords return to me again,
 After they heard young Arthur was alive?

Bast. They found him dead and cast into the streets,
 An empty casket, where the jewel of life 40
 By some damn'd hand was robb'd and ta'en away.

K. John. That villain Hubert told me he did live.

Bast. So, on my soul, he did, for aught he knew.
 But wherefore do you droop? why look you sad?
 Be great in act, as you have been in thought; 45
 Let not the world see fear and sad distrust
 Govern the motion of a kingly eye :
 Be stirring as the time ; be fire with fire ;
 Threaten the threatener, and outface the brow
 Of bragging horror : so shall inferior eyes, 50

Show boldness and aspiring confidence.

What, shall they seek the lion in his den,
And fright him there? and make him tremble there?

O, let it not be said: forage, and run
To meet displeasure farther from the doors, 60
And grapple with him ere he come so nigh.

K. John. The legate of the pope hath been with me,
And I have made a happy peace with him;
And he hath promised to dismiss the powers
Led by the Dauphin.

Bast. O inglorious league! 65

Shall we, upon the footing of our land,
Send fair-play orders and make compromise,
Insinuation, parley and base truce

To arms invasive? shall a beardless boy,
A cocker'd silken wanton, brave our fields, 70

And flesh his spirit in a warlike soil,
Mocking the air with colours idly spread,

And find no check? Let us, my liege, to arms:
Perchance the cardinal cannot make your peace;

Or if he do, let it at least be said 75

To your proceedings; yet believe me, prince,
I am not glad that such a sore of time
Should seek a plaster by contemn'd revolt,
And heal the inveterate canker of one wound

 Let me wipe off this honourable dew, 45

 But this effusion of such manly drops,
 This shower, blown up by tempest of the soul, 50
 Startles mine eyes, and makes me more amazed
 Than had I seen the vaulty top of heaven
 Figured quite o'er with burning meteors.
 Lift up thy brow, renowned Salisbury,
 And with a great heart heave away this storm: 55
 Commend these waters to those baby eyes

 Nor met with fortune other than at feasts,
 Full of warm blood, of mirth, of gossiping.

To give us warrant from the hand of heaven,
 And on our actions set the name of right
 With holy breath.

Pand. Hail, noble prince of France!
 The next is this, King John hath reconciled
 Himself to Rome; his spirit is come in, 70
 That so stood out against the holy church,
 The great metropolis and see of Rome:
 Therefore thy threatening colours now wind up;
 And tame the savage spirit of wild war,
 That, like a lion foster'd up at hand, 75
 It may lie gently at the foot of peace,
 And be no further harmful than in show.

Lew. Your grace shall pardon me, I will not back:
 I am too high-born to be propertied, 80
 To be a secondary at control,
 Or useful serving-man and instrument
 To any sovereign state throughout the world.
 Your breath first kindled the dead coal of wars
 Between this chastised kingdom and myself,
 And brought in matter that should feed this fire; 85
 And now 'tis far too huge to be blown out
 With that same weak wind which enkindled it.
 You taught me how to know the face of right,
 Acquainted me with interest to this land,
 Yea, thrust this enterprise into my heart; 90
 And come ye now to tell me John hath made
 His peace with Rome? What is that peace to me?
 I, by the honour of my marriage-bed,
 After young Arthur, claim this land for mine;

 What men provided, what munition sent,
 To underprop this action? Is't not I
 That undergo this charge? who else but I, 100
 And such as to my claim are liable,
 Sweat in this business and maintain this war?
 Have I not heard these islanders shout out
 'Vive le roi!' as I have bank'd their towns?
 Have I not here the best cards for the game, 105
 To win this easy match play'd for a crown?
 And shall I now give o'er the yielded set?
 No, no, on my soul, it never shall be said.

• Pand. You look but on the outside of this work.

Lew. Outside or inside, I will not return 110
 Till my attempt so much be glorified
 As to my ample hope was promised
 Before I drew this gallant head of war,
 And cull'd these fiery spirits from the world,

Pand. The Dauphin is too wilful-opposite,
 And will not temporize with my entreaties; 125
 He flatly says he'll not lay down his arms.

Bast. By all the blood that ever fury breathed,
 The youth says well. Now hear our English king;
 For thus his royalty doth speak in me.
 He is prepared, and reason too he should: 130
 This apish and unmannerly approach,
 This harness'd masque and unadvised revel,
 This unhair'd sauciness and boyish troops,
 The king doth smile at; and is well prepared
 To whip this dwarfish war, these pigmy arms, 135
 From out the circle of his territories.

 To cudgel you and make you take the hatch,
 To dive like buckets in concealed wells,
 To crouch in litter of your stable planks, 140

As this hath made me. Who was he that said

The stumbling night did part our weary powers?

Should 'scape the true acquaintance of mine ear. 15

Bast. Come, come; sans compliment, what news

Hub. Why, here walk I in the black brow of night,
To find you out.

Bast. Brief, then; and what's the news?

Hub. O, my sweet sir, news fitting to the night,
Black, fearful, comfortless and horrible. 20

Bast. Show me the very wound of this ill news:
I am no woman, I'll not swoon at it.

And they are all about his majesty.

With many legions of strange fantasies,
Which, in their throng and press to that last hold,
Confound themselves. 'Tis strange that death should sing.

Upon a parchment, and against this fire
Do I shrink up.

P. Hen. How fares your majesty?

K. John. Poison'd,—ill fare—dead, forsook, cast off:
And none of you will bid the winter come 36

Nor let my kingdom's rivers take their course
Through my burn'd bosom, nor entreat the north
To make his bleak winds kiss my parched lips 40
And comfort me with cold. I do not ask you much,
I beg cold comfort; and you are so strait
And so ingrateful, you deny me that.

P. Hen. O that there were some virtue in my tears,
That might relieve you!

And spleen of speed to see your majesty! 50

K. John. O cousin, thou art come to set mine eye:
The tackle of my heart is crack'd and burn'd,
And all the shrouds wherewith my life should sail
Are turned to one thread, one little hair:
My heart hath one poor string to stay it by, 55
Which holds but till thy news be uttered;
And then all this thou seest is but a clod
And module of confounded royalty.

Bast. The Dauphin is preparing hitherward,
Where heaven He knows how we shall answer him; 60
For in a night the best part of my power,
As I upon advantage did remove,
Were in the Washes all unwarily
Devoured by the unexpected flood. [The king dies.]

Sal. You breathe these dead news in as dead an ear.
My liege! my lord! but now a king, now thus. 66

P. Hen. Even so must I run on, and even so stop.
What surety of the world, what hope, what stay,
When this was now a king, and now is clay?

Bast. Art thou gone so? I do but stay behind 70
To do the office for thee of revenge,
And then my soul shall wait on thee to heaven,
As it on earth hath been thy servant still.
Now, now, you stars that move in your right spheres,

Sal. It seems you know not, then, so much as we:
 The Cardinal Pandulph is within at rest,
 Who half an hour since came from the Dauphin,
 And brings from him such offers of our peace
 As we with honour and respect may take, 85
 With purpose presently to leave this war.

Bast. He will the rather do it when he sees Ourselves well sinewed to our defence.

 For many carriages he hath dispatch'd 90
 To the sea-side, and put his cause and quarrel
 To the disposing of the cardinal:
 With whom yourself, myself and other lords,
 If you think meet, this afternoon will post
 To consummate this business happily. 95

Bast. Let it be so: and you, my noble prince,
 With other princes that may best be spared,

NOTES.

NOTE I.

• DRAMATIS PERSONÆ. In our enumeration of the Dramatis Personæ we have given no further description of each than might be derived from the Play itself.

In the stage directions of the Folios Queen Elinor is variously indicated as Elinor, Eli., Ele., Elen., Elea., Queen, Qu., Old Qu., and Qu. Mo.; Philip Faulconbridge as Philip or Phil. to i. l. 132, afterwards Bast., except in iii. l. 131, 133, where he is called Phil.; King Philip is termed King or Kin., and, in the scenes where King John is also present, France or Fra.; King John is designated as K. John, John, and once, iii. l. 323, Eng.; Lewis is called in the 'entrances' Daulphin or Dolphin, and in the dialogue Lewis, Dol., or Dolph. As we do not conceive our rule of modernizing the spelling to apply to proper names we have not substituted Falconbridge for Faulconbridge, the consistent spelling of the Folio. In the old play it is spelt as consistently Fauconbridge.

NOTE II.

SCENE. We have not followed Capell and the more recent editors in attempting to define the precise spot at which each scene took place, where none is mentioned in the body of the play or in the stage directions of the Folio. Nothing is gained by an attempt to harmonize the plot with historical facts gathered from Holinshed and elsewhere, when it is plain that Shakespeare was either ignorant of them or indifferent to minute accuracy. For example, the second scene of Act iv. is supposed to occur at the same place as the first scene of that act, or, at all events, in the immediate neighbourhood (iv. 2. 85), and in England (iii. 3. 71 and iv. 2. 110). But Holinshed distinctly states that Arthur was imprisoned first at Falaise and then at Rouen (pp. 554, 555, ed. 1577).

The whole play is divided into Acts and Scenes in the first Folio, but arbitrarily. The second act is made to consist of a single scene of 74 lines, and ends in what Theobald has clearly shewn to be the middle of a scene. He, with 'Gildon and others,' once supposed the close of the second act to be lost, but afterwards changed his mind and adopted the arrangement we have followed.

NOTE III.

1. 1. 20. This line must probably be scanned as an Alexandrine, reading the first 'Controlment' in the time of a trisyllable and the second as a quadrisyllable.

NOTE IV.

1. 1. 43. Here Steevens gives the same stage direction as Capell, 'Enter the Sheriff of Northamptonshire and whispers Essex,' changing merely 'and' to 'who,' and, as usual, ignoring Capell, says in a note that he had taken it from the Old Quarto. He convicts himself of plagiarism, for the 'Old Quarto' has 'Enter the Shrieve and whispers the Earle of Salis. in the eare.' It was Capell who changed 'Salis.' to 'Essex.' The second and third editions of the Old Quarto (1611, 1622) agree in this stage direction literatim. The edition of 1591 has 'Sals.' for 'Salis.' Salisbury introduces the sheriff thus [ed. 1622]: 'Please it your Majesty, here is the shrieve of Northamptonshire, &c.'

NOTE V. ♣

1. 1. 75. 'Whether.' Here the first three Folios read 'Where.' In the Comedy of Errors, iv. 1. 60, all the Folios agreed in reading 'whe'r.' In both cases we spell 'whether.' The Folios are not consistent. They have, for instance, 'Whether' in line 134 of the present scene, 'Whether hadst thou rather be a Faulconbridge.' As we do not contract the words 'either,' 'neither,' 'mother,' 'brother,' 'hither,' 'thither,' &c. when pronounced in the time of a monosyllable, so we abstain from contracting 'whether,' especially as such contraction might cause ambiguity in the sense.

NOTE VI.

i. l. 85. In Mr Wilbraham's MS. notes the following occurs :

'Trick' is a term in Heraldry for a 'copy.' In the Gentleman's Magazine for 1803, Supplement, p. 1207, in an account of various memorandums of Receipts and Expenditures, &c., by some one at the latter end of the 17th century, I find the three following ones :

July 4th, 1691. Received of Mr Cole for a trick of Consure's arms.
2s. 6d.

— 25th — Mr Martyr, the paynter, for a trick of the Lady Cath.
Darnley's arms. 2s. 6d.

Dec. 18th — Received of Mr Gentry for a trick of Wyat's arms.
2s. 6d.

NOTE VII.

i. l. 147. This discrepancy between the readings of the first and second Folios had escaped Capell's notice. In Twelfth Night, II. 4. 87, all the Folios read 'It' for 'I.'

NOTE VIII.

II. l. 103. 'Large,' which was doubtless a misprint for 'huge' in Rowe's edition, remained uncorrected by Pope, Theobald, Hanmer, Warburton, and Johnson, though Grey noticed the mistake (Notes, i. p. 230). Capell restored the true reading. How great his services were in the restoration of the text may be estimated by the following instances collected from the present play alone. And the list might have been very much extended if we had included all his minute corrections :

II. l. 175, 'call not me;' II. l. 176, 'dominations;' II. l. 213, 'preparation;' II. l. 345, 'lay down;' III. l. 24, 'signs;' III. 4. 35, 'buss;' III. 4. 132, 'whiles;' III. 4. 134, 'One;' III. 4. 164, 'that;' IV. l. 31, 'I warrant;' IV. 3. 66, 'his;' IV. 3. 112, 'savours;' V. 7. 43, 'ingrateful.' In V. 7. 45, however, he omitted to correct 'of them.'

NOTE IX.

II. 1. 149. This line is printed in the Folios as if it were a part of Austria's speech. The objections are of course, first, that Lewis was not a king, and secondly, that Austria would rather have appealed to Lewis's father. Malone once thought that Austria appealed to both 'King,—Lewis, &c.' The objection to the usual emendation is that in this part of the scene, that is, after the entry of John, King Philip is not designated in the stage directions as King, but as Fran. or Fra. [But on the whole Theobald's reading seems preferable, as the lines 150—154 are more appropriate to Philip than to Lewis, who is regarded as a youth.]

NOTE X.

II. 1. 187. The whole passage from line 185 to 188, inclusive, is thus printed in F<sub>1</sub>:

'But God hath made her sinne and her, the plague
On this remoued issue, plagued for her,
And with her plague her sinne: his iniury
Her iniurie the Beadle to her sinne,'

Capell has it as follows:

'But God hath made her sin and her the plague
On this removed issue, plagu'd for her;
And, with her sin, her plague, his injury
Her injury, the beadle to her sin.'

Mr Roby, whose punctuation we have adopted, says, "I suppose the sense to be: 'God hath made her sin and herself to be a plague to this distant child, who is punished for her and with the punishment belonging to her: God has made her sin to be an injury to Arthur, and her injurious deeds to be the executioner to punish her sin; all which (viz. her first sin and her now injurious deeds) are punished in the person of this child.'"

Mr Lloyd, who, with the same punctuation, would read 'her sin, her injury,' interprets thus: 'Elinor's injuries to Arthur are God's agents to punish him both for the sin of being her grandchild and for the inherited guilt of these very injuries.'

The word 'sin' is twice printed by mistake for 'son' in Johnson's note to this passage, Ed. 1765.

Malone supposed that two half lines had been lost after the words, "And with her."

NOTE XI.

II. 1. 268. This line, with the substitution of 'this' for 'our,' is taken from a prose passage of the old play, The troublesome Raigne of King John, Sig. C 3, recto, ed. 1622. The names of the provinces given in II. 1. 527, 528, came also from the old play (Sig. D, verso). The line, 'For that my grandsire was an Englishman,' v. 4. 42, is found in the old play, Sig. K 4, recto.

In a few other passages, as for instance in II. 1. 65, there is an almost verbal identity between Shakespeare and his predecessor.

NOTE XII.

II. 1. 289. Capell's copy of the second Folio has sit's on's; that which belonged to Dr Long has it' son's.

NOTE XIII.

II. 1. 300. The word 'Heere,' used in the stage direction, seems to indicate that the scene was supposed to continue. No new scene is marked in the Folios. Mr Dyce and Mr Grant White have followed their authority.

NOTE XIV.

II. 1. 325. Mr Knight alone of modern editors retains Hubert, supposing this citizen of Angiers to be the same person as Arthur's gaoler. But in the old play the citizen who proposes the league to the two kings is a distinct person from Hubert de Burgh. It is much more probable that the name Hubert has crept in here from the fact that the same actor who was to play Hubert played also the part of 'First citizen.'

NOTE XV.

III. 1. 69. In Boswell's edition (1821) the reading 'its owner stoop' is derived from a misprint of Johnson, who quotes it as the reading of the old editions. Mr Collier incorrectly attributes it to Malone.

NOTE XVI.

III. 1. 133. Pope inserts after this line the following passage, adapted from the old play of The troublesome Raigne of King John :

Aust. Methinks that Richard's pride and Richard's fall
Should be a precedent to fright you, Sir.

Bast. What words are these? how do my sinews shake!
My father's foe clad in my father's spoil!
How doth Alecto whisper in my ears;
Delay not Richard, kill the villain strait,
Disrobe him of the matchless monument,
Thy father's triumph o'er the savages—
Now by his soul I swear, my father's soul,
Twice will I not review the morning's rise,
Till I have torn that trophy from thy back,
And split thy heart, for wearing it so long.'

NOTE XVII.

III. 1. 259. Mr Staunton says, in his note on this passage, 'Chafed was first suggested by Mr Dyce.' It is found first in Theobald, who is followed by Hanmer, Warburton, Johnson, and Capell. Steevens, who mentioned it, returned to the old reading, 'cased.'

NOTE XVIII.

III. 1. 279—285. In the first Folio this passage stands thus :

'It is religion that doth make vowes kept,
But thou hast sworne against religion:
By what thou swear'st against the thing thou swear'st,
And mak'st an oath the suretie for thy truth,
Against an oath the truth, thou art vn Timer
To sweare, sweares onely not be forsworne,
Else what a mockerie should it be to sweare?'

Mr Staunton suggests the following as 'a probable reading of the passage in its original form :'

'It is religion that doth make vows kept,
 But thou hast sworn against religion :
 By that, thou swear'st against the thing thou swear'st,
 And mak'st an oath, the surety for thy truth,
 Against an oath, the proof thou art unsure.
 Who swears swears only not to be forsworn,
 Else what a mockery should it be to swear!'

In line 284 Mr Halliwell appears to adopt swear'st in his note, though he leaves swears in the text.

NOTE XIX.

III. 2. 4. After this line Pope inserts the following from the old play before quoted :

'Thus hath king Richard's son perform'd his vow,
 And offer'd Austria's blood for sacrifice
 Unto his father's ever-living soul.'

NOTE XX.

III. 4. 41, 42. Mr Lloyd writes to us with reference to the speech of Constance : 'I think the two last lines are a first and second draught, the latter intended to replace the former, and both printed together by mistake.'

NOTE XXI.

III. 4. 154. As Pope's correction, however ingenious and plausible, cannot be pronounced certain, we, in accordance with the general rule laid down in the Preface to Vol. I., p. xiv, retain the reading of the Folios. 'Scope of Nature' may mean anything which lies within the limits of Nature's power. [The context shews it to be the true reading.]

NOTE XXII.

IV. 1. 70. Warburton, after quoting Pope's reading, which he adopts, remarks : "Thus Mr Pope found the line in the old editions.... Mr Theobald, by what authority I don't know, reads :

'I would not have believ'd him : no tongue, but Hubert's,' which is spoiling the measure without much mending the sense." Johnson adds, 'I do not see why the old reading may not stand. Mr Theobald's alteration, as we find, injures the measure, &c.' Neither Warburton nor Johnson could have consulted the Folios on this passage, or they would have seen that Pope's reading is not the reading of the old editions, and that Theobald's 'unauthorized alteration' was merely a return to the original text.

Mr Moberly proposes 'I would not have believed. No tongue but Hubert's...'

NOTE XXIII.

IV. 2. 50. Sidney Walker (Criticisms, i. 279) questions the possibility of Shakespeare having written so ungrammatically. The construction is evidently incorrect, but it may be explained by supposing that the offending word 'them,' following so closely upon 'my self,' was suggested to the writer by the analogous pronoun 'themselves.'

NOTE XXIV.

IV. 2. 117. It is extremely doubtful whether the reading of the first Folio in this passage is 'eare' or 'care'. The first letter of the word is broken, but we are inclined to believe that it is a broken 'e' and not a broken 'c', and in this we are supported by the opinion of Sir F. Madden and Mr Hamilton. Mr Staunton informs us that in Lord Ellesmere's Folio, it is more like a defective Italic e than any other letter, but in the two copies of F<sub>1</sub> before us it is certainly Roman, whether 'c' or 'e'. On the other hand, Mr Charles Wright is in favour of an italic c. Under these circumstances, we have left 'care' in the text.

NOTE XXV.

IV. 3. 33. Mr Collier mentions that the Duke of Devonshire's copy of the first Folio reads 'man' instead of 'mans,' which is in the ordinary copies. The error was corrected no doubt while the sheet was passing through the press, and after some copies had been struck off, in accordance with the practice which was common in printing-offices at the beginning of the 17th century.

NOTE XXVI.

v. 2. 64. 'And even there, methinks, an angel spake.' None of the interpretations of this line hitherto suggested are at all satisfactory. Surely the close proximity of 'purse,' 'nobles,' and 'angel,' shews that Shakespeare has here yielded to the fascination of a jeu de mots, which he was unable to resist, however unsuitable the occasion might be. The Dauphin, we may suppose, speaks 'aside,' with an accent and gesture which mark his contempt for the mercenary allies whom he intends to get rid of as soon as may be. See v. 4. 30—39.

NOTE XXVII.

v. 3. 8, 16. There can be no doubt, as has been pointed out to us by Mr Hopkinson of Stamford, that 'Swinstead' is an error for 'Swineshead,' the place of King John's death. The same fact was communicated to Reed by Mr Dodd, the then vicar of Swineshead. But as the mistake occurs in the old Quarto, which Shakespeare follows, we have not felt justified in removing it from the text.

NOTE XXVIII.

v. 4. 14. Sidney Walker (Criticisms, II. 236) suggests as another solution of the difficulty in this passage that a line may have been lost after 'feet,' as for instance

'Confide not in the plighted faith of Lewis.'

Mr Keightley has independently made the same conjecture. In support of the reading which we propose, 'lord' for 'lords,' we would refer to Hen. V. IV. 4. '74, where 'the French' is used in the singular; 'the French might have a good prey of us, if he knew of it.'

NOTE XXIX.

v. 5. 7. In Capell's copy of his own edition 'clearly' is corrected to 'chearly,' in accordance with the conjecture in his notes. In the same way he altered 'compulsion' to 'compunction' in v. 2. 44. 'Cleanly' is equivalent to 'neatly,' and seems to be appropriate as antithetical to 'tottering' or 'tattering.'

NOTE XXX.

v. 7. 2. Mr Grant White says that the Folio reads 'pore' for 'pure,' and this suggests his own reading, 'poor.' In all the copies known to us the reading is 'pure'

NOTE XXXI.

v. 7. 97. Sidney Walker (Criticisms, i. p. 293) is of opinion that the word 'princes' is a corruption, the transcriber's or compositor's eye having been caught by the word 'prince' in the preceding line. Or the error may be in the word 'prince,' for which it would be easier to suggest a substitute than for 'princes.' As an illustration of the facility with which such mistakes may be made we may mention that Sidney Walker himself, quoting King John, iv. 3. 44, 45:

'Could thought, without this object,
Form such another?'

wrote inadvertently 'such object.' In another place, as Mr Lettsom remarks, he wrote 'Swings on his horse back' for 'Sits...' the word 'swinged' of the previous line being in his eye or his mind.

NOTE XXXII.

v. 7. 115. Mr Lloyd suspects that this line is spurious: 'A compliment to Steenie and Baby Charles, who came back from Madrid in the year that the first edition of King John was published, and thrust in by the editors, or perhaps by the actors, in place of a line of similar purport, but less applicable.'

K. Rich. Old John of Gaunt, time-honour'd Lancaster, Hast thou, according to thy oath and band,
Brought hither Henry Hereford thy bold son,
Here to make good the boisterous late appeal,
Which then our leisure would not let us hear, 5
Against the Duke of Norfolk, Thomas Mowbray?

Gaunt. I have, my liege.

K. Rich. Tell me, moreover, hast thou sounded him,

K. Rich. Then call them to our presence; face to face,
And frowning brow to brow, ourselves will hear 16
The accuser and the accused freely speak:
High-stomach'd are they both, and full of ire,
In rage deaf as the sea, hasty as fire.

Namely, to appeal each other of high treason.
Cousin of Hereford, what dost thou object

 My body shall make good upon this earth,
 Or my divine soul answer it in heaven.
 Thou art a traitor and a miscreant,
 Too good to be so, and too bad to live, 40
 Since the more fair and crystal is the sky,
 The uglier seem the clouds that in it fly.
 Once more, the more to aggravate the note,

 Can arbitrate this cause betwixt us twain; 50
 The blood is hot that must be cool'd for this:
 Yet can I not of such tame patience boast
 As to be hush'd and nought at all to say:
 First, the fair reverence of your highness curbs me

It must be great that can inherit us 85
So much as of a thought of ill in him.

Boling. Look, what I speak, my life shall prove it true ;
That Mowbray hath received eight thousand nobles

The which he hath detain'd for lewd employments, 90
Like a false traitor and injurious villain.
Besides I say and will in battle prove,

That ever was survey'd by English eye,
That all the treasons for these eighteen years 95
Complotted and contrived in this land
Fetch from false Mowbray their first head and spring.
Further I say, and further will maintain
Upon his bad life to make all this good,
That he did plot the Duke of Gloucester's death, 100
Suggest his soon-believing adversaries,
And consequently, like a traitor coward,
Sluiced out his innocent soul through streams of blood :
Which blood, like sacrificing Abel's, cries,
Even from the tongueless caverns of the earth, 105
To me for justice and rough chastisement ;

Mow. O, let my sovereign turn away his face,
And bid his ears a little while be deaf,

How God and good men hate so foul a liar.

K. Rich. Mowbray, impartial are our eyes and ears :
Were he my brother, nay, my kingdom's heir, 116

Now, by my sceptre's awe, I make a vow,
Such neighbour nearness to our sacred blood

The unstooping firmness of my upright soul :
He is our subject, Mowbray ; so art thou :
Free speech and fearless I to thee allow.

Mow. Then, Bolingbroke, as low as to thy heart, -
Through the false passage of thy throat, thou liest. 125
Three parts of that receipt I had for Calais
Disbursed I duly to his highness' soldiers ;
The other part reserved I by consent,
For that my sovereign liege was in my debt
Upon remainder of a dear account, 130
Since last I went to France to fetch his queen :
Now swallow down that lie. For Gloucester's death,

Mine honour is my life; both grow in one;

Take honour from me, and my life is done:

Then, dear my liege, mine honour let me try;

In that I live and for that will I die. 185

Shall I seem crest-fallen in my father's sight?

Or with pale beggar-fear impeach my height

Before this out-dared dastard? Ere my tongue 190

Shall wound my honour with such feeble wrong,

Or sound so base a parle, my teeth shall tear

The slavish motive of recanting fear,

And spit it bleeding in his high disgrace,

Which since we cannot do to make you friends,

 To stir against the butchers of his life!
 But since correction lieth in those hands

 Will rain hot vengeance on offenders' heads.

Some of those branches by the Destinies cut ; 15
 But Thomas, my dear lord, my life, my Gloucester,
 One vial full of Edward's sacred blood,
 One flourishing branch of his most royal root,
 Is crack'd, and all the precious liquor spilt,
 Is hack'd down, and his summer leaves all faded, 20
 By envy's hand and murder's bloody axe.
 Ah, Gaunt, his blood was thine ! that bed, that womb,
 That metal, that self-mould, that fashion'd thee
 Made him a man ; and though thou livest and breathest,
 Yet art thou slain in him : thou dost consent 25
 In some large measure to thy father's death,
 In that thou seest thy wretched brother die,
 Who was the model of thy father's life.
 Call it not patience, Gaunt ; it is despair :
 In suffering thus thy brother to be slaughter'd, 30
 Thou showest the naked pathway to thy life,
 Teaching stern murder how to butcher thee :
 That which in mean men we intitle patience
 Is pale cold cowardice in noble breasts.
 What shall I say ? to safeguard thine own life, 35
 The best way is to venge my Gloucester's death.

More than my dancing soul doth celebrate
 This feast of battle with mine adversary.
 Most mighty liege, and my companion peers,
 Take from my mouth the wish of happy years :
 As gentle and as jocund as to jest
 Go I to fight : truth hath a quiet breast.

95

K. Rich. Farewell, my lord : securely I espy
 Virtue with valour couched in thine eye.
 Order the trial, marshal, and begin.

Mar. Harry of Hereford, Lancaster and Derby, 100
 Receive thy lance ; and God defend the right !

Boling. Strong as a tower in hope, I cry amen.

Mar. Go bear this lance to Thomas, Duke of Norfolk.

First Her. Harry of Hereford, Lancaster and Derby,
 Stands here for God, his sovereign and himself, 105
 On pain to be found false and recreant,
 To prove the Duke of Norfolk, Thomas Mowbray,
 A traitor to his God, his king and him ;
 And dares him to set forward to the fight.

Sec. Her. Here standeth Thomas Mowbray, Duke of Norfolk, 110

On pain to be found false and recreant,
 Both to defend himself and to approve
 Henry of Hereford, Lancaster and Derby,
 To God, his sovereign and to him disloyal ;

A dearer merit, not so deep a main
As to be cast forth in the common air,
Have I deserved at your highness' hands.
The language I have learn'd these forty years,
My native English, now I must forgo: 160
And now my tongue's use is to me no more
Than an unstringed viol or a harp;
Or like a cunning instrument cased up,
Or, being open, put into his hands
That knows no touch to tune the harmony: 165
Within my mouth you have engaol'd my tongue,
Doubly portcullis'd with my teeth and lips;
And dull unfeeling barren ignorance
Is made my gaoler to attend on me.

One of our souls had wander'd in the air, 195
 Banish'd this frail sepulchre of our flesh,

Aum. I brought high Hereford, if you call him so,
But to the next highway, and there I left him.

K. Rich. And say, what store of parting tears were shed? 5

Aum. Faith, none for me; except the north-east wind,
Which then blew bitterly against our faces,
Awaked the sleeping rheum, and so by chance
Did grace our hollow parting with a tear.

K. Rich. What said our cousin when you parted with him? 10

Aum. 'Farewell:'

And, for my heart disdained that my tongue
Should so profane the word, that taught me craft
To counterfeit oppression of such grief,
That words seem'd buried in my sorrow's grave. 15
Marry, would the word 'farewell' have lengthen'd hours
And added years to his short banishment,
He should have had a volume of farewells;
But since it would not, he had none of me.

Ourself and Bushy, Bagot here and Green
 Observed his courtship to the common people ;
 How he did seem to dive into their hearts 25
 With humble and familiar courtesy,
 What reverence he did throw away on slaves,
 Wooing poor craftsmen with the craft of smiles
 And patient underbearing of his fortune,
 As 'twere to banish their affects with him. 30
 Off goes his bonnet to an oyster-wench ;
 A brace of draymen bid God speed him well
 And had the tribute of his supple knee,
 With 'Thanks, my countrymen, my loving friends ;'
 As were our England in reversion his, 35
 And he our subjects' next degree in hope.

ACT II.

SCENE I. Ely House.

Enter JOHN OF GAUNT sick, with the DUKE OF YORK, &c.

Gaunt. Will the king come, that I may breathe my last
In wholesome counsel to his unstaid youth?

York. Vex not yourself, nor strive not with your breath;

For all in vain comes counsel to his ear.

Gaunt. O, but they say the tongues of dying men 5
•Enforce attention like deep harmony:

Where words are scarce, they are seldom spent in vain,
For they breathe truth that breathe their words in pain.
He that no more must say is listen'd more

Than they whom youth and ease have taught to glose;
More are men's ends mark'd than their lives before: 11

The setting sun, and music at the close,
As the last taste of sweets, is sweetest last,
Writ in remembrance more than things long past:
Though Richard my life's counsel would not hear, 15
My death's sad tale may yet undeaf his ear.

York. No; it is stopp'd with other flattering sounds,
 As praises, of whose taste the wise are fond,
 Lascivious metres, to whose venom sound
 The open ear of youth doth always listen; 20
 Report of fashions in proud Italy,
 Whose manners still our tardy apish nation
 Limpes after in base imitation.
 Where doth the world thrust forth a vanity—
 So it be new, there's no respect how vile— 25
 That is not quickly buzz'd into his ears?
 Then all too late comes counsel to be heard,
 Where will doth mutiny with wit's regard.
 Direct not him whose way himself will choose:
 'Tis breath thou lack'st, and that breath wilt thou lose.

Gaunt. Methinks I am a prophet new inspired 31

 Which serves it in the office of a wall,
 Or as a moat defensive to a house,
 Against the envy of less happier lands;
 This blessed plot, this earth, this realm, this England,
 This nurse, this teeming womb of royal kings, 51

Dear for her reputation through the world,
 Is now leased out, I die pronouncing it,
 Like to a tenement or pelting farm: 60
 England, bound in with the triumphant sea,
 Whose rocky shore beats back the envious siege
 Of watery Neptune, is now bound in with shame,
 With inky blots and rotten parchment bonds:
 That England, that was wont to conquer others, 65
 Hath made a shameful conquest of itself.

73—93 O, how...I see thee ill;] Put in the margin, as spurious, by Pope.

And who abstains from meat that is not gaunt?
 For sleeping England long time have I watch'd;
 Watching breeds leanness, leanness is all gaunt:
 The pleasure that some fathers feed upon,
 Is my strict fast; I mean, my children's looks; 80
 And therein fasting, hast thou made me gaunt:
 Gaunt am I for the grave, gaunt as a grave,
 Whose hollow womb inherits nought but bones.

K. Rich. Can sick men play so nicely with their names?

Gaunt. No, misery makes sport to mock itself: 85
 Since thou dost seek to kill my name in me,
 I mock my name, great king, to flatter thee.

K. Rich. Should dying men flatter with those that live?

•Gaunt. No, no, men living flatter those that die.

K. Rich. Thou, now a-dying, say'st thou flatterest me.

Gaunt. O, no! thou diest, though I the sicker be. 91

K. Rich. I am in health, I breathe, and see thee ill.

Gaunt. Now, He that made me knows I see thee ill;
 Ill in myself to see, and in thee seeing ill.

Thy death-bed is no lesser than thy land, 95
 Wherein thou liest in reputation sick;

And thou, too careless patient as thou art,
 Commit'st thy anointed body to the cure
 Of those physicians that first wounded thee:

 The waste is no whit lesser than thy land.
 O, had thy grandsire with a prophet's eye
 Seen how his son's son should destroy his sons, 105
 From forth thy reach he would have laid thy shame,
 Deposing thee before thou wert possess'd,
 Which art possess'd now to depose thyself.
 Why, cousin, wert thou regent of the world,
 It were a shame to let this land by lease; 110
 But, for thy world enjoying but this land,
 Is it not more than shame to shame it so?
 Landlord of England art thou now, not king:
 Thy state of law is bonds slave to the law;
 And thou—

 Presuming on an ague's privilege,
 Darest with thy frozen admonition
 Make pale our cheek, chasing the royal blood
 With fury from his native residence.
 Now, by my seat's right royal majesty, 120

 For that I was his father Edward's son ; 125
 That blood already, like the pelican,
 Hast thou tapp'd out and drunkenly caroused :
 My brother Gloucester, plain well-meaning soul,
 Whom fair befall in heaven 'mongst happy souls !
 May be a precedent and witness good 130
 That thou respect'st not spilling Edward's blood :

His tongue is now a stringless instrument;

Words, life and all, old Lancaster hath spent. 150

York. Be York the next that must be bankrupt so!
Though death be poor, it ends a mortal woe.

K. Rich. The ripest fruit first falls, and so doth he;
His time is spent, our pilgrimage must be.
So much for that. Now for our Irish wars: 155
We must supplant those rough rug-headed kerns,
Which live like venom where no venom else
But only they have privilege to live.

And for these great affairs do ask some charge,
Towards our assistance we do seize to us 160
The plate, coin, revenues and moveables,
Whereof our uncle Gaunt did stand possess'd.

York. How long shall I be patient? ah, how long
Shall tender duty make me suffer wrong?

Not Gaunt's rebukes, nor England's private wrongs,

Nor the prevention of poor Bolingbroke
 About his marriage, nor my own disgrace,
 Have ever made me sour my patient cheek,
 Or bend one wrinkle on my sovereign's face. 170
 I am the last of noble Edward's sons,
 Of whom thy father, Prince of Wales, was first :
 In war was never lion raged more fierce,
 In peace was never gentle lamb more mild,
 Than was that young and princely gentleman. 175
 His face thou hast, for even so look'd he,
 Accomplish'd with the number of thy hours ;
 But when he frown'd, it was against the French
 And not against his friends ; his noble hand
 Did win what he did spend, and spent not that 180
 Which his triumphant father's hand had won ;
 His hands were guilty of no kindred blood,
 But bloody with the enemies of his kin.
 O Richard ! York is too far gone with grief,
 Or else he never would compare between. 185

The royalties and rights of banish'd Hereford? 190
 Is not Gaunt dead, and doth not Hereford live?
 Was not Gaunt just, and is not Harry true?
 Did not the one deserve to have an heir?
 Is not his heir a well-deserving son?
 Take Hereford's rights away, and take from time 195
 His charters and his customary rights;
 Let not to-morrow then ensue to-day;
 Be not thyself; for how art thou a king
 But by fair sequence and succession?
 Now, afore God—God forbid I say true!— 200
 If you do wrongfully seize Hereford's rights,
 Call in the letters patents that he hath
 By his attorneys-general to sue
 His livery, and deny his offer'd homage,
 You pluck a thousand dangers on your head, 205
 You lose a thousand well-disposed hearts,

 You promised, when you parted with the king,
 To lay aside life-harming heaviness,
 And entertain a cheerful disposition.

Queen. To please the king I did ; to please myself 5
 I cannot do it ; yet I know no cause

 Some unborn sorrow, ripe in fortune's womb, 10
 Is coming towards me, and my inward soul

The Lord Northumberland, his son young Henry Percy,
The Lords of Ross, Beaumont, and Willoughby,
With all their powerful friends, are fled to him. 55

Bushy. Why have you not proclaim'd Northumberland
And all the rest revolted faction traitors?

Green. We have: whereupon the Earl of Worcester
Hath broke his staff, resign'd his stewardship,
And all the household servants fled with him 60
To Bolingbroke.

Queen. So, Green, thou art the midwife to my woe,
And Bolingbroke my sorrow's dismal heir:
Now hath my soul brought forth her prodigy,
And I, a gasping new-deliver'd mother, 65
Have woe to woe, sorrow to sorrow join'd.

 I am no traitor's uncle ; and that word ' grace '
 In an ungracious mouth is but profane.
 Why have those banish'd and forbidden legs 90
 Dared once to touch a dust of England's ground ?
 But then more ' why ? ' why have they dared to march
 So many miles upon her peaceful bosom,
 Frighting her pale-faced villages with war

And ostentation of despised arms? 95
 Comest thou because the anointed king is hence?
 Why, foolish boy, the king is left behind,
 And in my loyal bosom lies his power.
 Were I but now the lord of such hot youth
 As when brave Gaunt, thy father, and myself 100
 Rescued the Black Prince, that young Mars of men,
 From forth the ranks of many thousand French,
 O, then how quickly should this arm of mine,
 Now prisoner to the palsy, chastise thee
 And minister correction to thy fault! 105

Boling. My gracious uncle, let me know my fault:
 On what condition stands it and wherein?

York. Even in condition of the worst 'degree,
 In gross rebellion and detested treason: •
 Thou art a banish'd man, and here art come 110
 Before the expiration of thy time,
 In braving arms against thy sovereign.

Boling. As I was banish'd, I was banish'd Hereford;
 But as I come, I come for Lancaster.
 And, noble uncle, I beseech your grace 115
 Look on my wrongs with an indifferent eye:
 You are my father, for methinks in you
 I see old Gaunt alive; O, then, my father,
 Will you permit that I shall stand condemn'd
 A wandering vagabond; my rights and royalties 120
 Pluck'd from my arms perforce and given away

To upstart unthrifths? Wherefore was I born?
 If that my cousin king be King of England,
 It must be granted I am Duke of Lancaster.
 You have a son, Aumerle, my noble cousin; 125
 Had you first died, and he been thus trod down,
 He should have found his uncle Gaunt a father,
 To rouse his wrongs and chase them to the bay.
 I am denied to sue my livery here,
 And yet my letters-patents give me leave: 130
 My father's goods are all distrain'd and sold;
 And these and all are all amiss employ'd.
 What would you have me do? I am a subject,
 And I challenge law: attorneys are denied me;
 And therefore personally I lay my claim 135
 To my inheritance of free descent.

North. The noble duke hath been too much abused.

Ross. It stands your grace upon to do him right.

Will. Base men by his endowments are made great.

York. My lords of England, let me tell you this: 140
 I have had feeling of my cousin's wrongs
 And labour'd all I could to do him right;
 But in this kind to come, in braving arms,
 Be his own carver and cut out his way,
 To find out right with wrong, it may not be; 145
 And you that do abet him in this kind
 Cherish rebellion and are rebels all.

 I cannot mend it, I must needs confess,
 Because my power is weak and all ill left:
 But if I could, by Him that gave me life, 155
 I would attach you all and make you stoop

Cap. My Lord of Salisbury, we have stay'd ten days,
And hardly kept our countrymen together,
And yet we hear no tidings from the king;
Therefore we will disperse ourselves: farewell.

Sal. Stay yet another day, thou trusty Welshman:
The king reposeth all his confidence in thee. 6

Cap. 'Tis thought the king is dead; we will not stay.
The bay-trees in our country are all wither'd,
And meteors fright the fixed stars of heaven;
• The pale-faced moon looks bloody on the earth, 10
And lean-look'd prophets whisper fearful change;
Rich men look sad and ruffians dance and leap,
The one in fear to lose what they enjoy,
The other to enjoy by rage and war:
These signs forerun the death or fall of kings. 15
Farewell: our countrymen are gone and fled,

You have in manner with your sinful hours
 Made a divorce betwixt his queen and him,
 Broke the possession of a royal bed
 And stain'd the beauty of a fair queen's cheeks
 With tears drawn from her eyes by your foul wrongs.
 Myself, a prince by fortune of my birth, 16
 Near to the king in blood, and near in love
 Till you did make him misinterpret me,
 Have stoop'd my neck under your injuries,
 And sigh'd my English breath in foreign clouds, 20
 Eating the bitter bread of banishment;
 Whilst you have fed upon my signories,
 Dispark'd my parks and fell'd my forest woods,
 From my own windows torn my household coat,
 •Razed out my impresse, leaving me no sign, 25
 Save men's opinions and my living blood,
 To show the world I am a gentleman.
 This and much more, much more than twice all this,
 Condemns you to the death. See them deliver'd over
 To execution and the hand of death. 30

 Feed not thy sovereign's foe, my gentle earth,
 Nor with thy sweets comfort his ravenous sense;
 But let thy spiders, that suck up thy venom,

 Doing annoyance to the treacherous feet
 Which with usurping steps do trample thee:
 Yield stinging nettles to mine enemies;

O'erthrows thy joys, friends, fortune and thy state :
 For all the Welshmen, hearing thou wert dead,
 Are gone to Bolingbroke, dispersed and fled. 74

Aum. Comfort, my liege : why looks your grace so pale?

K. Rich. But now the blood of twenty thousand men
 Did triumph in my face, and they are fled ;
 And, till so much blood thither come again,
 Have I not reason to look pale and dead ?
 All souls that will be safe, fly from my side, 80
 For time hath set a blot upon my pride.

Aum. Comfort, my liege ; remember who you are.

K. Rich. I had forgot myself : am I not king ?
 Awake, thou coward majesty ! thou sleepest.
 Is not the king's name twenty thousand names ? 85
 Arm, arm, my name ! a puny subject strikes
 At thy great glory. Look not to the ground,
 Ye favourites of a king : are we not high ?
 High be our thoughts : I know my uncle York Hath power enough to serve our turn. But who comes here ? 90

91 SCENE IV. Pope.

The worst is worldly loss thou canst unfold.
 Say, is my kingdom lost? why, 'twas my care; 95
 And what loss is it to be rid of care?
 Strives Bolingbroke to be as great as we?
 Greater he shall not be; if he serve God,
 We'll serve Him too and be his fellow so:
 Revolt our subjects? that we cannot mend; 100
 They break their faith to God as well as us:
 Cry woe, destruction, ruin and decay;
 The worst is death, and death will have his day.

Scroop. Glad am I that your highness is so arm'd
 To bear the tidings of calamity. 105
 Like an unseasonable stormy day,
 Which makes the silver rivers drown their shores,
 As if the world were all dissolved to tears,
 So high above his limits swells the rage
 Of Bolingbroke, covering your fearful land 110
 With hard bright steel and hearts harder than steel.
 White-beards have arm'd their thin and hairless scalps
 Against thy majesty; boys, with women's voices,
 Strive to speak big and clap their female joints
 In stiff unwieldy arms against thy crown: 115
 Thy very beadsmen learn to bend their bows
 Of double-fatal yew against thy state;

K. Rich. Too well, too well thou tell'st a tale so ill.
 Where is the Earl of Wiltshire? where is Bagot?
 What is become of Bushy? where is Green?
 That they have let the dangerous enemy
 Measure our confines with such peaceful steps? 125
 If we prevail, their heads shall pay for it:
 I warrant they have made peace with Bolingbroke.

Scroop. Peace have they made with him indeed, my lord.

K. Rich. O villains, vipers, damn'd without redemption!
 Dogs, easily won to fawn on any man! 130
 Snakes, in my heart-blood warm'd, that sting my heart!
 Three Judases, each one thrice worse than Judas!
 Would they make peace? terrible hell make war
 Upon their spotted souls for this offence!

Scroop. Sweet love, I see, changing his property, 135
 Turns to the sourest and most deadly hate:
 Again uncure their souls; their peace is made

Aum. Is Bushy, Green and the Earl of Wiltshire dead?

Scroop. Ay, all of them at Bristol lost their heads.

Aum. Where is the duke my father with his power?

K. Rich. No matter where; of comfort no man speak:
Let's talk of graves, of worms and epitaphs; 145

Make dust our paper and with rainy eyes

Write sorrow on the bosom of the earth.

Let's choose executors and talk of wills:

And yet not so, for what can we bequeath

Save our deposed bodies to the ground? 150

Our lands, our lives and all are Bolingbroke's,

And nothing can we call our own but death,

And that small model of the barren earth

Which serves as paste and cover to our bones.

For God's sake, let us sit upon the ground 155

And tell sad stories of the death of kings:

How some have been deposed; some slain in war;

Some haunted by the ghosts they have deposed;

Some poison'd by their wives; some sleeping kill'd;

All murder'd: for within the hollow crown 160

That rounds the mortal temples of a king

Keeps Death his court, and there the antic sits,

Scoffing his state and grinning at his pomp,

Allowing him a breath, a little scene,

To monarchize, be fear'd and kill with looks, 165

Infusing him with self and vain conceit,

As if this flesh which walls about our life

 For you have but mistook me all this while:

 Taste grief, need friends: subjected thus,
 How can you say to me, I am a king?

Car. My lord, wise men ne'er sit and wail their woes,
 But presently prevent the ways to wail.
 To fear the foe, since fear oppresses strength, 180
 Gives in your weakness strength unto your foe,

I play the torturer, by small and small

To lengthen out the worst that must be spoken:

Your uncle York is join'd with Bolingbroke, 200

And all your southern gentlemen in arms

Parle without, and answer within. Then a flourish. Enter on the walls, KING RICHARD, the BISHOP OF CARLISLE, AUMERLE, SCROOP, and SALISBURY:

See, see, King Richard doth himself appear,
As doth the blushing discontented sun
From out the fiery portal of the east,
When he perceives the envious clouds are bent 65
To dim his glory and to stain the track
Of his bright passage to the occident.

York. Yet looks he like a king: behold, his eye,
As bright as is the eagle's, lightens forth
Controlling majesty: alack, alack, for woe, 70
That any harm should stain so fair a show!

K. Rich. We are amazed; and thus long have we stood
To watch the fearful bending of thy knee, [To North.
Because we thought ourself thy lawful king:
And if we be, how dare thy joints forget 75
To pay their awful duty to our presence?
If we be not, show us the hand of God
That hath dismiss'd us from our stewardship;
For well we know, no hand of blood and bone
Can gripe the sacred handle of our sceptre, 80
Unless he do profane, steal, or usurp.

K. Rich. O God, O God! that e'er this tongue of mine,
 That laid the sentence of dread banishment

 With words of sooth! O that I were as great
 As is my grief, or lesser than my name!

The king shall do it: must he be deposed?
 The king shall be contented: must he lose 145
 The name of king? o' God's name, let it go:

I'll give my jewels for a set of beads,

Some way of common trade, where subjects' feet
 May hourly trample on their sovereign's head;
 For on my heart they tread now whilst I live;
 And buried once, why not upon my head?
 Aumerle, thou weep'st, my tender-hearted cousin! 160
 We'll make foul weather with despised tears;
 Our sighs and they shall lodge the summer corn,
 And make a dearth in this revolting land.
 Or shall we play the wantons with our woes,
 And make some pretty match with shedding tears? 165
 As thus, to drop them still upon one place,
 Till they have fretted us a pair of graves
 Within the earth; and, therein laid,—there lies
 Two kinsmen digg'd their graves with weeping eyes.
 Would not this ill do well? Well, well, I see 170

 'Tis doubt he will be : letters came last night

Gard. Pardon me, madam: little joy have I
 To breathe this news; yet what I say is true.
 King Richard, he is in the mighty hold
 Of Bolingbroke: their fortunes both are weigh'd:
 In your lord's scale is nothing but himself, 85
 And some few vanities that make him light;
 But in the balance of great Bolingbroke,
 Besides himself, are all the English peers,
 And with that odds he weighs King Richard down.
 Post you to London, and you will find it so; 90
 I speak no more than every one doth know.

 Doth not thy embassy belong to me,

 Thy sorrow in my breast. Come, ladies, go,
 To meet at London London's king in woe.
 What, was I born to this, that my sad look
 Should grace the triumph of great Bolingbroke?
 Gardener, for telling me these news of woe, 100
 Pray God the plants thou graft'st may never grow.

ACT IV.

SCENE I. Westminster Hall.

Enter as to the Parliament, BOLINGBROKE, AUMERLE, NORTHUMBERLAND, PERCY, FITZWATER, SURREY, the BISHOP of CARLISLE, the ABBOT of WESTMINSTER, and another Lord, Herald, Officers, and BAGOT.

Boling. Call forth Bagot.
 Now, Bagot, freely speak thy mind;
 What thou dost know of noble Gloucester's death;
 Who wrought it with the king, and who perform'd
 The bloody office of his timeless end. 5

Bagot. Then set before my face the Lord Aumerle.

Boling. Cousin, stand forth, and look upon that man.

Bagot. My Lord Aumerle, I know your daring tongue
 Scorns to unsay what once it hath deliver'd.
 In that dead time when Gloucester's death was plotted,

As far as Calais, to mine uncle's head?'
 Amongst much other talk, that very time,
 I heard you say that you had rather refuse 15
 The offer of an hundred thousand crowns
 Than Bolingbroke's return to England;
 Adding withal, how blest this land would be
 In this your cousin's death.

Aum. Princes and noble lords,
 What answer shall I make to this base man? 20
 Shall I so much dishonour my fair stars,
 On equal terms to give him chastisement?
 Either I must, or have mine honour soil'd
 With the attainder of his slanderous lips.
 There is my gage, the manual seal of death, 25
 That marks thee out for hell: I say, thou liest,
 And will maintain what thou hast said is false
 In thy heart-blood, though being all too base

Of noble Richard ! then true noblesse would Learn him forbearance from so foul a wrong. 120
 What subject can give sentence on his king ?
 And who sits here that is not Richard's subject ?
 Thieves are not judged but they are by to hear,
 Although apparent guilt be seen in them ;
 And shall the figure of God's majesty, 125
 His captain, steward, deputy elect,
 Anointed, crowned, planted many years,
 Be judged by subject and inferior breath,
 And he himself not present ? O, forfend it, God,
 That in a Christian climate souls refined 130
 Should show so heinous, black, obscene a deed !
 I speak to subjects, and a subject speaks,
 Stirr'd up by God, thus boldly for his king.
 My Lord of Hereford here, whom you call king,
 Is a foul traitor to proud Hereford's king : 135
 And if you crown him, let me prophesy ;
 The blood of English shall manure the ground,

 Peace shall go sleep with Turks and infidels,

Before I have shook off the regal thoughts
 Wherewith I reign'd? I hardly yet have learn'd
 To insinuate, flatter, bow, and bend my limbs: 165
 Give sorrow leave awhile to tutor me
 To this submission. Yet I well remember
 The favours of these men: were they not mine?
 Did they not sometime cry 'all hail!' to me?
 So Judas did to Christ: but he, in twelve, 170
 Found truth in all but one; I, in twelve thousand, none.
 God save the king! Will no man say amen?
 Am I both priest and clerk? well then, amen.
 God save the king! although I be not he;
 And yet, amen, if heaven do think him me. 175
 To do what service am I sent for hither?

York. To do that office of thine own good will
 Which tired majesty did make thee offer,
 The resignation of thy state and crown
 To Henry Bolingbroke. 180

On this side my hand, and on that side yours.

Now is this golden crown like a deep well

That owes two buckets, filling one another, 185

The emptier ever dancing in the air,

The other down, unseen and full of water :

That bucket down and full of tears am I,

Drinking my griefs, whilst you mount up on high.

Boling. I thought you had been willing to resign. 190

K. Rich. My crown I am ; but still my griefs are mine :

You may my glories and my state depose,

But not my griefs ; still am I king of those.

Boling. Part of your cares you give me with your crown.

K. Rich. Your cares set up do not pluck my cares
• down. 195

My care is loss of care, by old care done ;

Your care is gain of care, by new care won :

The cares I give, I have, though given away ;

They tend the crown, yet still with me they stay.

Boling. Are you contented to resign the crown ? 200

K. Rich. Ay, no ; no, ay ; for I must nothing be ;

Therefore no no, for I resign to thee.

Now mark me, how I will undo myself :

I give this heavy weight from off my head

And this unwieldy sceptre from my hand, 205

The pride of kingly sway from out my heart ;

With mine own tears I wash away my balm,

With mine own hands I give away my crown,
 With mine own tongue deny my sacred state,
 With mine own breath release all duty's rites: 210
 All pomp and majesty I do forswear;
 My manors, rents, revenues I forgo;
 My acts, decrees, and statutes I deny:
 God pardon all oaths that are broke to me!
 God keep all vows unbroke that swear to thee! 215
 Make me, that nothing have, with nothing grieved,
 And thou with all pleased, that hast all achieved!
 Long mayst thou live in Richard's seat to sit,
 And soon lie Richard in an earthy pit!
 God save King Harry, unking'd Richard says, 220
 And send him many years of sunshine days!
 What more remains?

 Committed by your person and your followers
 Against the state and profit of this land; 225
 That, by confessing them, the souls of men
 May deem that you are worthily deposed.

To read a lecture of them? If thou wouldst,
 There shouldst thou find one heinous article,
 Containing the deposing of a king
 And cracking the strong warrant of an oath, 235
 Mark'd with a blot, damn'd in the book of heaven :
 Nay, all of you that stand and look upon,
 Whilst that my wretchedness doth bait myself,
 Though some of you with Pilate wash your hands,
 Showing an outward pity; yet you Pilates 240
 Have here deliver'd me to my sour cross,
 And water cannot wash away your sin.

No deeper wrinkles yet? hath sorrow struck
 So many blows upon this face of mine,
 And made no deeper wounds? O flattering glass,
 Like to my followers in prosperity, 280
 Thou dost beguile me! Was this face the face
 That every day under his household roof
 Did keep ten thousand men? was this the face

 Ah, thou, the model where old Troy did stand,
 Thou map of honour, thou King Richard's tomb,
 And not King Richard; thou most beauteous inn,
 Why should hard-favour'd grief be lodged in thee,
 When triumph is become an alehouse guest? 15

 The heavy accent of thy moving tongue,
 And in compassion weep the fire out;
 And some will mourn in ashes, some coal-black,
 For the deposing of a rightful king. 50

Enter NORTHUMBERLAND and others.

North. My lord, the mind of Bolingbroke is changed;
 You must to Pomfret, not unto the Tower.
 And, madam, there is order ta'en for you;
 With all swift speed you must away to France.

K. Rich. Northumberland, thou ladder wherewithal 55
 The mounting Bolingbroke ascends my throne,
 The time shall not be many hours of age
 More than it is, ere foul sin gathering head
 Shall break into corruption: thou shalt think,
 Though he divide the realm, and give thee half, 60
 It is too little, helping him to all;
 And he shall think that thou, which know'st the way

 Let me unkiss the oath 'twixt thee and me;
 And yet not so, for with a kiss 'twas made. 75

K. Rich. Twice for one step I'll groan, the way being short,

And piece the way out with a heavy heart.
 Come, come, in wooing sorrow let's be brief,
 Since, wedding it, there is such length in grief:
 One kiss shall stop our mouths, and dumbly part; 95
 Thus give I mine, and thus take I thy heart.

Queen. Give me mine own again; 'twere no good part
 To take on me to keep and kill thy heart.

So, now I have mine own again, be gone,
 That I may strive to kill it with a groan. 100

 V. SCENE I. Capell.

The...palace.] Pope. The same (i.e.

 Capell.

Enter...]  $Ff Q_5$ . Enter the Duke of Yorke and the Dutchesse.  $Q_1 Q_2 Q_3$
 $Q_4$ .

When weeping made you break the story off
Of our two cousins coming into London.

York. Where did I leave?

Duch. At that sad stop, my lord,
Where rude misgovern'd hands from windows' tops 5
Threw dust and rubbish on King Richard's head.

York. Then, as I said, the duke, great Bolingbroke,
Mounted upon a hot and fiery steed,
Which his aspiring rider seem'd to know,
With slow but stately pace kept on his course, 10
Whilst all tongues cried 'God save thee, Bolingbroke!'
You would have thought the very windows spake,
So many greedy looks of young and old
Through casements darted their desiring eyes
Upon his visage, and that all the walls 15
With painted imagery had said at once
'Jesu preserve thee! welcome, Bolingbroke!'
Whilst he, from the one side to the other turning,
Bareheaded, lower than his proud steed's neck,
Bespake them thus; 'I thank you, countrymen:' 20
And thus still doing, thus he pass'd along.

Duch. Alack, poor Richard! where rode he the whilst?

York. As in a theatre, the eyes of men,
After a well-graced actor leaves the stage,
Are idly bent on him that enters next, 25
Thinking his prattle to be tedious;

Even so, or with much more contempt, men's eyes
 Did scowl on gentle Richard; no man cried 'God save him!'
 No joyful tongue gave him his welcome home:
 But dust was thrown upon his sacred head; 30
 Which with such gentle sorrow he shook off,
 His face still combating with tears and smiles,
 The badges of his grief and patience,
 That had not God, for some strong purpose, steel'd
 The hearts of men, they must perforce have melted, 35
 And barbarism itself have pitied him.
 But heaven hath a hand in these events,
 To whose high will we bound our calm contents.
 To Bolingbroke are we sworn subjects now,
 Whose state and honour I for aye allow. 40

Duch. Here comes my son Aumerle. •

York. Aumerle that was;
 But that is lost for being Richard's friend,
 And, madam, you must call him Rutland now:
 I am in parliament pledge for his truth
 And lasting fealty to the new made king. 45

Enter AUMERLE.

 If any plague hang over us, 'tis he.
 I would to God, my lords, he might be found :
 Inquire at London, 'mongst the taverns there, 5
 For there, they say, he daily doth frequent,
 With unrestrained loose companions,
 Even such, they say, as stand in narrow lanes,

Duch. Nay, do not say, 'stand up;'
 Say 'pardon' first, and afterwards 'stand up.'
 An if I were thy nurse, thy tongue to teach,
 'Pardon' should be the first word of thy speech.
 I never long'd to hear a word till now; 115
 Say 'pardon,' king; let pity teach thee how:
 The word is short, but not so short as sweet;
 No word like 'pardon' for kings' mouths so meet.

Speak 'pardon' as 'tis current in our land;
 The chopping French we do not understand.
 Thine eye begins to speak, set thy tongue there: 125
 Or in thy piteous heart plant thou thine ear;
 That hearing how our complaints and prayers do pierce,

May tear a passage through the flinty ribs 20
 Of this hard world, my ragged prison walls,
 And, for they cannot, die in their own pride.
 Thoughts tending to content flatter themselves
 That they are not the first of fortune's slaves,
 Nor shall not be the last; like silly beggars 25
 Who sitting in the stocks refuge their shame,
 That many have and others must sit there;
 And in this thought they find a kind of ease,
 Bearing their own misfortunes on the back
 Of such as have before endured the like. 30
 Thus play I in one person many people,
 And none contented: sometimes am I king;
 Then treasons make me wish myself a beggar,
 And so I am: then crushing penury
 Persuades me I was better when a king; 35
 Then am I king'd again: and by and by
 Think that I am unking'd by Bolingbroke,
 And straight am nothing: but whate'er I be,
 Nor I nor any man that but man is
 With nothing shall be pleased, till he be eased 40

So is it in the music of men's lives.
 And here have I the daintiness of ear 45
 To check time broke in a disorder'd string;
 But for the concord of my state and time
 Had not an ear to hear my true time broke.
 I wasted time, and now doth time waste me;
 For now hath time made me his numbering clock: 50
 My thoughts are minutes; and with sighs they jar
 Their watches on unto mine eyes, the outward watch,
 Whereto my finger, like a dial's point,
 Is pointing still, in cleansing them from tears.
 Now sir, the sound that tells what hour it is 55
 Are clamorous groans, which strike upon my heart,
 Which is the bell: so sighs and tears and groans
 Show minutes, times, and hours: but my time
 Runs posting on in Bolingbroke's proud joy,
 While I stand fooling here, his Jack o' the clock. 60

Groom. Hail, royal prince!

K. Rich. Thanks, noble peer;

The cheapest of us is ten groats too dear.

What art thou? and how comest thou hither,

Where no man never comes, but that sad dog

That brings me food to make misfortune live?

Groom. I was a poor groom of thy stable, king,

When thou wert king; who, travelling towards York,

With much ado at length have gotten leave

To look upon my sometimes royal master's face.

75

O, how it yearn'd my heart when I beheld

In London streets, that coronation-day,

When Bolingbroke rode on roan Barbary,

That horse that thou so often hast bestrid,

That horse that I so carefully have dress'd!

NOTES.

NOTE I.

DRAMATIS PERSONÆ. We have made some slight changes in the titles and order of the dramatis personæ in accordance with the suggestion of Mr George Russell French, who writes to us: "Why should Edmund Langley be placed before his elder brother John of Gaunt? The title of 'Berkely' should be simply 'Lord,' as that family were not made Earls till the time of Charles II. Shakspeare only calls him 'Lorde Barkley.' I would recommend that the name of 'Sir Pierce Exton' should be placed after that of 'Sir Stephen Scroop,' as the latter was actually a baron of Parliament. The 'Duchess of York' should have precedence over the 'Duchess of Gloucester,' whose husband was the youngest son of Edward III."

NOTE II.

i. l. 2. Band is given by Minsheu with the sense of 'obligation' (Guide into Tongues, 1617). Both words band and bond were concurrently in use with the same sense. In this play, v. 2. 65, the first four Quartos read band, the Folios and the fifth Quarto bond, while in the 67th line both Quartos and Folios agree in bond.

NOTE III.

i. l. 149. In this place and in several others Capell in his Various Readings has attributed the reading of the fourth Quarto to the third.

The same error is found 34. 5, Brittaine; 46. 22, two; 46. 31, profession; 47. 11, impresse; 48. 21, from my; 49. 26, can cannot; 78. 17, night; 88. 30, the how; 92. 18, hath help.

NOTE IV.

SCENE II. As usual, there is no division into Acts and Scenes in the Quartos. We follow generally the Folios in their arrangement, carefully noting the exceptions.

NOTE V.

I. 2. 1. We retain here the reading of the Quartos, which is doubtless what Shakespeare wrote. Probably it was altered for the stage, because 'Thomas of Woodstock' was better known to the audience by his title 'Duke of Gloucester.'

NOTE VI.

I. 2. 70. Notwithstanding the paramount authority of the first Quarto we conceive that the antithesis between there see, line 67, and hear there, is too marked to admit of a doubt that the reading of the second is to be preferred in this place.

[The Duke of Devonshire's copy of the quarto of 1597 reads 'heare.'

NOTE VII.

I. 3. 7. The stage direction in the text is made up of those given in the Quartos and Folios. The first Quarto has: The trumpets sound and the King enters with his nobles; when they are set, enter the Duke of Norfolk in armes defendant.

The first Folio has: Flourish. Enter King, Gaunt, Bushy, Bagot, Greene, & others: Then Mowbray in Armor, and Harrold.

At I. 3. 25, the first Quarto gives as the stage direction, The trumpets sound. Enter Duke of Hereford appellant in armour. The first Folio has simply, Tucket. Enter Hereford, and Harold.

NOTE VIII.

I. 3. 20. Notwithstanding that the emendation of the Folios yields an easier sense, we follow the reading of the Quartos, which may be explained, inasmuch as the Duke of Norfolk's 'succeeding issue' would be involved in the forfeiture incurred by disloyalty to his king. It may also be noted that King Richard had never any issue.

NOTE IX.

i. 3. 128. Capell's copy of the first Quarto has cruell. Another copy is said, in the Variorum edition of 1821, to have the reading civil (or civill), but we have been unable to trace it. Mr George Daniel informs us that his copy has cruell. [The Duke of Devonshire's copy has civill. Mr Daniel's is now (1891) in the possession of Mr Huth.]

NOTE X.

i. 3. 129—133. Pope first restored to the text the five lines omitted in the Folios and the fifth Quarto. He found them in the Quarto of 1598, which he took to be 'the first edition.' Warburton 'put them,' as he says, 'into hooks, not as spurious, but as rejected on the author's revise.' Capell omitted the five lines next following. 'Tis probable,' he says, 'that the lines now omitted were left negligently in the MS. from which the Quarto was printed; that a mark was set on them when the Folio came out, but mistook by the printer of it, who changed the sound for the unsound.'

NOTE XI.

i. 3. 150. Some commentators, among them Capell himself, have quoted the second Folio as reading 'slye slow.' In Capell's copy and in Long's it is certainly 'flye slow.' Mr Collier in a letter to Notes and Queries (1st ser. vi. 141) mentions that he has found 'flye slow' in other copies.

NOTE XII.

i. 3. 239—242. Pope introduced the two last of the lines he omitted in this place at the end of Gaunt's speech after line 246. Theobald restored lines 239, 240 to their original place, but left lines 241, 242 as he found them in Pope.

NOTE XIII.

ii. 1. 40—55. This royal throne...stubborn Jewry. This passage, with the exception of line 50, is quoted in England's Parnassus, p. 348 (1600), and is there attributed to M. Dr., i.e. Michael Drayton, whose England's Heroical Epistles had been published two years before. The three lines i. 1. 177—179 are also quoted at p. 113 of the same collection. [These variations are not found in Collier's reprint of England's Parnassus, which has been so 'corrected' as to be worthless.]

NOTE XIV.

II. l. 254. The Folios omitted noble, in order to correct the redundant line. But Alexandrines occur too frequently in this play to admit of the supposition that they are all due to printers' or transcribers' errors. The author probably found the occasional recurrence of a six foot line no stumbling-block in the even road of his blank verse.

NOTE XV.

II. l. 277, 278. Pope makes a bold emendation here :

'Then thus, my friends. I have from Port le Blanc,
A bay in Bretagne, had intelligence, &c.'

The first Quarto reads thus :

'Then thus, I haue from le Port Blan
• A Bay in Brittainne receiude intelligence, &c.'

And, excepting that  $Q_2Q_3$  read 'Brittanie,' the rest are substantially the same.

The first Folio has 'Port le Blan' and 'Britaine.'

The arrangement of the lines in the text agrees with Capell's.

[As the Quartos have 'le Port Blan' and Holinshed 'le Porte Blanc,' I have adopted the reading 'le Port Blanc,' which is the name of a small port in the department of Côtes du Nord, near Tréguier. W. A. W.]

NOTE XVI.

II. l. 279 sqq. This passage stands thus in the first Quarto :

'That Harry duke of Herford, Rainold L. Cobham
That late broke from the Duke of Exeter
His brother, archbishop late of Canterburie,
Sir Thomas Erpingham, sir Iohn Ramston,
Sir Iohn Norbery, sir Robert Waterton, and Francis Coines :'

and the three following are almost the same to a letter.

For 'Ramston' and 'Coines' the first Folio has 'Rainston' and 'Quoint.'

According to Holinshed it was not Lord Cobham but 'Thomas Arundell' who escaped from the Duke of Exeter's house, where he was kept.

In order to make Shakespeare and the Chronicler agree, Capell reads :

‘That Harry Hereford, Reignold lord Cobham;
The archbishop, late of Canterbury; his nephew,
That late broke from the duke of Exeter; &c.’

Malone introduces within brackets the following line :

‘[The son of Richard earl of Arundel].’

His view that a line is lost seems to us more probable than Capell’s transpositions, omission, and insertion. And as Shakespeare evidently wrote with Holinshed before him, it is not probable that he would have made such an error as we find in the printed text.

Ritson proposed to fill up the gap with

‘[The son and heir of the late earl of Arundel],’ which is taken almost verbatim from Holinshed.

Mr Vaughan would read,

‘That Harry Herford, Reginald Lord Cobham,
Thomas, the Earl of Arundel’s son and heir
(That, &c.’

Hudson (Harvard Shakespeare) inserts in brackets,

‘Thomas, the son and heir to th’ Earl of Arundel.’

NOTE XVII.

II. 2. 109. The Quarto of 1597 reads the lines thus :

‘Gentlemen, will you go muster men?
If I know how or which way to order these affayres
Thus, &c.’

The other editions have the same arrangement (the Folios omitting ‘go’ in the first line).

Pope reads :

‘Gentlemen, will you go and muster men?
If I know how to order these affairs,
Disorderly thrust, &c.’

Capell reads :

‘Gentlemen, will you muster men? if I know
How, or which way, to order these affairs
Thus most disorderly thrust, &c.’

Steevens (1778) has :

‘Gentlemen, will you go muster men? if I know
How, or which way, &c.’

In his edition of 1773 he reads ‘go, and’, as Pope.

Mr Staunton says in a note: The redundant, or which way, I have always suspected to be an interlineation of the poet’s, who had not decided whether to read, ‘how to order these affairs,’ or, ‘which way to order.’

Perhaps the author in expressing York’s agitation and perplexity, instinctively broke into irregular rhythm, and the rest of the speech might be printed as prose.

NOTE XVIII.

II. 3. 5. The fact that Drawes (not Draws) is the reading of the first Quarto tends to show that the singular is not a misprint for the plural. The construction is not unfrequent in Shakespeare nor in colloquial language even at the present time. It is as if the author had said, ‘Travelling over these high wild hills, &c. Draws...’

NOTE XIX.

III. 2. 70. Theobald in a letter to Warburton, Nichols’ Illustrations, Vol. II. p. 398, suggests that in lines 70, 76, 85, we should read ‘forty thousand,’ because Holinshed says that Lord Salisbury raised forty thousand men in Wales for the King.

But the proposed reading would not suit the metre in line 70; and it is difficult to see how the mistake should have arisen in two places if the poet had written ‘forty’ originally in all three.

NOTE XX.

III. 3. 52. Capell seems to have printed ‘the castle’s’ by mistake for ‘this castle’s’—the reading of all the old copies. The mistake was copied in several subsequent editions.

NOTE XXI.

III. 4. 22. ‘And I could sing, would weeping do me good,
And never borrow any tear of thee.’

Although most editors have acquiesced in Pope’s conjecture ‘weep’ for ‘sing,’ we retain ‘sing,’ which all the Quartos and Folios agree in. The mistake is not one which a transcriber or printer would be likely to make, and the original reading yields a very good sense. The Queen speaks with an emphasis on 'sing:': 'And I could even sing for joy if my troubles were only such as weeping could alleviate, and then I would not ask you to weep for me.'

NOTE XXII.

iv. l. 52—59. Pope added to Aumerle's speech three lines he found in the Quarto, beginning 'Who sets me else...?' without intimating that it contained other five lines, 'I task thee...thou dar'st,' which he omitted. The omission escaped the notice of Theobald and Warburton. Johnson was the first to supply it. He added in a note: 'This speech I have restored from the first edition in humble imitation of former editors, though, I believe, against the mind of the authour. For the earth I suppose we ought to read, thy oath.'

NOTE XXIII.

iv. l. 281 sqq. The third and fourth Quartos (the earliest editions which contain this scene) read here:

'...prosperitie!

Was this the face that every day vnder his

The first Folio has:

'...prosperitie,

Thou do'st beguile me. Was this Face, the Face
That every day, vnder his House-hold Rooffe,
Did keepe ten thousand men? Was this the Face,
That like the Sunne, did make beholders winke?
Is this the Face, which fac'd so many follyes,
That was...'

NOTE XXIV.

v. l. 88. Sidney Walker (Criticisms, Vol. I. p. 189—193) has collected instances of 'near' and 'far' used in the sense of 'nearer' and 'farther.' For an instance of the latter, see Winter's Tale, iv. 4. 423, 'Far than Deucalion off.'

NOTE XXV.

v. 2. 28. Possibly 'God save him' should be printed in a line by itself.

NOTE XXVI.

v. 2. 57. Malone says of this passage: 'Perhaps like many other speeches in this scene it was not intended for verse.'

NOTE XXVII.

v. 3. 12. Mr Staunton thinks that the words 'So dissolute a crew' were part of a line which was intended to be cancelled, or to supply the place of 'even such, they say,' line 8.

NOTE XXVIII.

v. 3. 20—22. Capell's arrangement is as follows:

'As dissolute as desperate: yet through both,
I see some sparkles of a better hope,
Which elder years may happily bring forth.
But who comes here?'

NOTE XXIX.

v. 3. 66. Steevens, in his edition of 1778, says, 'The modern editors read:—transgressing.' The only edition in which we have found this reading is that of Johnson and Steevens, 1773.

NOTE XXX.

v. 3. 137. Theobald reads:

'But for our trusty brother-in-law,—the Abbot,—' and adds in a note: 'Without these marks of disjunction,...the abbot here mention'd and Bolingbroke's brother-in-law seem to be one and the same person: but this was not the case....The brother-in-law, meant, was John Duke of Exeter and Earl of Huntingdon, (own brother to King Richard II.) and who had married with the lady Elizabeth sister to Henry of Bolingbroke.'

NOTE XXXI.

v. 3. 144. 'Cousin too, adieu,' which is generally attributed to Theobald, is really the reading of the Quarto of 1634 (Q<sub>s</sub>).

Perhaps the line may be amended thus:

'Uncle, farewell; farewell, aunt; cousin, adieu.'

Many as harsh-sounding lines may be found, and it seems only consonant with good manners that the king should take leave of his aunt as well as of the others. There is a propriety too in his using a colder form of leave-taking to his guilty cousin than to his uncle and aunt. Dyce (ed. 2) proposes,

'Uncle, farewell; aunt,—cousin, too—adieu.'

NOTE XXXII.

v. 5. 94. Mr Staunton says that Q<sub>1</sub> reads 'Spurn'd, gall'd.' Capell's copy has 'Spurrde, gall'd.' Though 'Spur-gall'd' is an extremely probable correction, we adhere to our rule of following the higher authority whenever it seems to yield a reasonable sense.

KING HENRY IV.

ACT I.

SCENE I. London. The palace.

Enter KING HENRY, LORD JOHN of LANCASTER, the EARL of WEST-MORELAND, SIR WALTER BLUNT, and others.

King. So shaken as we are, so wan with care,
Find we a time for frightened peace to pant,
And breathe short-winded accents of new broils
To be commenced in stronds afar remote.
No more the thirsty entrance of this soil
Shall daub her lips with her own children's blood;

No more shall trenching war channel her fields,

 Of hostile paces: those opposed eyes,
 Which, like the meteors of a troubled heaven, 10
 All of one nature, of one substance bred,
 Did lately meet in the intestine shock
 And furious close of civil butchery,
 Shall now, in mutual well-beseeming ranks,
 March all one way, and be no more opposed 15
 Against acquaintance, kindred and allies:
 The edge of war, like an ill-sheathed knife,
 No more shall cut his master. Therefore, friends,
 As far as to the sepulchre of Christ,
 Whose soldier now, under whose blessed cross 20
 We are impressed and engaged to fight,
 Forthwith a power of English shall we levy;
 Whose arms were moulded in their mothers' womb
 To chase these pagans in those holy fields
 Over whose acres walk'd those blessed feet, 25
 Which fourteen hundred years ago were nail'd
 For our advantage on the bitter cross.

 Therefore we meet not now. Then let me hear 30
 Of you, my gentle cousin Westmoreland,
 What yesternight our council did decree
 In forwarding this dear expedience.

West. My liege, this haste was hot in question,
 And many limits of the charge set down 35
 But yesternight : when all athwart there came
 A post from Wales loaden with heavy news ;
 Whose worst was, that the noble Mortimer,
 Leading the men of Herefordshire to fight
 Against the irregular and wild Glendower, 40
 Was by the rude hands of that Welshman taken,
 A thousand of his people butchered ;
 Upon whose dead corpse there was such misuse,
 Such beastly shameless transformation,
 By those Welshwomen done, as may not be 45
 Without much shame retold or spoken of.

King. It seems then that the tidings of this broil
 Brake off our business for the Holy Land.

West. This match'd with other did, my gracious lord ;

Young Harry Percy, and brave Archibald,

 Where they did spend a sad and bloody hour;
 As by discharge of their artillery,
 And shape of likelihood, the news was told;
 For he that brought them, in the very heat

 Uncertain of the issue any way.

King. Here is a dear, a true industrious friend,
 Sir Walter Blunt, new lighted from his horse,
 Stain'd with the variation of each soil
 Betwixt that Holmedon and this seat of ours; 65
 And he hath brought us smooth and welcome news.
 The Earl of Douglas is discomfited :

were hot enough for him? This is the most omnipotent villain that ever cried 'Stand' to a true man. 106

Prince. Good morrow, Ned.

Poins. Good morrow, sweet Hal. What says Monsieur Remorse? what says Sir John Sack and Sugar? Jack! how agrees the devil and thee about thy soul, that thou soldest him on Good Friday last for a cup of Madeira and a cold capon's leg? 112

Prince. Sir John stands to his word, the devil shall have his bargain; for he was never yet a breaker of proverbs: he will give the devil his due. 115

Poins. Then art thou damned for keeping thy word with the devil.

Prince. Else he had been damned for cozening the devil. 119

Poins. But, my lads, my lads, to-morrow morning, by four o'clock, early at Gadshill! there are pilgrims going to Canterbury with rich offerings, and traders riding to London with fat purses: I have vizards for you all; you have horses for yourselves: Gadshill lies to-night in Rochester: I have bespoke supper to-morrow night in Eastcheap: we may do it as secure as sleep. If you will go, I will stuff your purses full of crowns; if you will not, tarry at home and be hanged.

Fal. Hear ye, Yedward; if I tarry at home and go not, I'll hang you for going. 130

Prince. Well then, once in my days I'll be a madcap.

Fal. Why, that 's well said.

Prince. Well, come what will, I'll tarry at home.

Fal. By the Lord, I'll be a traitor then, when thou art king. 141

Prince. I care not.

Poins. Sir John, I prithee, leave the prince and me alone: I will lay him down such reasons for this adventure that he shall go. 145

Fal. Well, God give thee the spirit of persuasion and him the ears of profiting, that what thou speakest may move and what he hears may be believed, that the true prince may, for recreation sake, prove a false thief; for the poor abuses of the time want countenance. Farewell: you shall find me in Eastcheap. 151

Prince. Farewell, thou latter spring! farewell, All-hallowen summer! [Exit Falstaff.

Prince. How shall we part with them in setting forth?

Poins. Why, we will set forth before or after them, and appoint them a place of meeting, wherein it is at our pleasure to fail, and then will they adventure upon the exploit themselves; which they shall have no sooner achieved, but we'll set upon them. 167

Prince. Yea, but 'tis like that they will know us by our horses, by our habits, and by every other appointment, to be ourselves. 170

Poins. Tut! our horses they shall not see; I'll tie them in the wood; our vizards we will change after we leave them: and, sirrah, I have cases of buckram for the nonce, to immask our noted outward garments. 174

Prince. Yea, but I doubt they will be too hard for us.

Poins. Well, for two of them, I know them to be as true-bred cowards as ever turned back; and for the third, if he fight longer than he sees reason, I'll forswear arms. The virtue of this jest will be, the incomprehensible lies that this same fat rogue will tell us when we meet at supper: how thirty, at least, he fought with; what wards, what blows, what extremities he endured; and in the reproof of this lies the jest. 183

Prince. I know you all, and will a while uphold
The unyoked humour of your idleness:
Yet herein will I imitate the sun, 190
Who doth permit the base contagious clouds
To smother up his beauty from the world,
That, when he please again to be himself,
Being wanted, he may be more wonder'd at,
By breaking through the foul and ugly mists 195
Of vapours that did seem to strangle him.
If all the year were playing holidays,
To sport would be as tedious as to work;
But when they seldom come, they wish'd for come,
And nothing pleaseth but rare accidents. 200
So, when this loose behaviour I throw off
And pay the debt I never promised,
By how much better than my word I am,
By so much shall I falsify men's hopes;
And like bright metal on a sullen ground; 205
My reformation, glittering o'er my fault,
Shall show more goodly and attract more eyes
Than that which hath no foil to set it off.
I'll so offend, to make offence a skill;
Redeeming time when men think least I will. [Exit. 210

Enter the KING, NORTHUMBERLAND, WORCESTER, HOTSPUR, SIR WALTER BLUNT, with others.

King. My blood hath been too cold and temperate,
Unapt to stir at these indignities,
And you have found me; for accordingly
You tread upon my patience: but be sure
I will from henceforth rather be myself, 5
Mighty and to be fear'd, than my condition;
Which hath been smooth as oil, soft as young down,
And therefore lost that title of respect
Which the proud soul ne'er pays but to the proud.

Wor. Our house, my sovereign liege, little deserves 10
The scourge of greatness to be used on it;
And that same greatness too which our own hands
Have help to make so portly.

North. My lord,—

King. Worcester, get thee gone; for I do see 15
Danger and disobedience in thine eye:

 But I remember, when the fight was done, 30
 When I was dry with rage and extreme toil,
 Breathless and faint, leaning upon my sword,

Took it in snuff; and still he smiled and talk'd,
 And as the soldiers bore dead bodies by,
 He call'd them untaught knaves, unmannerly,
 To bring a slovenly unhandsome corse
 Betwixt the wind and his nobility. 45
 With many holiday and lady terms
 He question'd me; amongst the rest, demanded
 My prisoners in your majesty's behalf.
 I then, all smarting with my wounds being cold,
 To be so pester'd with a popinjay, 50
 Out of my grief and my impatience,
 Answer'd neglectingly I know not what,
 He should, or he should not; for he made me mad
 To see him shine so brisk, and smell so sweet,
 And talk so like a waiting-gentlewoman 55
 Of guns and drums and wounds,—God save the mark!—
 And telling me the sovereign'st thing on earth
 Was parmaceti for an inward bruise;
 And that it was great pity, so it was,
 This villanous salt-petre should be digg'd 60

Hot. Nay, then I cannot blame his cousin king,
That wish'd him on the barren mountains starve.
But shall it be, that you, that set the crown 160
Upon the head of this forgetful man,
And for his sake wear the detested blot
Of murderous subornation, shall it be,

O, pardon me that I descend so low,
To show the line and the predicament
Wherein you range under this subtle king;
Shall it for shame be spoken in these days, 170
Or fill up chronicles in time to come,

The thieves are all scatter'd and possess'd with fear 101
So strongly that they dare not meet each other;
Each takes his fellow for an officer.
Away, good Ned. Falstaff sweats to death,

Say you so, say you so? I say unto you again, you are a shallow cowardly hind, and you lie. What a lack-brain is this! Lady. O, my good lord, why are you thus alone?
 For what offence have I this fortnight been 35
 A banish'd woman from my Harry's bed?
 Tell me, sweet lord, what is 't that takes from thee
 Thy stomach, pleasure, and thy golden sleep?
 Why dost thou bend thine eyes upon the earth,
 And start so often when thou sit'st alone? 40
 Why hast thou lost the fresh blood in thy cheeks,
 And given my treasures and my rights of thee
 To thick-eyed musing and cursed melancholy?
 In thy faint slumbers I by thee have watch'd,
 And heard thee murmur tales of iron wars; 45
 Speak terms of manage to thy bounding steed;
 Cry 'Courage! to the field!' And thou hast talk'd
 Of sallies and retires, of trenches, tents,
 Of palisadoes, frontiers, parapets,
 Of basilisks, of cannon, culverin, 50
 Of prisoners' ransom, and of soldiers slain,
 And all the currents of a heady fight.

I care not for thee, Kate: this is no world
 To play with mammetts and to tilt with lips:
 We must have bloody noses and crack'd crowns, 90
 And pass them current too. God's me, my horse!
 What say'st thou, Kate? what wouldst thou have with me?

Lady. Do you not love me? do you not, indeed?
 Well, do not then; for since you love me not,
 I will not love myself. Do you not love me? 95
 Nay, tell me if you speak in jest or no.

Hot. Come, wilt thou see me ride?
 And when I am o' horseback, I will swear
 I love thee infinitely. But hark you, Kate;
 I must not have you henceforth question me 100
 Whither I go, nor reason whereabout:
 Whither I must, I must; and, to conclude,
 This evening must I leave you, gentle Kate.
 I know you wise, but yet no farther wise
 Than Harry Percy's wife: constant you are, 105
 But yet a woman: and for secrecy,
 No lady closer; for I well believe
 Thou wilt not utter what thou dost not know;
 And so far will I trust thee, gentle Kate.

Lady. How! so far? 110

Prince. Ned, prithee, come out of that fat room, and lend me thy hand to laugh a little.

Poins. Where hast been, Hal?

Prince. With three or four loggerheads amongst three or fourscore hogsheads. I have sounded the very base-string of humility. Sirrah, I am sworn brother to a leash of drawers; and can call them all by their christen names, as Tom, Dick, and Francis. They take it already upon their salvation, that though I be but Prince of Wales, yet I am the king of courtesy; and tell me flatly I am no proud Jack, like Falstaff, but a Corinthian, a lad of mettle, a good boy, by the Lord, so they call me, and when I am king of England, I shall command all the good lads in Eastcheap. They call drinking deep, dyeing scarlet; and when you breathe in your watering, they cry 'hem!' and bid you play it off. To conclude, I am so good a proficient

But, sweet Ned,—to sweeten which name of Ned, I give thee this pennyworth of sugar, clapped even now into my hand by an under-skinker, one that never spake other English in his life than ‘Eight shillings and sixpence,’ and ‘You are welcome,’ with this shrill addition, ‘Anon, anon, sir! prize, and have it; yea, and can show it you here in the house: and, Falstaff, you carried your guts away as nimbly, with as quick dexterity, and roared for mercy, and still run and roared, as ever I heard bull-calf. What a slave art thou, to hack thy sword as thou hast done, and then say it was in fight! What trick, what device, what starting-hole, canst thou now find out to hide thee from this open and apparent shame? 256

Poins. Come, let's hear, Jack; what trick hast thou now?

Fal. By the Lord, I knew ye as well as he that made ye. Why, hear you, my masters: was it for me to kill the heir-apparent? should I turn upon the true prince? why, thou knowest I am as valiant as Hercules: but beware instinct; the lion will not touch the true prince. Instinct is a great matter; I was now a coward on instinct. I shall think the better of myself and thee during my life; I for a valiant lion, and thou for a true prince. But, by the Lord, lads, I am glad you have the money. Hostess, clap to the doors: watch to-night, pray to-morrow. Gallants, lads, boys, hearts of gold, all the titles of good fellowship come to you! There is a thing, Harry, which thou hast often heard of, and it is known to many in our land by the name of pitch: this pitch, as ancient writers do report, doth defile; so doth the company thou keepest: for, Harry, now I do not speak to thee in drink but in tears, not in pleasure but in passion, not in words only, but in woes also: and yet there is a virtuous man whom I have often noted in thy company, but I know not his name. 406

488 SCENE XII. Pope. Enter...] QqFf.

489, 490, 492, 493 As verse first by Pope. As prose in QqFf.

Sher. One of them is well known, my gracious lord,
A gross fat man.

Car. As fat as butter.

Prince. The man, I do assure you, is not here;
For I myself at this time have employ'd him. 495
And, sheriff, I will engage my word to thee
That I will, by to-morrow dinner-time,
Send him to answer thee, or any man,
For any thing he shall be charged withal:
And so let me entreat you leave the house. 500

Sher. I will, my lord. There are two gentlemen
Have in this robbery lost three hundred marks.

Prince. It may be so: if he have robb'd these men,
He shall be answerable; and so farewell.

• Sher. Good night, my noble lord. 505

Prince. I think it is good morrow, is it not?

Sher. Indeed, my lord, I think it be two o'clock.

[Exeunt Sheriff and Carrier.]

Prince. This oily rascal is known as well as Paul's.
Go, call him forth. 509

Peto. Falstaff!—Fast asleep behind the arras, and snorting like a horse.

Prince. Hark, how hard he fetches breath. Search his pockets. [He searcheth his pockets, and findeth certain papers.]
What hast thou found?

Peto. Nothing but papers, my lord. 515

 Item, Anchovies and sack after supper, 2s. 6d.
 Item, Bread, . . . . . ob.

Prince. O monstrous! but one half-pennyworth of bread to this intolerable deal of sack! What there is else, keep close; we'll read it at more advantage: there let him sleep till day. I'll to the court in the morning. We must all to the wars, and thy place shall be honourable. I'll procure this fat rogue a charge of foot; and I know his death will be a march of twelve-score. The money shall be paid back again with advantage. Be with me betimes in the morning; and so, good morrow, Peto. 530

Peto. Good morrow, good my lord. [Exeunt.]

Mortimer, and Glendower.] Lord
 Mortimer, Owen Glendower. Qq Ff.

Hot. Lord Mortimer, and cousin Glendower,
Will you sit down?

And uncle Worcester: a plague upon it!

I have forgot the map.

Glend. No, here it is.

Sit, cousin Percy; sit, good cousin Hotspur,

For by that name as oft as Lancaster

Doth speak of you, his cheek looks pale, and with

A rising sigh he wisheth you in heaven. 10

Hot. And you in hell, as oft as he hears Owen Glendower spoke of.

Glend. I cannot blame him: at my nativity

The front of heaven was full of fiery shapes,

Of burning cressets; and at my birth

15

The frame and huge foundation of the earth

Shaked like a coward.

Hot. Why, so it would have done at the same season, if your mother's cat had but kittened, though yourself had never been born. 20

Glend. I say the earth did shake when I was born.

Hot. And I say the earth was not of my mind,
If you suppose as fearing you it shook.

Glend. The heavens were all on fire, the earth did tremble.

Hot. O, then the earth shook to see the heavens on fire,
And not in fear of your nativity. 26

Diseased nature oftentimes breaks forth
In strange eruptions; oft the teeming earth
Is with a kind of colic pinch'd and vex'd
By the imprisoning of unruly wind 30
Within her womb; which, for enlargement striving,
Shakes the old beldam earth and topples down
Steeple and moss-grown towers. At your birth
Our grandam earth, having this distemperature,
In passion shook.

Glend. Cousin, of many men 35
I do not bear these crossings. Give me leave
To tell you once again that at my birth
The front of heaven was full of fiery shapes,
The goats ran from the mountains, and the herds
Were strangely clamorous to the frightened fields. 40
These signs have mark'd me extraordinary;
And all the courses of my life do show
I am not in the roll of common men.
Where is he living, clipp'd in with the sea

Which calls me pupil, or hath read to me?

Can trace me in the tedious ways of art,

And hold me pace in deep experiments.

Hot. I think there's no man speaks better Welsh.
I'll to dinner. 51

Mort. Peace, cousin Percy; you will make him mad.

Glend. I can call spirits from the vasty deep.

Hot. Why, so can I, or so can any man;

But will they come when you do call for them? 55

Glend. Why, I can teach you, cousin, to command
The devil.

Hot. And I can teach thee, coz, to shame the devil
By telling truth: tell truth, and shame the devil.

If thou have power to raise him, bring him hither, 60

And I'll be sworn I have power to shame him hence.

O, while you live, tell truth, and shame the devil!

Mort. Come, come, no more of this unprofitable chat.

Hot. Home without boots, and in foul weather too!
How 'scapes he agues, in the devil's name?

Glend. Come, here's the map: shall we divide our right
According to our threefold order ta'en? 71

Mort. The archdeacon hath divided it
Into three limits very equally:
England, from Trent and Severn hitherto,
By south and east is to my part assign'd: 75
All westward, Wales beyond the Severn shore,
And all the fertile land within that bound,
To Owen Glendower: and, dear coz, to you
The remnant northward, lying off from Trent.
And our indentures tripartite are drawn; 80
Which being sealed interchangeably,
A business that this night may execute,
To-morrow, cousin Percy, you and I
And my good Lord of Worcester will set forth
To meet your father and the Scottish power, 85
As is appointed us, at Shrewsbury.
My father Glendower is not ready yet,
Nor shall we need his help these fourteen days.
Within that space you may have drawn together
Your tenants, friends, and neighbouring gentlemen. 90

Glend. A shorter time shall send me to you, lords:

And in my conduct shall your ladies come ;
 From whom you now must steal and take no leave,
 For there will be a world of water shed
 Upon the parting of your wives and you. 95

Hot. Methinks my moiety, north from Burton here,
 In quantity equals not one of yours :
 See how this river comes me cranking in,
 And cuts me from the best of all my land
 A huge half-moon, a monstrous cantle out. 100
 I'll have the current in this place damm'd up ;
 And here the smug and silver Trent shall run
 In a new channel, fair and evenly ;
 It shall not wind with such a deep indent,
 To rob me of so rich a bottom here. 105

Glend. Not wind ? it shall, it must ; you see it doth.

Mort. Yea, but
 Mark how he bears his course, and runs me up
 With like advantage on the other side ;
 Gelding the opposed continent as much 110
 As on the other side it takes from you.

Wor. Yea, but a little charge will trench him here,
 And on this north side win this cape of land ;
 And then he runs straight and even.

Hot. Will not you?

Glend. No, nor you shall not.

Hot. Who shall say me nay?

Glend. Why, that will I.

Hot. Let me not understand you, then; speak it in Welsh. 120

Glend. I can speak English, lord, as well as you;
For I was train'd up in the English court;
Where, being but young, I framed to the harp
Many an English ditty lovely well,
And gave the tongue a helpful ornament, 125
A virtue that was never seen in you.

Hot. Marry,
And I am glad of it with all my heart:
I had rather be a kitten and cry mew
Than one of these same metre ballad-mongers; 130
I had rather hear a brazen canstick turn'd,
Or a dry wheel grate on the axle-tree;
And that would set my teeth nothing on edge,

But in the way of bargain, mark ye me,
I'll cavil on the ninth part of a hair. 140
Are the indentures drawn? shall we be gone?

I'll haste the writer, and withal
Break with your wives of your departure hence:
I am afraid my daughter will run mad, 145
So much she doteth on her Mortimer. [Exit.]

With telling me of the moldwarp and the ant,
Of the dreamer Merlin and his prophecies, 150
And of a dragon and a finless fish,
A clip-wing'd griffin and a moulten raven,

 And since your coming hither have done enough
 To put him quite beside his patience.
 You must needs learn, lord, to amend this fault: 180
 Though sometimes it show greatness, courage, blood,—
 And that's the dearest grace it renders you,—
 Yet oftentimes it doth present harsh rage,
 Defect of manners, want of government,
 Pride, haughtiness, opinion and disdain: 185
 The least of which haunting a nobleman
 Loseth men's hearts, and leaves behind a stain
 Upon the beauty of all parts besides,
 Beguiling them of commendation. 189
Hot. Well, I am school'd: good manners be your speed!
 Here come our wives, and let us take our leave.

Mort. Good father, tell her that she and my aunt

Percy

Shall follow in your conduct speedily.

[Glendower speaks to her in Welsh, and she answers him in the same.]

Glend. She is desperate here; a peevish self-will'd harlotry, one that no persuasion can do good upon.

[The lady speaks in Welsh.]

Mort. I understand thy looks: that pretty Welsh 200
Which thou pour'st down from these swelling heavens

I am too perfect in; and, but for shame,

In such a parley should I answer thee.

[The lady speaks again in Welsh.]

I understand thy kisses and thou mine,

And that's a feeling disputation:

205

But I will never be a truant, love,

Till I have learn'd thy language; for thy tongue

Makes Welsh as sweet as ditties highly penn'd,

Sung by a fair queen in a summer's bower,

With ravishing division, to her lute.

 I know not whether God will have it so,

 He'll breed revengement and a scourge for me;
 But thou dost in thy passages of life
 Make me believe that thou art only mark'd
 For the hot vengeance and the rod of heaven 10
 To punish my mistreadings. Tell me else,
 Could such inordinate and low desires,
 Such poor, such bare, such lewd, such mean attempts,
 Such barren pleasures, rude society,
 As thou art match'd withal and grafted to, 15
 Accompany the greatness of thy blood,
 And hold their level with thy princely heart?

Prince. So please your majesty, I would I could Quit all offences with as clear excuse

As, in reproof of many tales devised,
Which oft the ear of greatness needs must hear,
By smiling pick-thanks and base newsmongers, 25
I may, for some things true, wherein my youth
Hath faulty wander'd and irregular,
Find pardon on my true submission.

King. God pardon thee! yet let me wonder, Harry,
At thy affections, which do hold a wing 30
Quite from the flight of all thy ancestors.
Thy place in council thou hast rudely lost,
Which by thy younger brother is supplied,
And art almost an alien to the hearts
Of all the court and princes of my blood: 35
The hope and expectation of thy time
Is ruin'd, and the soul of every man
Prophetically doth forethink thy fall.
Had I so lavish of my presence been,
So common-hackney'd in the eyes of men, 40
So stale and cheap to vulgar company,
Opinion, that did help me to the crown,
Had still kept loyal to possession,
And left me in reputeless banishment,
A fellow of no mark nor likelihood. 45
By being seldom seen, I could not stir
But like a comet I was wonder'd at;
That men would tell their children 'This is he;'
Others would say 'Where, which is Bolingbroke?'

Fal. Bardolph, am I not fallen away vilely since this last action? do I not bate? do I not dwindle? Why, my skin hangs about me like an old lady's loose gown; I am withered like an old apple-john. Well, I'll repent, and that suddenly, while I am in some liking; I shall be out of heart shortly, and then I shall have no strength to repent. An I have not forgotten what the inside of a church is made of, I am a peppercorn, a brewer's horse: the inside of a church! Company, villanous company, hath been the spoil of me. 10

Bard. Why, you are so fat, Sir John, that you must needs be out of all compass, out of all reasonable compass, Sir John.

Fal. Do thou amend thy face, and I'll amend my life: thou art our admiral, thou bearest the lantern in the poop, but 'tis in the nose of thee; thou art the Knight of the Burning Lamp. 27

Bard. Why, Sir John, my face does you no harm.

Fal. No, I'll be sworn; I make as good use of it as many a man doth of a Death's-head or a memento mori: I never see thy face but I think upon hell-fire, and Dives that lived in purple; for there he is in his robes, burning, burning. If thou wert any way given to virtue, I would swear by thy face; my oath should be, 'By this fire, that's God's angel:' but thou art altogether given over; and wert indeed, but for the light in thy face, the son of utter darkness. Prince. O, if it should, how would thy guts fall about thy knees! But, sirrah, there's no room for faith, truth, nor honesty in this bosom of thine; it is all filled up with guts and midriff. Charge an honest woman with picking thy pocket! why, thou whoreson, impudent, embossed rascal, if there were anything in thy pocket but tavern-reckonings, memorandums of bawdy-houses, and one poor penny-worth of sugar-candy to make thee long-winded, if thy pocket were enriched with any other injuries but these, I am a villain: and yet you will stand to it; you will not pocket up wrong: art thou not ashamed? 163

Mess. His letters bear his mind, not I, my lord. 20

Wor. I prithee, tell me, doth he keep his bed?

Mess. He did, my lord, four days ere I set forth;
And at the time of my departure thence
He was much fear'd by his physicians.

Wor. I would the state of time had first been whole,
Ere he by sickness had been visited: 26

His health was never better worth than now.

Hot. Sick now! droop now! this sickness doth infect
The very life-blood of our enterprise;
'Tis catching hither, even to our camp. 30

He writes me here, that inward sickness—
And that his friends by deputation could not
So soon be drawn, nor did he think it meet
To lay so dangerous and dear a trust
On any soul removed but on his own. 35

Yet doth he give us bold advertisement,
That with our small conjunction we should on,
To see how fortune is disposed to us;
For, as he writes, there is no quailing now,
Because the king is certainly possess'd 40
Of all our purposes. What say you to it?

That wisdom, loyalty and mere dislike
Of our proceedings kept the earl from hence: 65

May turn the tide of fearful faction,
And breed a kind of question in our cause;
For well you know we of the offering side
Must keep aloof from strict arbitrement, 70
And stop all sight-holes, every loop from whence
The eye of reason may pry in upon us:
This absence of your father's draws a curtain,
That shows the ignorant a kind of fear

I pressed me none but such toasts-and-butter, with hearts in their bellies no bigger than pins'-heads, and they have bought out their services; and now my whole charge consists of ancients, corporals, lieutenants, gentlemen of companies, slaves as ragged as Lazarus in the painted cloth, where the glutton's dogs licked his sores; and such as indeed were never soldiers, but discarded unjust serving-men, younger sons to younger brothers, revolted tapsters, and ostlers trade-fallen; the cankers of a calm world and a long peace, ten times more dishonourable ragged than an old faced ancient: and such have I, to fill up the rooms of them that have bought out their services, that you would think that I had a hundred and fifty tattered prodigals lately come from swine-keeping, from eating draff and husks. A mad fellow met me on the way and told me I had unloaded all the gibbets and pressed the dead bodies. No eye hath seen such scarecrows. I'll not march through Coventry with them, that's flat: nay, and the villains march wide betwixt the legs, as if they had gyves on; for indeed I had the most of them out of prison. Ver. Come, come, it may not be. I wonder much,
Being men of such great leading as you are,
That you foresee not what impediments
Drag back our expedition: certain horse
Of my cousin Vernon's are not yet come up: 20
Your uncle Worcester's horse came but to-day;
And now their pride and mettle is asleep,
Their courage with hard labour tame and dull,
That not a horse is half the half of himself.

Enter SIR WALTER BLUNT.

Blunt. I come with gracious offers from the king, 30
If you vouchsafe me hearing and respect.

Hot. Welcome, Sir Walter Blunt; and would to God
You were of our determination!
Some of us love you well; and even those some Envy your great deservings and good name, 35
Because you are not of our quality,
But stand against us like an enemy.

Blunt. And God defend but still I should stand so,
So long as out of limit and true rule
You stand against anointed majesty. 40
But to my charge. The king hath sent to know
The nature of your griefs, and whereupon
You conjure from the breast of civil peace
Such bold hostility, teaching his duteous land
Audacious cruelty. If that the king 45

Which he confesseth to be manifold,

Hot. The king is kind; and well we know the king
 Knows at what time to promise, when to pay.
 My father and my uncle and myself
 Did give him that same royalty he wears; 55
 And when he was not six and twenty strong,
 Sick in the world's regard, wretched and low,
 A poor unminded outlaw sneaking home,
 My father gave him welcome to the shore;
 And when he heard him swear and vow to God 60
 He came but to be Duke of Lancaster,
 To sue his livery and beg his peace,
 With tears of innocency and terms of zeal,
 My father, in kind heart and pity moved,
 Swore him assistance and perform'd it too. 65
 Now when the lords and barons of the realm
 Perceived Northumberland did lean to him,
 The more and less came in with cap and knee;
 Met him in boroughs, cities, villages,
 Attended him on bridges, stood in lanes, 70
 Laid gifts before him, proffer'd him their oaths,
 Gave him their heirs, as pages follow'd him

Even at the heels in golden multitudes.
 He presently, as greatness knows itself,
 Steps me a little higher than his vow 75
 Made to my father, while his blood was poor,
 Upon the naked shore at Ravenspurgh;
 And now, forsooth, takes on him to reform
 Some certain edicts and some strait decrees
 That lie too heavy on the commonwealth, 80
 Cries out upon abuses, seems to weep
 Over his country's wrongs; and by this face,
 This seeming brow of justice, did he win
 The hearts of all that he did angle for;
 Proceeded further; cut me off the heads 85
 Of all the favourites that the absent king
 In deputation left behind him here,
 When he was personal in the Irish war.

Blunt. Tut, I came not to hear this.

Hot.

Then to the point.

In short time after, he deposed the king; 90
 Soon after that, deprived him of his life;
 And in the neck of that, task'd the whole state;
 To make that worse, suffer'd his kinsman March,
 Who is, if every owner were well placed,
 Indeed his king, to be engaged in Wales, 95
 There without ransom to lie forfeited;
 Disgraced me in my happy victories,
 Sought to entrap me by intelligence;

To-morrow, good Sir Michael, is a day
Wherein the fortune of ten thousand men
Must bide the touch; for, sir, at Shrewsbury, 10
As I am truly given to understand,
The king with mighty and quick-raised power
Meets with Lord Harry: and, I fear, Sir Michael,
What with the sickness of Northumberland,
Whose power was in the first proportion, 15
And what with Owen Glendower's absence thence,
Who with them was a rated sinew too
And comes not in, o'er-ruled by prophecies,
I fear the power of Percy is too weak
To wage an instant trial with the king. 20

Sir M. Why, my good lord, you need not fear;
There is Douglas and Lord Mortimer.

The special head of all the land together:
The Prince of Wales, Lord John of Lancaster,
The noble Westmoreland and warlike Blunt; 30
And many mo corrivals and dear men
Of estimation and command in arms.

Sir M. Doubt not, my lord, they shall be well opposed.

Arch. I hope no less, yet needful 'tis to fear;
And, to prevent the worst, Sir Michael, speed: 35
For if Lord Percy thrive not, ere the king
Dismiss his power, he means to visit us,
For he hath heard of our confederacy,

Therefore make haste. I must go write again 40

And by his hollow whistling in the leaves 5
Foretells a tempest and a blustering day.

King. Then with the losers let it sympathise,
For nothing can seem foul to those that win.
[The trumpet sounds.]

Enter WORCESTER and VERNON.

How now, my Lord of Worcester! 'tis not well
That you and I should meet upon such terms 10
As now we meet. You have deceived our trust,
And made us doff our easy robes of peace,
To crush our old limbs in ungentle steel:
'This is not well, my lord, this is not well.
What say you to it? will you again unknit 15
This churlish knot of all-aborred war?
And move in that obedient orb again
Where you did give a fair and natural light,
And be no more an exhaled meteor,
A prodigy of fear, and a portent 20
Of broached mischief to the unborn times?

Wor. Hear me, my liege:
For mine own part, I could be well content
To entertain the lag-end of my life
With quiet hours; for, I do protest, 25
I have not sought the day of this dislike.

To meet you on the way, and kiss your hand,
When yet you were in place and in account
Nothing so strong and fortunate as I.
It was myself, my brother, and his son,
That brought you home, and boldly did outdare 40
The dangers of the time. You swore to us,
And you did swear that oath at Doncaster,
That you did nothing purpose 'gainst the state;
Nor claim no further than your new-fall'n right,
The seat of Gaunt, dukedom of Lancaster: 45
To this we swore our aid. But in short space
It rain'd down fortune showering on your head;
And such a flood of greatness fell on you,
What with our help, what with the absent king,
What with the injuries of a wanton time, 50

So long in his unlucky Irish wars
 That all in England did repute him dead :

Yea, but how if honour prick me off when I come on? how then? Can honour set to a leg? no: or an arm? no: or take away the grief of a wound? no. Honour hath no skill in surgery, then? no. What is honour? a word. What is in that word honour? what is that honour? air. A trim reckoning! Who hath it? he that died o' Wednesday. Doth he feel it? no. Doth he hear it? no. Wor.

Then are we all undone.

It is not possible, it cannot be,
 The king should keep his word in loving us; 5
 He will suspect us still, and find a time
 To punish this offence in other faults:
 Suspicion all our lives shall be stuck full of eyes;
 For treason is but trusted like the fox,
 Who, ne'er so tame, so cherish'd and lock'd up, 10
 Will have a wild trick of his ancestors.
 Look how we can, or sad or merrily,
 Interpretation will misquote our looks,
 And we shall feed like oxen at a stall,
 The better cherish'd, still the nearer death. 15
 My nephew's trespass may be well forgot;
 It hath the excuse of youth and heat of blood;
 And an adopted name of privilege,
 A hare-brain'd Hotspur, govern'd by a spleen:
 All his offences live upon my head 20
 And on his father's; we did train him on,
 And, his corruption being ta'en from us,
 We, as the spring of all, shall pay for all.
 Therefore, good cousin, let not Harry know,
 In any case, the offer of the king. 25

 And Westmoreland, that was engaged, did bear it;
 Which cannot choose but bring him quickly on. 45

Wor. The Prince of Wales stepp'd forth before the king,

And, nephew, challenged you to single fight.

Hot. O, would the quarrel lay upon our heads,
 And that no man might draw short breath to-day
 But I and Harry Monmouth! Tell me, tell me, 50
 How show'd his tasking? seem'd it in contempt?

Ver. No, by my soul; I never in my life
 Did hear a challenge urged more modestly,
 Unless a brother should a brother dare
 To gentle exercise and proof of arms. 55

He gave you all the duties of a man;
 Trimm'd up your praises with a princely tongue,
 Spoke your deservings like a chronicle,
 Making you ever better than his praise
 By still dispraising praise valued with you; 60

And, which became him like a prince indeed,
 He made a blushing cital of himself;
 And chid his truant youth with such a grace
 As if he master'd there a double spirit
 Of teaching and of learning instantly. 65

There did he pause: but let me tell the world,
 If he outlive the envy of this day,
 England did never owe so sweet a hope,
 So much misconstrued in his wantonness.

Mess. My lord, here are letters for you. 80

Hot. I cannot read them now.

O gentlemen, the time of life is short!
 To spend that shortness basely were too long,
 If life did ride upon a dial's point,
 Still ending at the arrival of an hour. 85
 An if we live, we live to tread on kings;
 If die, brave death, when princes die with us!
 Now, for our consciences, the arms are fair,

Let each man do his best: and here draw I
A sword, whose temper I intend to stain

Now, Esperance! Percy! and set on.

NOTES.

NOTE I.

A list of Dramatis Personæ in MS. of an early time is prefixed to Capell's copy of the sixth Quarto.

'Falstaff' is spelt 'Falstaffe' or 'Falstalffe' in the Quartos, but consistently 'Falstaffe' in the first Folio.

'Poins' is spelt 'Poines' or 'Poynes' in the Quartos, and occasionally, in the Folio, 'Pointz,' as it is in The Merry Wives of Windsor, III. 2. 63.

'Bardolph,' spelt thus, or 'Bardolfe,' in the Folio, is 'Bardoll' or 'Bardol' in the Quartos. We retain the spelling which is most familiar in names so well known.

The Acts and Scenes are marked in the Folios but not in the Quartos.

NOTE II.

I. 1. 28. Mr Staunton says that 'now is twelve months old' is the reading of the first Quarto. Capell's copy has 'now is twelue month old.'

NOTE III.

I. 1. 62. We take this opportunity of reminding our readers that we have not recorded minute variations of spelling except where they seemed to have importance as helping to determine the text. We give as a general rule the spelling of the earliest copy.

NOTE IV.

I. 1. 72, 73. Capell says: "Too hasty a perusal of a passage in Holinshed...betray'd Shakespeare into a mistake in this place: the 'earl of Fife' was not 'son to Douglas' but to a duke of Albany, as the same chronicler tells us soon after; and in this passage too, was it rightly pointed, and a little attended to: for that duke was then governor; i.e. of Scotland; and the word governor should have a comma after it, or (rather) a semi-colon." He goes on to say that the mistake is repeated i. 3. 261, and proposes to give historical truth to both these passages by reading:

(1) 'Prisoners to Hotspur, are—
Mordake the earl of Fife; and he himself
The beaten Douglas; and, with him, &c.'

(2) 'And make the regent's son your only mean
For powers in Scotland.'

'That is' (says Capell) 'by delivering him, as it appears they did, by some words of the Poet himself at p. 85 (i.e. iv. 4. 24), where the earl of Fife is spoken of as making a part of Hotspur's army at Shrewsbury.'

NOTE V.

i. 1. 75—77. The first and second Quartos read:

'A gallant prize? Ha coosen, is it not? In faith it is.

West. A conquest for a Prince to boast of,' leaving a blank between 'not?' and 'In faith.' The subsequent Quartos and the Folios have the same reading without the blank. Pope reads:

'A gallant prize? ha, cousin, is it not?

West. In faith, a conquest for a Prince to boast of.'

Steevens (1778) has, for the second line,

'West. 'Faith 'tis a conquest for a prince to boast of,' a reading which Malone by mistake assigns to Pope.

Malone himself gives [following Capell's conjecture]:

'West. In faith, it is a conquest for a prince
To boast of.'

Capell reads:

'Wes. It is a conquest for a prince to boast of.'

Dr Nicholson proposes:

'A gallant prize? ha, cousin, is it not,
In faith?

West. It is a conquest for a prince to boast of.'

For, he says, 'In faith' sounds too familiar to be addressed by a subject to his king.

S. Walker proposes to arrange thus:

ha, cousin, is 't not?

West.

'Faith,

It is &c.

or as Steevens (1778).

NOTE VI.

I. 2. 60. "Here," says Mr Dyce, "all the old copies, I believe, have '—when thou art a king' &c. but erroneously." Four of the Quartos, the first, second, seventh and eighth, have 'when thou art king,' which is unquestionably the right reading. [In his second edition, Mr Dyce omitted this note.]

NOTE VII.

I. 2. 103. The first and second Quartos read as in the text. The third and following Quartos and the Folios print Poines or Pointz in italics, as if the words 'Now shall we know...true man' were spoken by him.

NOTE VIII.

I. 2. 156. Theobald was the first to suggest that Harvey and Rossill were the names of the actors who performed the parts of Peto and Bardolph. But in II. 4. 167, 169, 173 for 'Ross.' which is found in the Quartos the Folios substitute not 'Bard.' but 'Gad.' i.e. 'Gadshill.'

NOTE IX.

I. 2. 185. Steevens claimed as his own conjecture the reading 'to-night,' which Capell had adopted in his text.

NOTE X.

II. 1. 6, 11. Either the article or the pronoun was intentionally omitted in these passages, in order to give rusticity to the carriers' language. The Folios supply the article in the former passage, but leave the latter untouched.

NOTE XI.

II. 1. 73, 74. We have recorded Jackson's conjecture in this passage as a curiosity. Its full value can only be appreciated by reading his own explanation. In many other cases the emendations of Becket and Jackson are quoted as amusing instances of the licence which they permitted themselves.

NOTE XII.

II. 2. 49, 50. The first and second Quartos here read 'Bardoll, what newes. (newes? Q<sub>2</sub>)' as part of Poins's speech, and in the same line with it. The third, fourth, fifth and sixth have, 'Bardol what newes?' the seventh and eighth, 'Bardol, what newes?' Bardol being in italics. In the Folios, 'Bardolfe, what newes?' is put in a separate line, and this arrangement appears to have suggested Johnson's conjecture. We have omitted, as unnecessary, many of the stage directions which editors have introduced into this scene, because the whole affair takes place in the dark.

NOTE XIII.

II. 4. 247. Capell's misprint, 'how plain a tale,' which he corrected in MS. as well as in his notes, was followed by Malone and other editors.

NOTE XIV.

II. 4. 487. Johnson was the first to suggest that Poins and not Peto should remain with the prince. "I cannot but suspect," he says, "that for Peto we should read Poins: what had Peto done that his place should be honourable, or that he should be trusted with the plot against Falstaff? Poins has the prince's confidence, and is a man of courage. This alteration clears the whole difficulty, they all retired but Poins, who, with the prince, having only robbed the robbers, had no need to conceal himself from the travellers." Johnson's last-mentioned reason for the alteration has less weight when we consider that they all wore vizards. In favour of his conjecture we find that the Dering MS. has 'Poynes' for 'Peto' in line 530, and in the stage directions to lines 510, 515, 531. On the other hand, the formal 'Good morrow, good my lord' is appropriate to Peto rather than to Poins, who was on much more familiar terms with the prince, and rarely addresses him in this play except as 'Hal.' We have therefore left the whole text undisturbed.

NOTE XV.

III. 2. 174—176. The first Quarto, whose arrangement is followed in all the other Quartos, reads :

‘On thursday we our selues will march. Our meeting
Is Bridgenorth, and Harry, you shall march
Through Gloucestershire, by which account...’

The first Folio has :

‘On Thursday, wee our selues will march.
Our meeting is Bridgenorth : and Harry, you shall march
Through Gloucestershire : by which account,...’

Pope altered the passage thus :

‘On Thursday, we our selves will march : our meeting
Is at Bridgnorth ; and Harry, you shall march
Through Glo’stershire : by which, some twelve days hence
Our general forces at Bridgenorth shall meet.’

Capell’s arrangement, taking in the previous line, is as follows :

‘On wednesday next, son Harry, you shall set
Forward ; on thursday, we ourselves will march.
Our meeting is Bridgnorth : and, Harry, you
Shall march through Gloucestershire ; by which account...’

NOTE XVI.

III. 3. 87. Theobald was the first to insert the words ‘and Peto’ in the stage directions. They are omitted in the Quartos and Folios, and Steevens following Johnson’s conjecture, changed them to ‘and Pointz.’ This alteration is supported by the reading of the Dering MS. in line 196, ‘Poynes’ for ‘Peto.’ But ‘Peto’ is found in the text in III. 3. 196. It is true, as Johnson points out, that Peto is afterwards (IV. 2. 9) mentioned as Falstaff’s lieutenant, but this may be the honourable place which the prince had promised him (II. 4. 526).

NOTE XVII.

III. 3. 198. Steevens adopted, without acknowledgement, Capell’s arrangement :

‘Jack,
Meet me to-morrow in the Temple hall.’

Hudson (Harvard Shakespeare) reads :

‘Meet me to-morrow, Jack, i’ the Temple-hall.’

NOTE XVIII.

iv. 1. 54. It is not improbable that a line may have been lost after reversion.

NOTE XIX.

iv. 1. 99. We leave this obscure passage as it stands in the old copies. Possibly, as Steevens suggested, a line has dropped out after wind. The phrase ‘wing the wind’ seems to apply to ostriches (for such is unquestionably the meaning of ‘estrildges’) less than to any other birds. Mr Dyce quotes a passage from Claudian (In Eutropium, II. 310—313) to justify it :

‘Vasta velut Libyæ venantum vocibus ales
Cum premitur, calidas cursu transmittit arenas,
Inque modum veli sinuatis flamine pennis
Pulverulenta volat.’

But this means that the bird spreads its wings like a sail bellying with the wind—a different thing from ‘winging the wind.’

Malone, agreeing with Steevens that a line might have been lost, suggested the following:

‘All plum’d like estrildges, that with the wind
Run on, in gallant trim they now advance:
‘Bated like eagles, &c.’

NOTE XX.

iv. 4. 22. We leave these lines as they are in the Quartos and Folios. Pope read the passage, perhaps rightly, as prose. Steevens (1793) smoothed the lines thus :

‘Gent. Why, good my lord, you need not fear; there’s Douglas,
And Mortimer.

Arch. No, Mortimer’s not there.’

[So Dr Alexander Blair, except that he read ‘Lord Mortimer—’ for ‘And Mortimer.’]

NOTE XXI.

v. 1. We have followed the Quartos, Folios, and all editors till Capell's time, in leaving the 'Earl of Westmoreland' among the persons entering. He does not speak, indeed, but it might be intended that he should be present as a mute person for the nonce. On the same principle we have left 'Lord John of Lancaster' in the stage direction of i. 1.

[But Westmoreland, as was pointed out by Malone, was in the rebel camp as a pledge for Worcester's safe conduct. See iv. 3. 108, 109 and v. 2. 29, 32, 44. I have therefore followed Capell in omitting his name. W. A. W.]

NOTE XXII.

v. 2. 72. Mr Collier reads 'wild o' liberty,' observing in a note that the three oldest Quartos have this reading. The true reading of these Quartos, and the fourth, is what we have given in the foot-note, 'wild a libertie.' Mr Grant White retains it in his text, interpreting 'never did I hear so wild a liberty reported of any prince.' Pope also adopted this reading without any note of explanation. Theobald restored what he called 'the reading of the old copies' and punctuated thus: 'Of any prince, so wild, at liberty.'

NOTE XXIII.

v. 2. 101. The stage direction of the first Quarto is literally as follows: Here they embrace, the trumpets sound, the king enters with his power, alarme to the battel, then enter Douglas, and sir Walter Blunt. The Folios have substantially the same, omitting the word 'Here.' They indicate no change of scene in this place. The Quartos do not, either here or elsewhere, mark any division into act or scene.

NOTE XXIV.

v. 4. 132—136. Pope reads thus:

'I did, I saw him dead,
And breathless on the ground: art thou alive,
Or is it Fancy plays upon our eye-sight?
I pr'ythee speak, we will not trust our eyes
Without our ears: thou art not what thou seem'st.'

Capell thus :

‘I did; I saw him dead, breathless and bleeding
Upon the ground.—
Art thou alive? or is it fantasy,
That plays upon our eye-sight? I pr’ythee, speak;
We will not trust our eyes without our ears:—
Thou art not what thou seem’st.’

NOTE XXV.

v. 5. 30. Malone reads ‘shewn’ on the authority of the Quarto of 1598. But Capell’s copy of that edition has ‘taught,’ and this is the reading of Malone’s own copy, now in the Bodleian Library.

Malone’s error is due to his following Capell’s note in which ‘shewn’ is said to be the reading of the Quartos and Folios in l. 30 instead of l. 29.

Rum. Open your ears; for which of you will stop
The vent of hearing when loud Rumour speaks?
I, from the orient to the drooping west,
Making the wind my post-horse, still unfold
The acts commenced on this ball of earth: 5
Upon my tongues continual slanders ride,
The which in every language I pronounce,
Stuffing the ears of men with false reports.
I speak of peace, while covert enmity
Under the smile of safety wounds the world: 10

Whiles the big year, swoln with some other grief,
 Is thought with child by the stern tyrant war,
 And no such matter? Rumour is a pipe 15
 Blown by surmises, jealousies, conjectures,
 And of so easy and so plain a stop
 That the blunt monster with uncounted heads,
 The still-discordant wavering multitude,
 Can play upon it. But what need I thus 20
 My well-known body to anatomize
 Among my household? Why is Rumour here?
 I run before King Harry's victory;
 Who in a bloody field by Shrewsbury
 Hath beaten down young Hotspur and his troops, 25
 Quenching the flame of bold rebellion
 Even with the rebels' blood. But what mean I
 To speak so true at first? my office is
 To noise abroad that Harry Monmouth fell
 Under the wrath of noble Hotspur's sword, 30
 And that the king before the Douglas' rage
 Stoop'd his anointed head as low as death.
 This have I rumour'd through the peasant towns
 Between that royal field of Shrewsbury
 And this worm-eaten hold of ragged stone, 35

Noble earl,

I bring you certain news from Shrewsbury.

North. Good, an God will !

L. Bard.

As good as heart can wish :

The king is almost wounded to the death ;
And, in the fortune of my lord your son, 15
Prince Harry slain outright ; and both the Blunts
Kill'd by the hand of Douglas ; young Prince John
And Westmoreland and Stafford fled the field ;
And Harry Monmouth's brawn, the hulk Sir John,
Is prisoner to your son : O, such a day, 20
So fought, so follow'd and so fairly won,
Came not till now to dignify the times,
Since Cæsar's fortunes !

North.

How is this derived ?

Saw you the field ? came you from Shrewsbury ?

L. Bard. I spake with one, my lord, that came from thence, 25

A gentleman well bred and of good name,
That freely render'd me these news for true.

And he is furnish'd with no certainties
More than he haply may retail from me.

North. Now, Travers, what good tidings comes with you?

Tra. My lord, Sir John Umfrevile turn'd me back
With joyful tidings; and, being better horsed, 35
Out-rode me. After him came spurring hard
A gentleman, almost forspent with speed,
That stopp'd by me to breathe his bloodied horse.
He ask'd the way to Chester; and of him
I did demand what news from Shrewsbury: 40
He told me that rebellion had bad luck,
And that young Harry Percy's spur was cold.
With that, he gave his able horse the head,
And bending forward struck his armed heels
Against the panting sides of his poor jade 45
Up to the rowel-head, and starting so
He seem'd in running to devour the way,

I see a strange confession in thine eye:
 Thou shakest thy head, and hold'st it fear or sin 95
 To speak a truth. If he be slain, say so;
 The tongue offends not that reports his death:
 And he doth sin that doth belie the dead,
 Not he which says the dead is not alive.
 Yet the first bringer of unwelcome news 100
 Hath but a losing office, and his tongue
 Sounds ever after as a sullen bell,
 Remember'd tolling a departing friend.

L. Bard. I cannot think, my lord, your son is dead.

Mor. I am sorry I should force you to believe 105
 That which I would to God I had not seen;
 But these mine eyes saw him in bloody state,
 Rendering faint quittance, wearied and outbreathed,
 To Harry Monmouth; whose swift wrath beat down
 The never-daunted Percy to the earth, 110
 From whence with life he never more sprung up.
 In few, his death, whose spirit lent a fire
 Even to the dullest peasant in his camp,
 Being bruited once, took fire and heat away
 From the best-temper'd courage in his troops; 115
 For from his metal was his party steel'd;
 Which once in him abated, all the rest
 Turn'd on themselves, like dull and heavy lead:
 And as the thing that's heavy in itself,
 Upon enforcement flies with greatest speed, 120
 So did our men, heavy in Hotspur's loss,

Lend to this weight such lightness with their fear
 That arrows fled not swifter toward their aim
 Than did our soldiers, aiming at their safety,

 In poison there is physic; and these news,
 Having been well, that would have made me sick,
 Being sick, have in some measure made me well:
 And as the wretch, whose fever-weaken'd joints, 140
 Like strengthless hinges, buckle under life,
 Impatient of his fit, breaks like a fire
 Out of his keeper's arms, even so my limbs,
 Weaken'd with grief, being now enraged with grief,
 Are thrice themselves. Hence, therefore, thou nice crutch!

 Yet did you say 'Go forth;' and none of this, 175
 Though strongly apprehended, could restrain

This word, rebellion, it had froze them up,
 As fish are in a pond. But now the bishop 200
 Turns insurrection to religion:
 Supposed sincere and holy in his thoughts,
 He's followed both with body and with mind;
 And doth enlarge his rising with the blood
 Of fair King Richard, scraped from Pomfret stones; 205
 Derives from heaven his quarrel and his cause;
 Tells them he doth bestride a bleeding land,
 Gasping for life under great Bolingbroke;
 And more and less do flock to follow him.

North. I knew of this before; but, to speak truth,
 This present grief had wiped it from my mind. 211

I had as lief they would put ratsbane in my mouth as offer to stop it with security. I looked a' should have sent me two and twenty yards of satin, as I am a true knight, and he sends me security. Well, he may sleep in security; for he hath the horn of abundance, and the lightness of his wife shines through it: and yet cannot he see, though he have his own lantern to light him. good thing, to make it too common. If ye will needs say I am an old man, you should give me rest. I would to God my name were not so terrible to the enemy as it is: I were better to be eaten to death with a rust than to be scoured to nothing with perpetual motion. 207

Ch. Just. Well, be honest, be honest; and God bless your expedition!

Fal. Will your lordship lend me a thousand pound to furnish me forth? 211

Ch. Just. Not a penny, not a penny; you are too impatient to bear crosses. Fare you well: commend me to my cousin Westmoreland. [Exeunt Chief Justice and Servant.]

Fal. If I do, fillip me with a three-man beetle. A man can no more separate age and covetousness than a' can part young limbs and lechery: but the gout galls the one, and the pox pinches the other; and so both the degrees prevent my curses. Boy!

Page. Sir? 220

Fal. What money is in my purse?

Page. Seven groats and two pence.

Fal. I can get no remedy against this consumption of the purse: borrowing only lingers and lingers it out, but the disease is incurable. Go bear this letter to my Lord of Lancaster; this to the prince; this to the Earl of Westmoreland; and this to old Mistress Ursula, whom I have weekly sworn to marry since I perceived the first white hair on my chin. Arch. Thus have you heard our cause and known our means;

And, my most noble friends, I pray you all,
Speak plainly your opinions of our hopes:
And first, lord marshal, what say you to it?

Mowb. I well allow the occasion of our arms; 5

 And our supplies live largely in the hope
 Of great Northumberland, whose bosom burns
 With an incensed fire of injuries.

L. Bard. The question then, Lord Hastings, standeth thus ; 15
 Whether our present five and twenty thousand
 May hold up head without Northumberland ?

Hast. With him, we may.

L. Bard. Yea, marry, there's the point :
 But if without him we be thought too feeble,
 My judgement is, we should not step too far 20
 Till we had his assistance by the hand ;
 For in a theme so bloody-faced as this Conjecture, expectation, and surmise
 Of aids incertain should not be admitted.

Arch. 'Tis very true, Lord Bardolph ; for indeed 25
 It was young Hotspur's case at Shrewsbury.

L. Bard. It was, my lord ; who lined himself with hope,
 Eating the air on promise of supply,
 Flattering himself in project of a power
 Much smaller than the smallest of his thoughts : 30
 And so, with great imagination
 Proper to madmen, led his powers to death,

 We see the appearing buds; which to prove fruit,
 Hope gives not so much warrant as despair 40
 That frosts will bite them. When we mean to build,
 We first survey the plot, then draw the model;
 And when we see the figure of the house,
 Then must we rate the cost of the erection;
 Which if we find outweighs ability, 45
 What do we then but draw anew the model
 In fewer offices, or at least desist
 To build at all? Much more, in this great work,
 Which is almost to pluck a kingdom down
 And set another up, should we survey 50
 The plot of situation and the model,
 Consent upon a sure foundation,
 Question surveyors, know our own estate,
 How able such a work to undergo,
 To weigh against his opposite; or else 55

And publish the occasion of our arms.

The commonwealth is sick of their own choice;
Their over-greedy love hath surfeited:

An habitation giddy and unsure
Hath he that buildeth on the vulgar heart. 90

O thou fond many, with what loud applause
Didst thou beat heaven with blessing Bolingbroke,
Before he was what thou wouldst have him be!
And being now trimm'd in thine own desires,
Thou, beastly feeder, art so full of him, 95

That thou provokest thyself to cast him up.
So, so, thou common dog, didst thou disgorge
Thy glutton bosom of the royal Richard;
And now thou wouldst eat thy dead vomit up, 99
And howl'st to find it. What trust is in these times?

They that, when Richard lived, would have him die,
Are now become enamour'd on his grave:
Thou, that threw'st dust upon his goodly head
When through proud London he came sighing on
After the admired heels of Bolingbroke, 105

Fal. What is the gross sum that I owe thee?

Host. Marry, if thou wert an honest man, thyself and the money too. Thou didst swear to me upon a parcel-gilt goblet, sitting in my Dolphin-chamber, at the round table, by a sea-coal fire, upon Wednesday in Wheeson week, when the prince broke thy head for liking his father to a singing-man of Windsor, thou didst swear to me then, as I was washing thy wound, to marry me and make me my lady thy wife. Canst thou deny it? Did not goodwife Keech, the butcher's wife, come in then and call me gossip Quickly? coming in to borrow a mess of vinegar; telling us she had a good dish of prawns; whereby thou didst desire to eat some; whereby I told thee they were ill for a green wound? And didst thou not, when she was gone down stairs, desire me to be no more so familiarity with such poor people; saying that ere long they should call me madam? And didst thou not kiss me and bid me fetch thee thirty shillings? I put thee now to thy book-oath: deny it, if thou canst. 99

Fal. My lord, this is a poor mad soul; and she says up and down the town that her eldest son is like you: she hath been in good case, and the truth is, poverty hath distracted her. But for these foolish officers, I beseech you I may have redress against them. 104

You call honourable boldness impudent sauciness: if a man will make courtesy and say nothing, he is virtuous: no, my lord, my humble duty remembered, I will not be your suitor. I say to you, I do desire deliverance from these officers, being upon hasty employment in the king's affairs. 124

Poins. Why, a prince should not be so loosely studied as to remember so weak a composition.

Prince. Belike then my appetite was not princely got; for, by my troth, I do now remember the poor creature, small beer. But, indeed, these humble considerations make me out of love with my greatness. What a disgrace is it to me to remember thy name! or to know thy face to-morrow! or to take note how many pair of silk stockings thou hast, viz. these, and those that were thy peach-coloured ones! or to bear the inventory of thy shirts; as, one for superfluity, and another for use! But that the tennis-court-keeper knows better than I; for it is a low ebb of linen with thee when thou keepest not racket there; as thou hast not done a great while, because the rest of thy low countries have made a shift to eat up thy holland: and God knows, whether those that bawl out the ruins of thy linen shall inherit his kingdom: but the midwives say the children are not in the fault; whereupon the world increases, and kindreds are mightily strengthened. 26

Poins. Go to; I stand the push of your one thing that you will tell. 36

Prince. Marry, I tell thee, it is not meet that I should be sad, now my father is sick: albeit I could tell to thee, as to one it pleases me, for fault of a better, to call my friend, I could be sad, and sad indeed too. 40

Poins. Very hardly upon such a subject.

Prince. By this hand, thou thinkest me as far in the devil's book as thou and Falstaff for obduracy and persistency: let the end try the man. But I tell thee, my heart bleeds inwardly that my father is so sick: and keeping such vile company as thou art hath in reason taken from me all ostentation of sorrow. 47

Poins. The reason?

Prince. What wouldst thou think of me, if I should weep? 50

Poins. I would think thee a most princely hypocrite.

Prince. It would be every man's thought; and thou art a blessed fellow to think as every man thinks: never a man's thought in the world keeps the road-way better than thine: every man would think me an hypocrite indeed. And what accites your most worshipful thought to think so? 57

'How comes that?' says he, that takes upon him not to conceive. The answer is as ready as a borrower's cap, 'I am the king's poor cousin, sir.'

Prince. Nay, they will be kin to us, or they will fetch it from Japhet. But to the letter: 113

Poins. [Reads] 'Sir John Falstaff, knight, to the son of the king, nearest his father, Harry Prince of Wales, greeting.' Why, this is a certificate.

Prince. Peace! 117

Poins. [Reads] 'I will imitate the honourable Romans in brevity:' he sure means brevity in breath, short-winded. 'I commend me to thee, I commend thee, and I leave thee. Be not too familiar with Poins; for he misuses thy favours so much, that he swears thou art to marry his sister Nell. Repent at idle times as thou mayest; and so, farewell. 123

 To rain upon remembrance with mine eyes,
 That it may grow and sprout as high as heaven, 60
 For recordation to my noble husband.

North. Come, come, go in with me. 'Tis with my mind
 As with the tide swell'd up unto his height,
 That makes a still-stand, running neither way :
 Fain would I go to meet the archbishop, 65
 But many thousand reasons hold me back.
 I will resolve for Scotland : there am I,
 Till time and vantage crave my company. [Exeunt.] apple-johns ? thou knowest Sir John cannot endure an apple-john. 3

Sec. Draw. Mass, thou sayest true. The prince once set a dish of apple-johns before him, and told him there were five more Sir Johns ; and, putting off his hat, said,
 'I will now take my leave of these six dry, round, old, withered knights.' It angered him to the heart : but he

Dol. Why does the prince love him so, then? 233

Fal. Because their legs are both of a bigness; and a' plays at quoits well; and eats conger and fennel; and drinks off candles' ends for flap-dragons; and rides the wild-mare with the boys; and jumps upon joined-stools; and swears with a good grace; and wears his boots very smooth, like unto the sign of the leg; and breeds no bate with telling of discreet stories; and such other gambol faculties a' has, that show a weak mind and an able body, for the which the prince admits him: for the prince himself is such another; the weight of a hair will turn the scales between their avoirdupois. 244

The happiest youth, viewing his progress through,
 What perils past, what crosses to ensue, 55
 Would shut the book, and sit him down and die.
 'Tis not ten years gone
 Since Richard and Northumberland, great friends,
 Did feast together, and in two years after
 Were they at wars: it is but eight years since 60
 This Percy was the man nearest my soul;
 Who like a brother toil'd in my affairs,
 And laid his love and life under my foot;
 Yea, for my sake, even to the eyes of Richard
 Gave him defiance. But which of you was by— 65
 You, cousin Nevil, as I may remember— [To Warwick.
 When Richard, with his eye brimful of tears,
 Then check'd and rated by Northumberland,
 Did speak these words, now proved a prophecy?
 'Northumberland, thou ladder by the which 70
 My cousin Bolingbroke ascends my throne;
 Though then, God knows, I had no such intent,
 But that necessity so bow'd the state,
 That I and greatness were compell'd to kiss:
 'The time shall come,' thus did he follow it, 75
 'The time will come, that foul sin, gathering head,

War. There is a history in all men's lives, 80
Figuring the nature of the times deceased;
The which observed, a man may prophesy,
With a near aim, of the main chance of things
As yet not come to life, which in their seeds
And weak beginnings lie intresured. 85
Such things become the hatch and brood of time;
And by the necessary form of this
King Richard might create a perfect guess
That great Northumberland, then false to him,
Would of that seed grow to a greater falseness; 90
Which should not find a ground to root upon,
Unless on you.

King. Are these things then necessities?
Then let us meet them like necessities:
And that same word even now cries out on us:
They say the bishop and Northumberland 95

To comfort you the more, I have received
 A certain instance that Glendower is dead.
 Your majesty hath been this fortnight ill;
 And these unseason'd hours perforce must add 105
 Unto your sickness.

K. Hen. I will take your counsel:
 And were these inward wars once out of hand,
 We would, dear lords, unto the Holy Land. [Exeunt.]

Sil. Good morrow, good cousin Shallow. 4

Shal. And how doth my cousin, your bedfellow? and your fairest daughter and mine, my god-daughter Ellen?

Sil. Alas, a black ousel, cousin Shallow!

Shal. By yea and nay, sir, I dare say my cousin William is become a good scholar: he is at Oxford still, is he not? 10

Sil. You were called 'lusty Shallow' then, cousin. 15

Shal. By the mass, I was called any thing; and I would have done any thing indeed too, and roundly too. There was I, and little John Doit of Staffordshire, and black George Barnes, and Francis Pickbone, and Will Squele, a Cotswold man; you had not four such swinge-bucklers in all the inns o' court again: and I may say to you, we knew where the bona-robas were, and had the best of them all at commandment. Then was Jack Falstaff, now Sir John, a boy, and page to Thomas Mowbray, Duke of Norfolk. 25

Sil. This Sir John, cousin, that comes hither anon about soldiers?

Shal. The same Sir John, the very same. I see him break Skogan's head at the court-gate, when a' was a crack not thus high: and the very same day did I fight with one Sampson Stockfish, a fruiterer, behind Gray's Inn. Jesu, Jesu, the mad days that I have spent! and to see how many of my old acquaintance are dead!

This same starved justice hath done nothing but prate to me of the wildness of his youth, and the feats he hath done about Turnbull Street; and every third word a lie, duer paid to the hearer than the Turk's tribute. I do remember him at Clement's Inn like a man made after supper of a cheese-paring: when a' was naked, he was, for all the world, like a forked radish, with a head fantastically carved upon it with a knife: a' was so forlorn, that his dimensions to any thick sight were invisible: a' was the very genius of famine; yet lecher-

And now is this Vice's dagger become a squire, and talks as familiarly of John a Gaunt as if he had been sworn brother to him; and I'll be sworn a' ne'er saw him but once in the Tilt-yard; and then he burst his head for crowding among the marshal's men. I saw it, and told John a Gaunt he beat his own name; for you might have thrust him and all his apparel into an eel-skin; the case of a treble hautboy was a mansion for him, a court: and now has he land and beefs. Well, I'll be acquainted with him, if I return; and it shall go hard but I will make him a philosopher's two stones to me: if the young dace be a bait for the old pike, I see no reason in the law of nature but I may snap at him. ## ACT IV.

SCENE I. Yorkshire. Gaultree Forest.

Enter the ARCHBISHOP of YORK, MOWBRAY, HASTINGS, and others.

Arch. What is this forest call'd?

Hast. 'Tis Gaultree Forest, an't shall please your grace.

Arch. Here stand, my lords; and send discoverers forth

To know the numbers of our enemies.

Hast. We have sent forth already.

Arch. 'Tis well done. 5

My friends and brethren in these great affairs,

I must acquaint you that I have received

New-dated letters from Northumberland;

Their cold intent, tenour and substance, thus:

Here doth he wish his person, with such powers 10

As might hold sortance with his quality,

The which he could not levy; whereupon

He is retired, to ripe his growing fortunes,

To Scotland: and concludes in hearty prayers

Yorkshire. Gaultree Forest.] A Forest in Yorkshire. Theobald. . In Yorkshire. Pope.

And dash themselves to pieces.

Enter a Messenger.

Hast. Now, what news?

Mess. West of this forest, scarcely off a mile,
In goodly form comes on the enemy; 20
And, by the ground they hide, I judge their number
Upon or near the rate of thirty thousand.

Mowb. The just proportion that we gave them out.

Mowb. I think it is my Lord of Westmoreland.

West. Health and fair greeting from our general,
The prince, Lord John and Duke of Lancaster.

Arch. Say on, my Lord of Westmoreland, in peace:
What doth concern your coming?

Led on by bloody youth, guarded with rags,
 And countenanced by boys and beggary ; 35
 I say, if damn'd commotion so appear'd,
 In his true, native and most proper shape,
 You, reverend father, and these noble lords
 Had not been here, to dress the ugly form
 Of base and bloody insurrection 40
 With your fair honours. You, lord Archbishop,
 Whose see is by a civil peace maintain'd,
 Whose beard the silver hand of peace hath touch'd,
 Whose learning and good letters peace hath tutor'd,
 Whose white investments figure innocence, 45
 The dove and very blessed spirit of peace,
 Wherefore do you so ill translate yourself
 Out of the speech of peace that bears such grace,
 Into the harsh and boisterous tongue of war ;
 Turning your books to graves, your ink to blood, 50
 Your pens to lances, and your tongue divine
 To a loud trumpet and a point of war ?

And with our surfeiting and wanton hours 55
 Have brought ourselves into a burning fever,
 And we must bleed for it; of which disease
 Our late king, Richard, being infected, died.
 But, my most noble Lord of Westmoreland,
 I take not on me here as a physician, 60
 Nor do I as an enemy to peace
 Troop in the throngs of military men;
 But rather show a while like fearful war,
 To diet rank minds sick of happiness,
 And purge the obstructions which begin to stop 65
 Our very veins of life. Hear me more plainly.
 I have in equal balance justly weigh'd
 What wrongs our arms may do, what wrongs we suffer,
 And find our griefs heavier than our offences.
 We see which way the stream of time doth run, 70
 And are enforced from our most quiet there
 By the rough torrent of occasion;
 And have the summary of all our griefs,
 When time shall serve, to show in articles;
 Which long ere this we offer'd to the king, 75
 And might by no suit gain our audience:
 When we are wrong'd and would unfold our griefs,
 We are denied access unto his person
 Even by those men that most have done us wrong.

West. When ever yet was your appeal denied?
 Wherein have you been galled by the king?
 What peer hath been suborn'd to grate on you, 90
 That you should seal this lawless bloody book
 Of forged rebellion with a seal divine,
 And consecrate commotion's bitter edge?

 To brother born an household cruelty, 95
 I make my quarrel in particular.

 Or if there were, it not belongs to you.

 To all the Duke of Norfolk's signories,
 Your noble and right well remember'd father's?

Mowb. What thing, in honour, had' my father lost,
 That need to be revived and breathed in me?
 The king that loved him, as the state stood then, 115
 Was force perforce compell'd to banish him:
 And then that Henry Bolingbroke and he,
 Being mounted and both roused in their seats,
 Their neighing coursers daring of the spur,
 Their armed staves in charge, their beavers down, 120
 Their eyes of fire sparkling through sights of steel
 And the loud trumpet blowing them together,
 Then, then, when there was nothing could have stay'd
 My father from the breast of Bolingbroke,
 O, when the king did throw his warder down, 125
 His own life hung upon the staff he threw;
 Then threw he down himself and all their lives
 That by indictment and by dint of sword
 Have since miscarried under Bolingbroke.

The Earl of Hereford was reputed then
 In England the most valiant gentleman :
 Who knows on whom fortune would then have smiled ?
 But if your father had been victor there,
 He ne'er had borne it out of Coventry : 135
 For all the country in a general voice
 Cried hate upon him ; and all their prayers and love
 Were set on Hereford, whom they doted on
 And bless'd and graced indeed, more than the king.
 But this is mere digression from my purpose. 140
 Here come I from our princely general
 To know your griefs ; to tell you from his grace
 That he will give you audience ; and wherein
 It shall appear that your demands are just,
 You shall enjoy them, every thing set off 145
 That might so much as think you enemies.

Mowb. But he hath forced us to compel this offer ;
 And it proceeds from policy, not love.

West. Mowbray, you overween to take it so ;
 This offer comes from mercy, not from fear : 150

 And keep no tell-tale to his memory

 He cannot so precisely weed this land 205

 His foes are so enrooted with his friends

Cheering a rout of rebels with your drum,
 Turning the word to sword and life to death. 10
 That man that sits within a monarch's heart,
 And ripens in the sunshine of his favour,
 Would he abuse the countenance of the king,
 Alack, what mischiefs might he set abroad
 In shadow of such greatness! With you, lord bishop, 15
 It is even so. Who hath not heard it spoken
 How deep you were within the books of God?
 To us the speaker in his parliament;
 To us the imagined voice of God himself;
 The very opener and intelligencer 20
 Between the grace, the sanctities of heaven
 And our dull workings. O, who shall believe
 But you misuse the reverence of your place,
 Employ the countenance and grace of heaven,
 As a false favourite doth his prince's name, 25
 In deeds dishonourable? You have ta'en up,
 Under the counterfeited zeal of God,
 The subjects of his substitute, my father,
 And both against the peace of heaven and him
 Have here up-swarm'd them.

The time disorder'd doth, in common sense,
 Crowd us and crush us to this monstrous form,
 To hold our safety up. I sent your grace 35
 The parcels and particulars of our grief,
 The which hath been with scorn shoved from the court,
 Whereon this Hydra son of war is born;
 Whose dangerous eyes may well be charm'd asleep
 With grant of our most just and right desires, 40
 And true obedience, of this madness cured,
 Stoop tamely to the foot of majesty.

Mowb. If not, we ready are to try our fortunes
 To the last man.

Hast. And though we here fall down,
 We have supplies to second our attempt: 45
 If they miscarry, theirs shall second them;
 And so success of mischief shall be born,
 And heir from heir shall hold this quarrel up,
 Whiles England shall have generation.

Lan. You are too shallow, Hastings, much too shallow,
 To sound the bottom of the after-times. 51

West. Pleaseth your grace to answer them directly
 How far forth you do like their articles.

 Upon my soul, they shall. If this may please you, 60
 Discharge your powers unto their several counties,
 As we will ours: and here between the armies
 Let's drink together friendly and embrace,
 That all their eyes may bear those tokens home

There's never none of these demure boys come to any proof; for thin drink doth so over-cool their blood, and making many fish-meals, that they fall into a kind of male green-sickness; and then, when they marry, they get wenches: they are generally fools and cowards; which some of us should be too, but for inflammation. A good sherris-sack hath a two-fold operation in it. It ascends me into the brain; dries me there all the foolish and dull and crudy vapours which environ it; makes it apprehensive, quick, forgetive, full of nimble, fiery and delectable shapes; which, delivered o'er to the voice, the tongue, which is the birth, becomes excellent wit. The second property of your excellent sherris is, the warming of the blood; which, before cold and settled, left the liver white and pale, which is the badge of pusillanimity and cowardice; but the sherris warms it and makes it course from the inwards to the parts extreme: it illumineth the face, which as a beacon gives warning to all the rest of this little kingdom, man, to arm; and then the vital commoners and inland petty spirits muster me all to their captain, the heart, who, great and puffed up with this retinue, doth any deed of courage; and this valour comes of sherris. So that skill in the weapon is nothing without sack, for that sets it a-work; and learning a mere hoard of gold kept by a

Coming to look on you, thinking you dead,

 I spake unto this crown as having sense,
 And thus upbraided it: 'The care on thee depending Hath fed upon the body of my father; 160

That thou mightst win the more thy father's love, 180
 Pleading so wisely in excuse of it!
 Come hither, Harry, sit thou by my bed;
 And hear, I think, the very latest counsel
 That ever I shall breathe. God knows, my son,
 By what by-paths and indirect crook'd ways 185
 I met this crown; and I myself know well
 How troublesome it sat upon my head.
 To thee it shall descend with better quiet,
 Better opinion, better confirmation;
 For all the soil of the achievement goes 190
 With me into the earth. It seem'd in me
 But as an honour snatch'd with boisterous hand,
 And I had many living to upbraid
 My gain of it by their assistances;
 Which daily grew to quarrel and to bloodshed, 195
 Wounding supposed peace: all these bold fears
 Thou see'st with peril I have answered;
 For all my reign hath been but as a scene
 Acting that argument: and now my death
 Changes the mode; for what in me was purchased, 200
 Falls upon thee in a more fairer sort;
 So thou the garland wear'st successively.
 Yet, though thou stand'st more sure than I could do,
 Thou art not firm enough, since griefs are green;
 And all my friends, which thou must make thy friends,

Have but their stings and teeth newly ta'en out; 206
 By whose fell working I was first advanced
 And by whose power I well might lodge a fear
 To be again displaced: which to avoid,
 I cut them off; and had a purpose now 210
 To lead out many to the Holy Land,
 Lest rest and lying still might make them look Too near unto my state. Therefore, my Harry,
 Be it thy course to busy giddy minds
 With foreign quarrels; that action, hence borne out, 215
 May waste the memory of the former days.
 More would I, but my lungs are wasted so
 That strength of speech is utterly denied me.
 How I came by the crown, O God forgive;
 And grant it may with thee in true peace live! 220

Prince. My gracious liege,
 You won it, wore it, kept it, gave it me;
 Then plain and right must my possession be:
 Which I with more than with a common pain
 'Gainst all the world will rightfully maintain. 225

Lan. Health, peace, and happiness to my royal father!

King. Thou bring'st me happiness and peace, son John;
But health, alack, with youthful wings is flown
From this bare wither'd trunk: upon thy sight 230
My worldly business makes a period.
Where is my Lord of Warwick?

Prince. My Lord of Warwick!

Re-enter WARWICK, and others.

King. Doth any name particular belong
Unto the lodging where I first did swoon?

War. 'Tis call'd Jerusalem, my noble lord. 235

King. Laud be to God! even there my life must end.
It hath been prophesied to me many years,
I should not die but in Jerusalem;
Which vainly I supposed the Holy Land:
But bear me to that chamber; there I'll lie; 240
In that Jerusalem shall Harry die. [Exeunt.]

Shal. Davy, Davy, Davy, Davy, let me see, Davy; let me see, Davy; let me see: yea, marry, William cook, bid him come hither. Sir John, you shall not be excused. 11

Davy. Marry, sir, thus; those precepts cannot be served: and, again, sir, shall we sow the headland with wheat?

Shal. With red wheat, Davy. But for William cook: are there no young pigeons? 16

Davy. Yes, sir. Here is now the smith's note for shoeing and plough-irons.

Shal. Let it be cast and paid. Sir John, you shall not be excused. 20

Davy. Now, sir, a new link to the bucket must needs be had: and, sir, do you mean to stop any of William's wages, about the sack he lost the other day at Hinckley fair? 24

Shal. A' shall answer it. Some pigeons, Davy, a couple of short-legged hens, a joint of mutton, and any pretty little tiny kickshaws, tell William cook.

Davy. No worse than they are backbitten, sir; for they have marvellous foul linen. 34

Shal. Well conceited, Davy: about thy business, Davy.

Davy. I beseech you, sir, to countenance William Visor of Woncot against Clement Perkes o' the hill.

Shal. There is many complaints, Davy, against that Visor: that Visor is an arrant knave, on my knowledge.

Davy. I grant your worship that he is a knave, sir; but yet, God forbid, sir, but a knave should have some countenance at his friend's request. An honest man, sir, is able to speak for himself, when a knave is not. I have served your worship truly, sir, this eight years; and if I cannot once or twice in a quarter bear out a knave against an honest man, I have but a very little credit with your worship. The knave is mine honest friend, sir; therefore, I beseech your worship, let him be countenanced. 49

57

Fal. I'll follow you, good Master Robert Shallow. [Exit Shallow.] Bardolph, look to our horses. [Exeunt Bardolph and Page.] If I were sawed into quantities, I should make four dozen of such bearded hermits' staves as Master Shallow. It is a wonderful thing to see the semblable coherence of his men's spirits and his: they, by observing of him, do bear themselves like foolish justices; he, by conversing with them, is turned into a justice-like serving-man: their spirits are so married in conjunction with the participation of society that they flock together in consent, like so many wild-geese. If I had a suit to Master Shallow, I would humour his men with the imputation of being near their master: if to his men, I would curry with Master Shallow that no man could better command his servants. It is certain that either wise bearing or ignorant carriage is caught, as men take diseases, one of another: therefore let men take heed of their company. I will devise matter enough out of this Shallow to keep Prince Harry in continual laughter the wearing out of six fashions, which is four terms, or two actions, and a' shall laugh without intervallums. O, it is much that a lie with a slight oath and a jest with a sad brow will do with a fellow that never had the ache in his shoulders! O, you shall see him laugh till his face be like a wet cloak ill laid up!

King. This new and gorgeous garment, majesty,
Sits not so easy on me as you think. 45

Brothers, you mix your sadness with some fear :
This is the English, not the Turkish court ;

Not Amurath an Amurath succeeds,
But Harry Harry. Yet be sad, good brothers,
For, by my faith, it very well becomes you : 50

Sorrow so royally in you appears
That I will deeply put the fashion on,
And wear it in my heart : why then, be sad ;
But entertain no more of it, good brothers,
Than a joint burden laid upon us all. 55

For me, by heaven, I bid you be assured,
I'll be your father and your brother too ;
Let me but bear your love, I'll bear your cares :
Yet weep that Harry's dead ; and so will I ;
But Harry lives, that shall convert those tears 60
By number into hours of happiness.

So great indignities you laid upon me?
What! rate, rebuke, and roughly send to prison 70
The immediate heir of England! Was this easy?

 Be now the father and propose a son,
 Hear your own dignity so much profaned,
 See your most dreadful laws so loosely slighted,
 Behold yourself so by a son disdain'd ; 95
 And then imagine me taking your part,

 To your well-practised wise directions.
 And, princes all, believe me, I beseech you;
 My father is gone wild into his grave,
 For in his tomb lie my affections;
 And with his spirit sadly I survive, 125
 To mock the expectation of the world,
 To frustrate prophecies, and to raze out
 Rotten opinion, who hath writ me down
 After my seeming. The tide of blood in me
 Hath proudly flow'd in vanity till now: 130
 Now doth it turn and ebb back to the sea,
 Where it shall mingle with the state of floods,
 And flow henceforth in formal majesty.
 Now call we our high court of parliament:
 And let us choose such limbs of noble counsel, 135
 That the great body of our state may go
 In equal rank with the best govern'd nation;
 That war, or peace, or both at once, may be
 As things acquainted and familiar to us;

EPILOGUE.

Spoken by a Dancer.

First my fear; then my courtesy; last my speech. My fear is, your displeasure; my courtesy, my duty; and my speech, to beg your pardons. If you look for a good speech now, you undo me: for what I have to say is of mine own making; and what indeed I should say will, I doubt, prove mine own marring. But to the purpose, and so to the venture. Be it known to you, as it is very well, I was lately here in the end of a displeasing play, to pray your patience for it and to promise you a better. I meant indeed to pay you with this; which, if like an ill venture it come unluckily home, I break, and you, my gentle creditors, lose. Here I promised you I would be, and here I commit my body to your mercies: bate me some, and I will pay you some, and, as most debtors do, promise you infinitely. 15

If my tongue cannot entreat you to acquit me, will you command me to use my legs? and yet that were but light payment, to dance out of your debt. But a good conscience will make any possible satisfaction, and so would I. All the gentlewomen here have forgiven me:

NOTES.

NOTE I.

THE list of Dramatis Personæ given in the first Folio differs but slightly from that prefixed to our text. Thus Northumberland, &c. are classed as 'Opposites against King Henrie the Fourth:' Warwick, &c. as 'Of the Kings Partie,' and Pointz, &c. as 'Irregular Humorists.' The Dancer who speaks the Epilogue is called 'Epilogue.' As Blunt is mentioned as present (iv. 3. 74), we have inserted his name in the list. Coleridge, with an especial reference to II. 2. 160, proposes to change 'Doll Tearsheet,' into 'Doll Tearstreet,' and Sidney Walker approves of the suggestion (Criticisms, III. 135). The Servant of the Lord Chief Justice, called by Capell his 'Gentleman,' is not in the list of the Folio.

NOTE II.

INDUCTION. AS usual in the Quarto there is no division into acts and scenes. In the Folios the 'Induction' is reckoned as the first scene, the second scene beginning with the entry of Lord Bardolph. We have followed Pope.

NOTE III.

I. 2. 114. Theobald refers to the stage direction of the Quarto in this place as a proof that Falstaff was originally called Oldcastle, and that 'the play being printed from the stage manuscript, Oldcastle had been all along alter'd into Falstaff, except in this single place by an oversight: of which the printers not being aware, continued these initial traces of the original name.' Steevens suggested that Old. might have been the beginning of some actor's name, but this supposition is rejected by Malone, who maintains that 'there is no proof whatsoever that Falstaff ever was called Oldcastle in these plays.' 'The letters prefixed to this speech crept into the first Quarto copy,' he adds, 'I have no doubt, merely from Oldcastle being, behind the scenes, the familiar theatrical appellation of Falstaff, who was his stage-successor.'

NOTE IV.

I. 3. 36—38. We have left this passage as it stands in the Folios, agreeing with Mr Staunton that something has been lost or misprinted. Pope read:

‘Yes, if this present quality of war
Impede the instant act; a cause on foot
Lives &c.’

Johnson suggested:

‘Yes, in this present quality of war,
Indeed of instant action. A cause &c.’

Capell read:

‘Yes, if the present quality of war
Impede the present action. A cause &c.’

Malone, partially adopting Johnson’s emendation:

‘Yes, in this present quality of war;—
Indeed the instant action, (a cause on foot)
Lives &c.’

Monck Mason proposed:

‘Yes, if this prescient quality of war
Induc’d the instant action &c.’

Becket:

‘Yes, in this present quality of war
Instance the instant action &c.’

Mr Knight retained the old reading with a new punctuation:

‘Yes;—if this present quality of war,—
(Indeed the instant action, a cause on foot,)
Lives &c.’

Mr Collier, following the MS. corrector, in his second edition, read:

‘Yes, in this present quality of war:
Indeed the instant act and cause on foot
Lives &c.’

For ‘Indeed’ Steevens suggested ‘Impel,’ Mason and Henley ‘Induc’d,’ Mr Vaughan ‘Indued,’ and Dr Furnivall ‘Induce.’ For ‘instant’ Tollet would read ‘instanc’d,’ and Mr Moberly ‘infant.’ Delius thinks emendation unnecessary. Keightley marks an aposiopesis after ‘war.’ For ‘Indeed’ we might read ‘End in.’

NOTE V.

II. 2. 105. In the Quarto no distinction is made between the letter of Falstaff and the speaker's remarks, but in the Folios the letter is printed in italics.

NOTE VI.

II. 4. 92. To the suggestion that in this passage there is a reference to the 'chetah,' or hunting leopard, it has been objected that the word 'chetah' was not known in England at the time of Shakespeare, and that 'a tame cheater' was a familiar phrase. The animal was known in Europe as early as the 15th century, and I contend that the present passage is evidence that the name also was known; for I cannot otherwise see any point in saying of 'a tame cheater,' or gamester's decoy, that 'you may stroke him as gently as any puppy greyhound.'

NOTE VII.

II. 4. 171. As the quotation is made by Pistol, who has just spoken of 'Cannibals' (for 'Hannibals') and of 'Trojan Greeks,' we have left it uncorrected. It would be scarcely consistent to put correct Italian, or Spanish, into his mouth. All the editors assume that Italian is the language meant, and give it, as such, more or less correctly. If Pistol's sword were a Toledo blade, the motto would be Spanish. In that case 'Si' and 'me' would need no alteration. Mr Douce mentions a sword inscribed with a French version of the motto. On the same ground we have left 'obsque,' for 'absque,' (v. 5. 28), 'obsque' being the reading in two copies of F<sub>1</sub> in Trinity College Library, though Booth's Reprint has 'absque.'

NOTE VIII.

II. 4. 226 sqq. We follow the Quarto in writing 's for is, 'i' for in, 'll' for will, an for if, a' for he, &c. as it seems to represent better the language of the speakers, and from this point we cease to record such minute discrepancies between it and the Folios.

NOTE IX.

II. 4. 329. At this point commences an important variation between different copies of the Quarto. In the earlier impression, which we call Q<sub>1</sub>, the whole of Act III. Sc. 1 was omitted, but inserted in the latter (Q<sub>2</sub>), and in order to make room for this insertion two new leaves were added to sheet E, but the new matter was not quite sufficient to fill up the two leaves required. Hence in Q<sub>2</sub>, Sig. E 3 recto is made to terminate at 'how now, whats the matter?' (II. 4. 357) which is the eighth line from the bottom in Q<sub>1</sub>. The two become again identical at 'strong, and of good friends' (III. 2. 103), the first line of Sig. F.

NOTE X.

III. 2. 130. We retain the reading of the Quarto, understanding 'much' in the ironical sense in which it is often found. See As You Like It, iv. 3. 2, and the present play, II. 4. 125.

NOTE XI.

III. 2. 305 and 323. There are variations in different copies of the Quarto, in line 305, between genius and gemies, and, in line 323, between let and Till. A variation is found also, v. 2. 140, between you and your. In iv. 1. 12, the two copies of the Quarto in the Bodleian, one of which (Malone 35) has four leaves in sheet E and the other (Malone 36) six leaves, both read could; and this is the reading of the two copies in the British Museum, both of which (C. 12. g. 20, and C. 34. k. 12) have six leaves in sheet E. On the other hand, Capell's copy which has four leaves in sheet E, and the Duke of Devonshire's which has six leaves, both read would.

NOTE XII.

iv. 1. 93, 95. These lines are omitted in the Folios and in some copies of the Quarto. With regard to the former line, Theobald says that one of his copies of the Quarto reads, 'And consecrate Commotion's civil Edge:' in his text he altered 'civil edge' to 'civil page.'

iv. 1. 94. Mr Singer supposed that after commonwealth a line had been lost, something to the following effect:

'Whose wrongs do loudly call out for redress.'

Mr Julius Lloyd writes to us: "I am sure the lines are transposed and should be read thus:

'I make my quarrel in particular

My brother; general, the commonwealth.'

"The transposition is proved, further, by the separation of the doubtful lines:

'And consecrate commotion's bitter edge

To brother born an household cruelty,'

which are plainly continuous."

Mr Spedding writes: "I think some lines have been lost. If

'And consecrate commotion's bitter edge'

belongs to Westmoreland's speech, there must have been another line following, to complete the cadence both in sound and sense. And again, if 'There is no need of any such redress'

is the beginning of his next speech, it is equally clear that something about 'redress' must have been said between. The opposition between 'brother general' and 'brother born' reads to me like Shakespeare, and not likely to have come in by accident: and though the transposition of the lines [as suggested by Mr Lloyd] is ingenious and intelligible and in another context might be natural, it does not come naturally in the context proposed. Conjecture seems hopeless in such a case."

On the whole, we are of opinion that several lines have been omitted, and those which remain displaced, and that this is one of the many passages in which the true text is irrecoverable.

Keightley (1864) marks an aposiopesis after 'commonwealth.'

Dr Nicholson (N. and Q., June, 1866) proposes to end Westmoreland's speech with the line

'To brother born, an household cruelty;'

and to read 'no particular.' The same transposition is proposed by Mr Prowett (N. and Q., Sept. 1866), but he retains 'in particular.'

Mr Bulloch (1878) reads,

And consecrate commotion's bitter edge?

To brother born unhousel'd cruelty.

Arch. To brother general &c.

Mr Vaughan (1878) suggests 'evil page:' Mr Herr 'title page.' Mr Vaughan would insert

'I make my quarrel in the general,' or omit line 95. He prefers the latter course.

Herr (1879) proposes,

The commonwealth's, my brother in th' general,

I make my quarrel in th' particular,

'Gainst brother born an household cruelty.

Mr Watkiss Lloyd (N. and Q., 1890) would read,

With other general to the commonwealth,

To brother born an household cruelty

I make my quarrel in particular.

NOTE XIII.

iv. 2. 27. The reading 'seal,' which has been attributed to Mr Collier's MS. corrector, we have assigned to Capell, considering that we are justified in doing so, because in his Various Readings (part i. p. 52) he has the note 'seal 1st F.—' We think it clear that he inadvertently attributed a conjecture of his own to the first and following Folios. The manner in which the entry is made in his MS., which we have consulted, confirms this view.

NOTE XIV.

iv. 4, and iv. 5. The Jerusalem Chamber in which the king died belonged, as Holinshed tells us (p. 1162, col. 2, ed. 1577), to the Abbot of Westminster. The same authority states that he was first taken ill not in the Jerusalem Chamber, as Shakespeare says (iv. 5. 233—235), but when paying his devotions at the shrine of S. Edward.

Although neither the Folios nor any more recent editors make a change of scene after line 132, we have ventured to do so, for, as Mr Dyce says, 'In fact the audience of Shakespeare's time were to suppose that a change of scene took place as soon as the king was laid on the bed.' (On the same principle, all editors except Rowe have made a new scene to begin after iv. 1. 228, where no change is marked in the Folios.)

Capell's stage direction is not satisfactory, for it implies a change of scene, though none is indicated in his text. The king's couch would not be placed in a recess at the back of the stage, because he has to make speeches from it of considerable length. He must therefore be lying in front of the stage where he could be seen and heard by the audience.

NOTE XV.

iv. 5. 60, &c. We give Pope's arrangement of this passage in full:

'K. Henry. The Prince hath ta'en it hence; go seek him out.
Is he so hasty, that he doth suppose
My sleep my death? find him, my lord of Warwick,
And chide him hither strait; this part of his
Conjoins with my disease, and helps to end me.
See, sons, what things you are! how quickly nature
Falls to revolt, when gold becomes her object?
For this, the foolish over-careful fathers
Have broke their sleeps with thought, their brains with care,
Their bones with industry: for this engrossed

The canker'd heaps of strange-atchieved gold :
 For this, they have been thoughtful to invest
 Their sons with arts and martial exercises :
 When, like the Bee, culling from ev'ry Flow'r,
 Our thighs are packt with wax, our mouths with honey, &c.'

NOTE XVI.

iv. 5. 147—149. Herr proposes to read and arrange thus :

'Than's my most true and inward-duteous spirit
 Teacheth,—let me no more from this obeisance rise,
 This prostrate and exterior bending!'

NOTE XVII.

v. 3. 36. This, like all Silence's snatches of song, is printed as prose in the Quarto, and ends shrovetide, be mery, be mery. The Folios print these words in the same line, but with a full stop at Shrovetide. Rowe, and all subsequent editors to Johnson inclusive, printed the last four words as if they were spoken, not sung. Capell corrected the error, and printed, Be merry, be merry, &c. In line 74, the word Samingo is printed as if spoken, and not sung, by all editors down to Malone.

NOTE XVIII.

v. 4. 'Sincklo.' See note iv. to The Taming of the Shrew.

NOTE XIX.

v. 5. 1. The Quarto prefixes the numbers 1, 2, 3, to the first three speeches of this scene. Mr Dyce conjectured that the speech given to the first groom at line 3, might be distributed thus :

'Third Groom. 'Twill be two of the clock ere they come from the coronation.

First Groom. Dispatch, dispatch.'

In his second edition he adopted this arrangement.

NOTE XX.

v. 5. 5. It seems probable from the stage-direction of the Quarto, that the king first crossed the stage in procession to his coronation, which is supposed to take place during the dialogue between Falstaff and the others, and that on his second entrance he appeared with the crown on his head.

Enter the ARCHBISHOP of CANTERBURY, and the BISHOP of ELY.

Cant. My lord, I'll tell you; that self bill is urged,
Which in the eleventh year of the last king's reign
Was like, and had indeed against us pass'd,
But that the scrambling and unquiet time
Did push it out of farther question. 5

Ely. But how, my lord, shall we resist it now?

Cant. It must be thought on. If it pass against us,
We lose the better half of our possession:
For all the temporal lands, which men devout
By testament have given to the church, 10
Would they strip from us; being valued thus:
As much as would maintain, to the king's honour,
Full fifteen earls and fifteen hundred knights,
Six thousand and two hundred good esquires;
And, to relief of lazars and weak age, 15
Of indigent faint souls past corporal toil,
A hundred almshouses right well supplied;
And to the coffers of the king beside,
A thousand pounds by the year: thus runs the bill.

Ely. This would drink deep.

Cant. The king is full of grace and fair regard.

Ely. And a true lover of the holy church.

Cant. The courses of his youth promised it not.
 The breath no sooner left his father's body, 25
 But that his wildness, mortified in him,
 Seem'd to die too; yea, at that very moment,
 Consideration like an angel came
 And whipp'd the offending Adam out of him,
 Leaving his body as a paradise, 30
 To envelope and contain celestial spirits.
 Never was such a sudden scholar made;
 Never came reformation in a flood,
 With such a heady currance, scouring faults;
 Nor never Hydra-headed wilfulness 35
 So soon did lose his seat, and all at once,
 As in this king.

Ely. We are blessed in the change.

Cant. Hear him but reason in divinity,
 And all-admiring with an inward wish
 You would desire the king were made a prelate: 40
 Hear him debate of commonwealth affairs,
 You would say it hath been all in all his study:
 List his discourse of war, and you shall hear

Familiar as his garter: that, when he speaks,

 His companies unletter'd, rude and shallow, 55
 His hours fill'd up with riots, banquets, sports,
 And never noted in him any study,
 Any retirement, any sequestration
 From open haunts and popularity.

Ely. The strawberry grows underneath the nettle, 60
 And wholesome berries thrive and ripen best
 Neighbour'd by fruit of baser quality:
 And so the prince obscured his contemplation
 Under the veil of wildness; which, no doubt,
 Grew like the summer grass, fastest by night, 65
 Unseen, yet crescive in his faculty.

Cant. It must be so; for miracles are ceased;
 And therefore we must needs admit the means
 How things are perfected.

Ely. But, my good lord,
 How now for mitigation of this bill 70
 Urged by the commons? Doth his majesty
 Incline to it, or no?

 Which I have open'd to his grace at large,
 As touching France, to give a greater sum
 Than ever at one time the clergy yet 80
 Did to his predecessors part withal.

Ely. How did this offer seem received, my lord?

Cant. With good acceptance of his majesty;
 Save that there was not time enough to hear,
 As I perceived his grace would fain have done, 85
 The severals and unhidden passages
 Of his true titles to some certain dukedoms,
 And generally to the crown and seat of France,
 Derived from Edward, his great-grandfather.

Ely. What was the impediment that broke this off?

Cant. The French ambassador upon that instant 91
 Craved audience; and the hour, I think, is come
 To give him hearing: is it four o'clock?

Ely. It is.

Cant. Then go we in, to know his embassy; 95

K. Hen. Where is my gracious Lord of Canterbury?

Exe. Not here in presence.

K. Hen. Send for him, good uncle.

West. Shall we call in the ambassador, my liege?

K. Hen. Not yet, my cousin: we would be resolved,
Before we hear him, of some things of weight 5
That task our thoughts, concerning us and France.

Enter the ARCHBISHOP of CANTERBURY and the BISHOP of ELY.

Cant. God and his angels guard your sacred throne,
And make you long become it!

K. Hen. Sure, we thank you.

My learned lord, we pray you to proceed
And justly and religiously unfold 10
Why the law Salique that they have in France
Or should, or should not, bar us in our claim:
And God forbid, my dear and faithful lord,
That you should fashion, wrest, or bow your reading,
Or nicely charge your understanding soul 15
With opening titles miscreate, whose right
Suits not in native colours with the truth;
For God doth know how many now in health
Shall drop their blood in approbation
Of what your reverence shall incite us to. 20

Therefore take heed how you impawn our person,
 How you awake our sleeping sword of war :
 We charge you, in the name of God, take heed ;
 For never two such kingdoms did contend
 Without much fall of blood ; whose guiltless drops 25
 Are every one a woe, a sore complaint
 'Gainst him whose wrongs give edge unto the swords
 That make such waste in brief mortality.
 Under this conjuration speak, my lord ;
 For we will hear, note and believe in heart 30
 That what you speak is in your conscience wash'd
 As pure as sin with baptism.

Cant. Then hear me, gracious sovereign, and you peers,
 That owe yourselves, your lives and services
 To this imperial throne. There is no bar 35
 To make against your highness' claim to France
 But this, which they produce from Pharamond,

 'No woman shall succeed in Salique land :'
 Which Salique land the French unjustly gloze 40

Where Charles the Great, having subdued the Saxons,
 There left behind and settled certain French ;
 Who, holding in disdain the German women
 For some dishonest manners of their life,
 Establish'd then this law ; to wit, no female 50
 Should be inheritrix in Salique land :
 Which Salique, as I said, 'twixt Elbe and Sala,
 Is at this day in Germany call'd Meisen.
 Then doth it well appear the Salique law
 Was not devised for the realm of France ; 55
 Nor did the French possess the Salique land
 Until four hundred one and twenty years
 After defunction of King Pharamond,
 Idly supposed the founder of this law ;
 Who died within the year of our redemption 60
 Four hundred twenty-six ; and Charles the Great Subdued the Saxons, and did seat the French
 Beyond the river Sala, in the year
 Eight hundred five. Besides, their writers say,
 King Pepin, which deposed Childeric, 65
 Did, as heir general, being descended
 Of Blithild, which was daughter to King Clothair,
 Make claim and title to the crown of France.

Though, in pure truth, it was corrupt and naught,
 Convey'd himself as heir to the Lady Lingare,
 Daughter to Charlemain, who was the son . 75
 To Lewis the emperor, and Lewis the son
 Of Charles the Great. Also King Lewis the tenth,
 Who was sole heir to the usurper Capet,
 Could not keep quiet in his conscience,
 Wearing the crown of France, till satisfied 80
 That fair Queen Isabel, his grandmother,
 Was lineal of the Lady Ermengare,
 Daughter to Charles the foresaid duke of Lorraine:
 By the which marriage the line of Charles the Great
 Was re-united to the crown of France. 85
 So that, as clear as is the summer's sun,
 King Pepin's title and Hugh Capet's claim,
 King Lewis his satisfaction, all appear
 To hold in right and title of the female:
 So do the kings of France unto this day; 90

When the man dies, let the inheritance

Stand for your own; unwind your bloody flag;
Look back into your mighty ancestors:
Go, my dread lord, to your great-grandsire's tomb,

K. Hen. We do not mean the coursing snatchers only,
 But fear the main intendment of the Scot,
 Who hath been still a giddy neighbour to us; 145
 For you shall read that my great-grandfather
 Never went with his forces into France,
 But that the Scot on his unfurnish'd kingdom
 Came pouring, like the tide into a breach,
 With ample and brim fulness of his force, 150
 Galling the gleaned land with hot assays,

 Comes sneaking and so sucks her princely eggs,

Therefore with frank and with uncurbed plainness
Tell us the Dauphin's mind.

First Amb. Thus, then, in few. 245
Your highness, lately sending into France,
Did claim some certain dukedoms, in the right
Of your great predecessor, King Edward the third.
In answer of which claim, the prince our master
Says that you savour too much of your youth, 250
And bids you be advised there's nought in France
That can be with a nimble galliard won;
You cannot revel into dukedoms there.
He therefore sends you, meeter for your spirit,
This tun of treasure; and, in lieu of this, 255

Tell him he hath made a match with such a wrangler
That all the courts of France will be disturb'd 265
With chaces. And we understand him well,
How he comes o'er us with our wilder days,
Not measuring what use we made of them.
We never valued this poor seat of England;
And therefore, living hence, did give ourself 270
To barbarous license; as 'tis ever common
That men are merriest when they are from home.
But tell the Dauphin I will keep my state,
Be like a king and show my sail of greatness
When I do rouse me in my throne of France : 275
For that I have laid by my majesty,

 That shall fly with them: for many a thousand widows
 Shall this his mock mock out of their dear husbands;
 Mock mothers from their sons, mock castles down; 286
 And some are yet ungotten and unborn
 That shall have cause to curse the Dauphin's scorn.
 But this lies all within the will of God,
 To whom I do appeal; and in whose name 290
 Tell you the Dauphin I am coming on,

ACT II.

PROLOGUE.

Enter Chorus.

Chor. Now all the youth of England are on fire,
 And silken dalliance in the wardrobe lies:
 Now thrive the armorers, and honour's thought
 Reigns solely in the breast of every man:
 They sell the pasture now to buy the horse, 5
 Following the mirror of all Christian kings,
 With winged heels, as English Mercuries.
 For now sits Expectation in the air,
 And hides a sword from hilts unto the point
 With crowns imperial, crowns and coronets, 10
 Promised to Harry and his followers.
 The French, advised by good intelligence
 Of this most dreadful preparation,
 Shake in their fear and with pale policy
 Seek to divert the English purposes. 15
 O England! model to thy inward greatness,
 Like little body with a mighty heart,

What mightst thou do, that honour would thee do,
 Were all thy children kind and natural!
 But see thy fault! France hath in thee found out 20

The 'solus' in thy teeth, and in thy throat,

And in thy hateful lungs, yea, in thy maw, perdy,

And, which is worse, within thy nasty mouth!

I do retort the 'solus' in thy bowels;

For I can take, and Pistol's cock is up, 50

And flashing fire will follow.

Nym. I am not Barbason; you cannot conjure me. I have an humour to knock you indifferently well. No; to the spital go,

If little faults, proceeding on distemper,
 Shall not be wink'd at, how shall we stretch our eye 55
 When capital crimes, chew'd, swallow'd and digested,
 Appear before us? We'll yet enlarge that man,
 Though Cambridge, Scroop and Grey, in their dear care
 And tender preservation of our person,
 Would have him punish'd. And now to our French causes:
 Who are the late commissioners? 61

Cam. I one, my lord:

Your highness bade me ask for it to-day.

Scroop. So did you me, my liege.

Grey. And I, my royal sovereign. 65

K. Hen. Then, Richard Earl of Cambridge, there is yours;

There yours, Lord Scroop of Masham; and, sir knight,
 Grey of Northumberland, this same is yours:

Read them; and know, I know your worthiness.

My Lord of Westmoreland, and uncle Exeter, 70

We will aboard to night. Why, how now, gentlemen!

What see you in those papers that you lose

So much complexion? Look ye, how they change!

Their cheeks are paper. Why, what read you there,

That hath so cowarded and chased your blood 75

Out of appearance?

You must not dare, for shame, to talk of mercy;
For your own reasons turn into your bosoms,
As dogs upon their masters, worrying you.
See you, my princes and my noble peers,
These English monsters! My Lord of Cambridge here,
You know how apt our love was to accord 86
To furnish him with all appertinents
Belonging to his honour; and this man
Hath, for a few light crowns, lightly conspired,
And sworn unto the practices of France, 90
To kill us here in Hampton: to the which
This knight, no less for bounty bound to us
Than Cambridge is, hath likewise sworn. But, O,
What shall I say to thee, Lord Scroop? thou cruel,
Ingrateful, savage and inhuman creature! 95
Thou that didst bear the key of all my counsels,
That knew'st the very bottom of my soul,
That almost mightst have coin'd me into gold,
Wouldst thou have practised on me for thy use,
May it be possible, that foreign hire 100
Could out of thee extract one spark of evil
That might annoy my finger? 'tis so strange,

Left by the fatal and neglected English
Upon our fields.

Dau. My most redoubted father,
It is most meet we arm us 'gainst the foe; 15
For peace itself should not so dull a kingdom,
Though war nor no known quarrel were in question,
But that defences, musters, preparations,
Should be maintain'd, assembled and collected,
As were a war in expectation. 20
Therefore, I say 'tis meet we all go forth
To view the sick and feeble parts of France:
And let us do it with no show of fear;
No, with no more than if we heard that England
Were busied with a Whitsun morris-dance: 25
For, my good liege, she is so idly king'd,
Her sceptre so fantastically borne
By a vain, giddy, shallow, humorous youth,
That fear attends her not.

Con. O peace, Prince Dauphin!
You are too much mistaken in this king: 30
Question your grace the late ambassadors,
With what great state he heard their embassy,
How well supplied with noble counsellors,
How modest in exception, and withal
How terrible in constant resolution, 35
And you shall find his vanities forespent
Were but the outside of the Roman Brutus,
Covering discretion with a coat of folly;
As gardeners do with ordure hide those roots
That shall first spring and be most delicate. 40

But though we think it so, it is no matter :

 The enemy more mighty than he seems :
 So the proportions of defence are fill'd ; 45
 Which of a weak and niggardly projection
 Doth, like a miser, spoil his coat with scanting
 A little cloth.

Fr. King. Think we King Harry strong ;
 And, princes, look you strongly arm to meet him.
 The kindred of him hath been flesh'd upon us ; 50
 And he is bred out of that bloody strain
 That haunted us in our familiar paths :
 Witness our too much memorable shame
 When Cressy battle fatally was struck,
 And all our princes captived by the hand 55
 Of that black name, Edward, Black Prince of Wales ;
 Whiles that his mountain sire, on mountain standing,
 Up in the air, crown'd with the golden sun,
 Saw his heroical seed, and smiled to see him,
 Mangle the work of nature, and deface 60
 The patterns that by God and by French fathers
 Had twenty years been made. This is a stem
 Of that victorious stock ; and let us fear
 The native mightiness and fate of him.

Mess. Ambassadors from Harry King of England . 65
Do crave admittance to your majesty.

Fr. King. We'll give them present audience. Go, and bring them. [Exeunt Messenger and certain Lords.]
You see this chase is hotly follow'd, friends.

Dau. Turn head, and stop pursuit; for coward dogs
Most spend their mouths when what they seem to threaten Runs far before them. Good my sovereign, 71
Take up the English short, and let them know
Of what a monarchy you are the head:
Self-love, my liege, is not so vile a sin
As self-neglecting.

Re-enter Lords, with EXETER and train.

Fr. King. From our brother England? 75

Exe. From him; and thus he greets your majesty.
He wills you, in the name of God Almighty,
That you divest yourself, and lay apart
The borrow'd glories that by gift of heaven,
By law of nature and of nations, 'long 80
To him and to his heirs; namely, the crown
And all wide-stretched honours that pertain
By custom and the ordinance of times
Unto the crown of France. That you may know

'Tis no sinister nor no awkward claim, 85
 Pick'd from the worm-holes of long-vanish'd days,
 Nor from the dust of old oblivion raked,
 He sends you this most memorable line,
 In every branch truly demonstrative;
 Willing you overlook this pedigree: 90
 And when you find him evenly derived
 From his most famed of famous ancestors,
 Edward the third, he bids you then resign
 Your crown and kingdom, indirectly held
 From him the native and true challenger. 95

Fr. King. Or else what follows?

Exe. Bloody constraint; for if you hide the crown
 Even in your hearts, there will he rake for it:
 Therefore in fierce tempest is he coming,
 In thunder and in earthquake, like a Jove, 100
 That, if requiring fail, he will compel;
 And bids you, in the bowels of the Lord,
 Deliver up the crown, and to take mercy
 On the poor souls for whom this hungry war
 Opens his vasty jaws; and on your head 105
 Turning the widows' tears, the orphans' cries,
 The dead men's blood, the pining maidens' groans,
 For husbands, fathers and betrothed lovers,

This is his claim, his threatening, and my message; 110
Unless the Dauphin be in presence here,
To whom expressly I bring greeting too.

Fr. King. For us, we will consider of this further :
To-morrow shall you bear our full intent
Back to our brother England.

Dau. For the Dauphin, 115
I stand here for him : what to him from England ?

Exe. Scorn and defiance ; slight regard, contempt,
And any thing that may not misbecome
The mighty sender, doth he prize you at.
Thus says my king ; an if your father's highness 120
Do not, in grant of all demands at large,
Sweeten the bitter mock you sent his majesty,
He'll call you to so hot an answer of it,
That caves and womby vaultages of France
Shall chide your trespass, and return your mock 125
In second accent of his ordnance.

Dau. Say, if my father render fair return,
It is against my will ; for I desire
Nothing but odds with England : to that end,

Knocks go and come; God's vassals drop and die;

And sword and shield,

In bloody field,

Doth win immortal fame. 10

Boy. Would I were in an alehouse in London! I would give all my fame for a pot of ale and safety.

[Exeunt all but Boy. 26]

Boy. As young as I am, I have observed these three swashers. I am boy to them all three: but all they three, though they would serve me, could not be man to me; for indeed three such antics do not amount to a man. For Bardolph, he is white-livered and red-faced; by the means whereof a' faces it out, but fights not. For Pistol, he hath a killing tongue and a quiet sword; by the means whereof a' breaks words, and keeps whole weapons. For Nym, he hath heard that men of few words are the best men; and therefore he scorns to say his prayers, lest a' should be thought a coward: but his few bad words are matched with as few good deeds; for a' never broke any man's head but his own, and that was against a post when he was drunk. They will steal any thing, and call it purchase. Bardolph stole a lute-case, bore it twelve leagues, and sold it for three half-pence. Nym and Bardolph are sworn brothers in filching, and in Calais they stole a fire-shovel: I knew by that piece of service the men would carry coals. They would have me as familiar with men's pockets as their gloves or their handkerchers: which makes much against my manhood, if I should take from another's pocket to put into mine; for it is plain pocketing up of wrongs. I must leave them, and seek some better service: their villany goes against my weak stomach, and therefore I must cast it up. [Exit. 51]

Re-enter FLUELLEN, GOWER following.

The Governor and some Citizens on the walls; the English forces below. Enter KING HENRY and his train.

K. Hen. How yet resolves the governor of the town?
 This is the latest parle we will admit:
 Therefore to our best mercy give yourselves;
 Or like to men proud of destruction
 Defy us to our worst: for, as I am a soldier, 5
 A name that in my thoughts becomes me best,
 If I begin the battery once again,
 I will not leave the half-achieved Harfleur
 Till in her ashes she lie buried.
 The gates of mercy shall be all shut up, 10
 And the flesh'd soldier, rough and hard of heart,
 In liberty of bloody hand shall range
 With conscience wide as hell, mowing like grass
 Your fresh-fair virgins and your flowering infants.
 What is it then to me, if impious war, 15
 Array'd in flames like to the prince of fiends,
 Do, with his smirch'd complexion, all fell feats
 Enlink'd to waste and desolation?
 What is 't to me, when you yourselves are cause,
 If your pure maidens fall into the hand 20
 Of hot and forcing violation?

What rein can hold licentious wickedness
 When down the hill he holds his fierce career?
 We may as bootless spend our vain command
 Upon the enraged soldiers in their spoil 25
 As send precepts to the leviathan
 To come ashore. Therefore, you men of Harfleur,
 Take pity of your town and of your people,
 Whiles yet my soldiers are in my command;
 Whiles yet the cool and temperate wind of grace 30
 O'erblows the filthy and contagious clouds
 Of heady murder, spoil and villany.
 If not, why, in a moment look to see
 The blind and bloody soldier with foul hand
 Defile the locks of your shrill-shrieking daughters; 35
 Your fathers taken by the silver beards,
 And their most reverend heads dash'd to the walls,
 Your naked infants spitted upon pikes,

Flu. By your patience, Aunchient Pistol. Fortune is painted blind, with a muffler afore her eyes, to signify to you that Fortune is blind; and she is painted also with a wheel, to signify to you, which is the moral of it, that she is turning, and inconstant, and mutability, and varia-

stone, which rolls, and rolls, and rolls: in good truth, the

And such fellows are perfect in the great commanders' names: and they will learn you by rote where services were done; at such and such a sconce, at such a breach, at such a convoy; who came off bravely, who was shot, who disgraced, what terms the enemy stood on; and this they can perfectly in the phrase of war, which they trick up with new-tuned oaths: and what a beard of the general's cut and a horrid suit of the camp will do among foaming bottles and ale-washed wits, is wonderful to be thought on. But you must learn to know such slanders of the age, or else you may be marvellously mistook. 79

K. Hen. How now, Fluellen! camest thou from the bridge?

Flu. Ay, so please your majesty. The Duke of Exeter has very gallantly maintained the pridge: the French is gone off, look you; and there is gallant and most prave passages: marry, th' athversary was have possession of the pridge; but he is enforced to retire, and the Duke of Exeter is master of the pridge: I can tell your majesty, the duke is a prave man.

K. Hen. What men have you lost, Fluellen? 94

Flu. The perdition of th' athversary hath been very great, reasonable great: marry, for my part, I think the duke hath lost never a man, but one that is like to be executed for robbing a church, one Bardolph, if your majesty know the man: his face is all bubukles, and whelks, and knobs, and flames o' fire: and his lips blows at his nose, and it is like a coal of fire, sometimes plue and sometimes red; but his nose is executed, and his fire's out. 102

K. Hen. We would have all such offenders so cut off: and we give express charge, that in our marches through the country, there be nothing compelled from the villages, nothing taken but paid for, none of the French upbraided or abused in disdainful language; for when lenity and cruelty play for a kingdom, the gentler gamester is the soonest winner.

England: Though we seemed dead, we did but sleep: advantage is a better soldier than rashness. Tell him we could have rebuked him at Harfleur, but that we thought not good to bruise an injury till it were full ripe: now we speak upon our cue, and our voice is imperial: England shall repent his folly, see his weakness, and admire our sufferance. Bid him therefore consider of his ransom; which must proportion the losses we have borne, the subjects we have lost, the disgrace we have digested; which in weight to re-answer, his pettiness would bow under.
For our losses, his exchequer is too poor; for the effusion of our blood, the muster of his kingdom too faint a number; and for our disgrace, his own person, kneeling at our feet, but a weak and worthless satisfaction. To this add defiance: and tell him, for conclusion, he hath betrayed his followers, whose condemnation is pronounced. So far my king and master; so much my office.

 I thought upon one pair of English legs
 Did march three Frenchmen. Yet, forgive me, God, 145
 That I do brag thus! This your air of France
 Hath blown that vice in me; I must repent.
 Go therefore, tell thy master here I am;
 My ransom is this frail and worthless trunk,
 My army but a weak and sickly guard; 150
 Yet, God before, tell him we will come on,
 Though France himself and such another neighbour
 Stand in our way. There's for thy labour, Montjoy.
 Go, bid thy master well advise himself:
 If we may pass, we will; if we be hinder'd, 155
 We shall your tawny ground with your red blood
 Discolour: and so, Montjoy, fare you well.
 The sum of all our answer is but this:
 We would not seek a battle, as we are;

Ça, ha! he bounds from the earth, as if his entrails were hairs; le cheval volant, the Pegasus, chez les narines de feu! When I bestride him, I soar, I am a hawk: he trots the air; the earth sings when he touches it; the basest horn of his hoof is more musical than the pipe of Hermes.

Dau. It is the prince of palfreys; his neigh is like the bidding of a monarch, and his countenance enforces homage.

Orl. No more, cousin. 30

Dau. Nay, the man hath no wit that cannot, from the rising of the lark to the lodging of the lamb, vary deserved praise on my palfrey: it is a theme as fluent as the sea: turn the sands into eloquent tongues, and my horse is argument for them all: 'tis a subject for a sovereign to reason on, and for a sovereign's sovereign to ride on; and for the world, familiar to us and unknown, to lay apart their particular functions and wonder at him. I once writ a sonnet in his praise, and began thus: 'Wonder of nature,'— 40

K. Hen. Even as men wrecked upon a sand, that look to be washed off the next tide.

Bates. He hath not told his thought to the king?

K. Hen. No; nor it is not meet he should. For, though I speak it to you, I think the king is but a man, as I am: the violet smells to him as it doth to me; the element shows to him as it doth to me; all his senses have but human conditions: his ceremonies laid by, in his nakedness he appears but a man; and though his affections are higher mounted than ours, yet, when they stoop, they stoop with the like wing. Therefore when he sees reason of fears, as we do, his fears, out of doubt, be of the same relish as ours are: yet, in reason, no man should possess him with any appearance of fear, lest he, by showing it, should dishearten his army. 111

Bates. He may show what outward courage he will; but I believe, as cold a night as 'tis, he could wish himself in Thames up to the neck; and so I would he were, and I by him, at all adventures, so we were quit here. 116

K. Hen. By my troth, I will speak my conscience of the king: I think he would not wish himself any where but where he is.

Bates. Then I would he were here alone; so should he be sure to be ransomed, and a many poor men's lives saved. 122

127

Will. That's more than we know.

Bates. Ay, or more than we should seek after; for we know enough, if we know we are the king's subjects: if his cause be wrong, our obedience to the king wipes the crime of it out of us.

132

Will. But if the cause be not good, the king himself hath a heavy reckoning to make, when all those legs and arms and heads, chopped off in a battle, shall join together at the latter day and cry all 'We died at such a place;' some swearing, some crying for a surgeon, some upon their wives left poor behind them, some upon the debts they owe, some upon their children rawly left. I am afeard there are few die well that die in a battle; for how can they charitably dispose of any thing, when blood is their argument? Now, if these men do not die well, it will be a black matter for the king that led them to it; whom to disobey were against all proportion of subjection.

145

K. Hen. So, if a son that is by his father sent about merchandise do sinfully miscarry upon the sea, the imputation of his wickedness, by your rule, should be imposed upon his father that sent him: or if a servant, under his master's command transporting a sum of money, be assailed by robbers and die in many irreconciled iniquities, you may call the business of the master the author of the servant's damnation: but this is not so: the king is not bound to answer the particular endings of his soldiers, the father of his son, nor the master of his servant; for they purpose not their death, when they purpose their services. Besides, there is no king, be his cause never so spotless, if it come to the arbitrement of swords, can try it out with all unspotted soldiers: some peradventure have on them the guilt of premeditated and contrived murder; some, of beguiling virgins with the broken seals of perjury; some, making the wars their bulwark, that have before gored the gentle bosom of peace with pillage and robbery. Now, if these men have defeated the law and outrun native punishment, though they can outstrip men, they have no wings to fly from God: war is His beadle, war is His vengeance; so that here men are punished for before-breach of the king's laws in now the king's quarrel: where they feared the death, they have borne life away; and where they would be safe, they perish: then if they die unprovided, no more is the king guilty of their damnation than he was before guilty of those impieties for the which they are now visited. Every subject's duty is the king's; but every subject's soul is his own. Therefore should every soldier in the wars do as every sick man in his bed, wash every mote out of his conscience:

and dying so, death is to him advantage; or not dying, the time was blessedly lost wherein such preparation was gained: and in him that escapes, it were not sin to think that, making God so free an offer, He let him outlive that day to see His greatness and to teach others how they should prepare. 183

God be wi' you, princes all; I'll to my charge:

If we no more meet till we meet in heaven,

Then, joyfully, my noble Lord of Bedford,

My dear Lord Gloucester, and my good Lord Exeter,

And my kind kinsman, warriors all, adieu! 10

Bed. Farewell, good Salisbury; and good luck go with thee!

Exe. Farewell, kind lord; fight valiantly to-day:
And yet I do thee wrong to mind thee of it,
For thou art framed of the firm truth of valour.

But one ten thousand of those men in England
That do no work to-day!

K. Hen. What's he that wishes so?
My cousin Westmoreland? No, my fair cousin:
If we are mark'd to die, we are enow 20
To do our country loss; and if to live,
The fewer men, the greater share of honour.
God's will! I pray thee, wish not one man more.
By Jove, I am not covetous for gold,
Nor care I who doth feed upon my cost; 25
It yearns me not if men my garments wear;
Such outward things dwell not in my desires:
But if it be a sin to covet honour,
I am the most offending soul alive.
No, faith, my coz, wish not a man from England: 30
God's peace! I would not lose so great an honour
As one man more, methinks, would share from me
For the best hope I have. O, do not wish one more!
Rather proclaim it, Westmoreland, through my host,
That he which hath no stomach to this fight, 35
Let him depart; his passport shall be made
And crowns for convoy put into his purse:
We would not die in that man's company
That fears his fellowship to die with us.
This day is call'd the feast of Crispian: 40
He that outlives this day, and comes safe home,
Will stand a tip-toe when this day is named,
And rouse him at the name of Crispian.

He that shall live this day, and see old age,
 Will yearly on the vigil feast his neighbours, 45
 And say, 'To-morrow is Saint Crispian :'
 Then will he strip his sleeve and show his scars,
 And say 'These wounds I had on Crispin's day.'
 Old men forget; yet all shall be forgot,
 But he'll remember with advantages 50
 What feats he did that day: then shall our names,
 Familiar in his mouth as household words,
 Harry the king, Bedford and Exeter,
 Warwick and Talbot, Salisbury and Gloucester,
 Be in their flowing cups freshly remember'd. 55
 This story shall the good man teach his son;
 And Crispin Crispian shall ne'er go by,
 From this day to the ending of the world,
 But we in it shall be remembered;
 We few, we happy few, we band of brothers; 60
 For he to-day that sheds his blood with me
 Shall be my brother; be he ne'er so vile,
 This day shall gentle his condition:
 And gentlemen in England now a-bed
 Shall think themselves accursed they were not here, 65
 And hold their manhoods cheap whiles any speaks
 That fought with us upon Saint Crispin's day.

Which likes me better than to wish us one.

 Bid them achieve me and then sell my bones. .91
 Good God ! why should they mock poor fellows thus ?
 The man that once did sell the lion's skin
 While the beast lived, was killed with hunting him.
 A many of our bodies shall no doubt 95
 Find native graves ; upon the which, I trust,
 Shall witness live in brass of this day's work :
 And those that leave their valiant bones in France,
 Dying like men, though buried in your dunghills,
 They shall be famed ; for there the sun shall greet them,
 And draw their honours reeking up to heaven ; 101
 Leaving their earthly parts to choke your clime,
 The smell whereof shall breed a plague in France.
 Mark then abounding valour in our English,
 That being dead, like to the bullet's grazing, 105
 Break out into a second course of mischief,
 Killing in relapse of mortality.
 Let me speak proudly : tell the constable
 We are but warriors for the working-day ;
 Our gayness and our guilt are all besmirch'd 110
 With rainy marching in the painful field ;
 There's not a piece of feather in our host—

 And turn them out of service. If they do this,—
 As, if God please, they shall,—my ransom then 120

Suffolk first died : and York, all haggled over,
Comes to him, where in gore he lay insteep'd,
And takes him by the beard ; kisses the gashes
That bloodily did yawn upon his face ;
And cries aloud 'Tarry, dear cousin Suffolk ! 15

My soul shall thine keep company to heaven ;
Tarry, sweet soul, for mine, then fly abreast,
As in this glorious and well-foughten field
We kept together in our chivalry !'

I tell you, captain, if you look in the maps of the 'orld, I warrant you shall find, in the comparisons between Macedon and Monmouth, that the situations, look you, is both alike. There is a river in Macedon; and there is also moreover a river at Monmouth: it is called Wye at Monmouth; but it is out of my prains what is the name of the other river; but 'tis all one, 'tis alike as my fingers is to my fingers, and there is salmons in both. Until this instant. Take a trumpet, herald;
 Ride thou unto the horsemen on yon hill:
 If they will fight with us, bid them come down, 55
 Or void the field; they do offend our sight:
 If they'll do neither, we will come to them,
 And make them skirr away, as swift as stones
 Enforced from the old Assyrian slings:
 Besides, we'll cut the throats of those we have, 60
 And not a man of them that we shall take Shall taste our mercy. Go and tell them so.

That I have fined these bones of mine for ransom?
 Comest thou again for ransom?

Mont. No, great king:

I come to thee for charitable license,
 That we may wander o'er this bloody field
 To book our dead, and then to bury them; 70
 To sort our nobles from our common men.

And then to Calais; and to England then;
Where ne'er from France arrived more happy men.

Chor. Vouchsafe to those that have not read the story,
That I may prompt them: and of such as have,
I humbly pray them to admit the excuse

Athwart the sea. Behold, the English beach
 Pales in the flood with men, with wives and boys, 10
 Whose shouts and claps out-voice the deep-mouth'd sea,
 Which like a mighty whiffler 'fore the king
 Seems to prepare his way: so let him land,
 And solemnly see him set on to London.
 So swift a pace hath thought, that even now 15
 You may imagine him upon Blackheath;
 Where that his lords desire him to have borne
 His bruised helmet and his bended sword
 Before him through the city: he forbids it,
 Being free from vainness and self-glorious pride; 20
 Giving full trophy, signal and ostent
 Quite from himself to God. But now behold,
 In the quick forge and working-house of thought,
 How London doth pour out her citizens!
 The mayor and all his brethren in best sort, 25
 Like to the senators of the antique Rome,
 With the plebeians swarming at their heels,
 Go forth and fetch their conquering Cæsar in:
 As, by a lower but loving likelihood,
 Were now the general of our gracious empress, 30
 As in good time he may, from Ireland coming,
 Bringing rebellion broached on his sword,
 How many would the peaceful city quit,
 To welcome him! much more, and much more cause,
 Did they this Harry. Now in London place him; 35
 As yet the lamentation of the French
 Invites the King of England's stay at home;

To have me fold up Parca's fatal web?

Hence! I am qualmish at the smell of leek. 20

K. Hen. The princess is the better Englishwoman. I' faith, Kate, my wooing is fit for thy understanding: I am glad thou canst speak no better English; for, if thou couldst, thou wouldst find me such a plain king that thou wouldst think I had sold my farm to buy my crown. I know no ways to mince it in love, but directly to say 'I love you:' then if you urge me farther than to say 'Do you in faith?' I wear out my suit. Give me your answer; i' faith, do: and so clap hands and a bargain: how say you, lady? 130

Kath. Sauf votre honneur, me understand vell.

K. Hen. Marry, if you would put me to verses or to dance for your sake, Kate, why you undid me: for the one, I have neither words nor measure, and for the other, I have no strength in measure, yet a reasonable measure in strength. If I could win a lady at leap-frog, or by vaulting into my saddle with my armour on my back, under the correction of bragging be it spoken, I should quickly leap into a wife. Or if I might buffet for my love, or bound my horse for her favours, I could lay on like a butcher and sit like a jack-an-apes, never off.

But, before God, Kate, I cannot look greenly nor gasp out my eloquence, nor I have no cunning in protestation; only downright oaths, which I never use till urged, nor never break for urging. If thou canst love a fellow of this temper, Kate, whose face is not worth sun-burning, that never looks in his glass for love of any thing he sees there, let thine eye be thy cook. I speak to thee plain soldier: if thou canst love me for this, take me; if not, to say to thee that I shall die, is true; but for thy love, by the Lord, no; yet I love thee too. And while thou livest, dear Kate, take a fellow of plain and uncoined constancy; for he perforce must do thee right, because he hath not the gift to woo in other places: for these fellows of infinite tongue, that can rhyme themselves into ladies' favours, they do always reason themselves out again. What! a speaker is but a prater; a rhyme is but a ballad. A good leg will fall; a straight back will stoop; a black beard will turn white; a curled pate will grow bald; a fair face will wither; a full eye will wax hollow: but a good heart, Kate, is the sun and the moon; or, rather, the sun, and not the moon; for it shines bright and never changes, but keeps his course truly. If thou would have such a one, take me; and take me, take a soldier; take

K. Hen. No; it is not possible you should love the enemy of France, Kate: but, in loving me, you should love the friend of France; for I love France so well that I will not part with a village of it; I will have it all mine: and, Kate, when France is mine and I am yours, then yours is France and you are mine. 175

Come, I know thou lovest me: and at night, when you come into your closet, you'll question this gentlewoman about me; and I know, Kate, you will to her dispraise those parts in me that you love with your heart: but, good Kate, mock me mercifully; the rather, gentle princess, because I love thee cruelly. If ever thou beest mine, Kate, as I have a saving faith within me tells me thou shalt, I get thee with scrambling, and thou must therefore needs prove a good soldier-breeder: shall not thou and I, between Saint Denis and Saint George, compound a boy, half French, half English, that shall go to Constantinople and take the Turk by the beard? shall we not? what sayest thou, my fair flower-de-luce?

Bur. Pardon the frankness of my mirth, if I answer you for that. If you would conjure in her, you must make a circle; if conjure up love in her in his true likeness, he must appear naked and blind. Can you blame her then, being a maid yet rosed over with the virgin crimson of modesty, if she deny the appearance of a naked blind boy in her naked seeing self? It were, my lord, a hard condition for a maid to consign to. 294

K. Hen. This moral ties me over to time and a hot summer; and so I shall catch the fly, your cousin, in the latter end, and she must be blind too.

K. Hen. It is so: and you may, some of you, thank love for my blindness, who cannot see many a fair French city for one fair French maid that stands in my way.

K. Hen. Shall Kate be my wife?

NOTES.

NOTE I.

DRAMATIS PERSONÆ. In Rowe's list, which remained uncorrected by any editor before Capell, the Duke of Clarence is introduced and the Duke of York is called 'Uncle to the king.' The list we have given differs in a few other unimportant points from that of Rowe.

In the first Folio the title of the play is The Life of Henry the Fifth. The second Folio has The Life of King Henry the Fifth. In the Folios the play is divided into acts, but not into scenes, although they prefix Actus Primus. Scena Prima, to the first act. The division was first made by Pope.

NOTE II.

Act II. Prologue, 31, 32. Mr Knight says, "The passage is evidently corrupt; and we believe that the two lines were intended to be erased from the author's copy; for 'the abuse of distance' is inapplicable as the lines stand." Mr Keightley proposes to read,

'and we'll digest

The abuse of distance, as we forge our play.'

We have left the reading of the Folios, as no proposed emendation can be regarded as entirely satisfactory.

Mr Bulloch (5 July, 1864) suggested

'until we force

The abyss of distance, and digest a play.'

Mr Moberly would restore the text thus :

‘and we’ll defeat
The abuse of distance. For so foul a play
The sum is paid &c.’

NOTE III.

II. 2. 139, 140. Malone misquotes the reading of Pope in this passage, and his error is repeated without correction in subsequent editions. Mr Mitford in the Gentleman's Magazine, Nov. 1844, proposes to read, ‘To mark the full-fraught man and least inclined,’ &c., quoting ‘inclined’ as if it were the received text. Perhaps it is a printer's error.

NOTE IV.

II. 2. 176. Mr Collier in a note which has remained uncorrected in his second edition says, “Malone, without any authority from Quartos or Folios, printed ‘Whose ruin you three sought.’” The fact is that this is the reading of every Folio, except the first, and of every edition, without exception, which had appeared before Malone's.

NOTE V.

II. 3. 16. Here is Pope's note on this famous passage : ‘These words and a table of green fields are not to be found in the old editions of 1600 and 1608. This nonsense got into all the following editions by a pleasant mistake of the Stage-editors, who printed from the common piecemeal-written parts in the Play-house. A Table was here directed to be brought in (it being a scene in a tavern where they drink at parting) and this direction crept into the text from the margin. Greenfield was the name of the Property-man in that time who furnished implements &c. for the actors. A table of Greenfield's.’

Theobald's emendation was suggested, he says, by a marginal conjecture in an edition of Shakespeare ‘by a gentleman sometime deceased.’ Shakespeare Restored, p. 138.

Mr Spedding approved of talked as being nearer to the ductus literarum, according to the handwriting of the time. The reading talked derives some support from the following passage in the Quartos:

- ‘His nose was as sharpe as a pen:
For when I saw him fumble with the sheetes,
And talk of floures, and smile vpo his fingers ends
I knew there was no way but one.’

NOTE VI.

II. 4. 1. We retain the reading comes which is authorized by the Folios. It is an example of the idiom mentioned in the note to King John, v. 4. 14. So we find in the passage of the first and third Quartos, corresponding to II. 4. 72, ‘Cut up this English short,’ and again in that corresponding to IV. 3. 69, ‘The French is in the field.’ See, also, IV. 4. 74.

NOTE VII.

III. 2. 19. The Quartos here read ‘breaches,’ not ‘preaches,’ and the Folios ‘breach,’ not ‘preach.’ Throughout the speeches of Fluellen the old copies sometimes mark the peculiarity of his pronunciation, by using ‘p’ for ‘b,’ and ‘t’ for ‘d,’ sometimes not; an inconsistency, which Hammer and others have attempted to correct. As a rule, we have silently followed the first Folio. See Merry Wives of Windsor, Note II. The same will apply to the Scotch of Jamy and the Irish of Macmorris; for these dialects, which could not be represented by the printer, were left to the actor’s power of imitation.

Ritson, in his Remarks, p. 108, says, ‘In the Folio, it is the duke of Exeter and not Fluellen, who enters, and to whom Pistol addresses himself. Shakspeare had made the alteration and the player editors inserted it in the text, but, inadvertently, left Fluellen in possession of the margin.’ No copy of any Folio with which we are acquainted bears out Ritson’s assertion. All have Enter Fluellen, as well as Flu. in the margin. It seems to us that there is some comic humour in making Pistol, almost beside himself with fright, endeavour to propitiate the captain by giving him high sounding titles. The language, too, of the exhortation is more suitable to the choleric Fluellen than to the stately Exeter. Sidney Walker would give Fluellen’s speech to the Duke of Exeter or of Bedford.

NOTE VIII.

III. 2. 116—118. Mr Knight, at the suggestion of a friend, transposes this passage thus: 'Of my nation? What ish my nation? What ish my nation? Who talks of my nation ish a villain, a bastard, and a knave, and a rascal.' We agree with Mr Staunton's suggestion, that 'the incoherence of the original was designed to mark the impetuosity of the speaker.'

Dyce (ed. 2) adopts Knight's transposition.

NOTE IX.

III. 3. 32. The editor of the variorum edition of 1803, adopting the emendation 'deadly,' which was really Capell's conjecture, though Malone appropriates it, makes it appear, as if on the authority of Malone, that 'deadly' is the reading of the second Folio. We have left unnoticed many similar errors, which run, uncorrected, through the successive variorum editions.

NOTE X.

III. 4. 1. We content ourselves with a few specimens of the errors and variations of the old copies in this scene. The French was set right, or nearly so, by successive alterations made by Rowe, Pope, Theobald, Warburton, and Capell. Some obvious corrections in the distribution of the dialogue were made by Theobald.

NOTE XI.

III. 5. The stage direction of the Folios is as follows:

Enter the King of France, the Dolphin, the Constable of France, and others. To the speeches which commence lines 10 and 32 they prefix Brit. But as the Duke of 'Britaine' does not appear elsewhere in the play, and as the stage direction of the Quartos runs: Enter King of France, Bourbon, Dolphin, and others, we have followed Theobald in introducing Bourbon among the persons who enter and in assigning the two speeches to him.

'Bourbon,' and not 'Britaine,' is mentioned among the lords in line 41. In Holinshed (p. 1077, ed. 1577), the Dukes of Berry and Britaine are mentioned as belonging to the French king's council, and not the Duke of Bourbon. Shakespeare probably first intended to introduce the Duke of Britaine, and then changed his mind, but forgot to substitute Bour. for Brit. before the two speeches. Rowe omitted to insert the Duke of 'Britaine' in his list of Dramatis Personæ.

NOTE XII.

III. 5. 40. As the metre will not allow us to set Delabreth right by reading D'Albret, we do not see what is gained by substituting De-la-bret, which is as erroneous as the word which Shakespeare copied from Holinshed. The same chronicler afterwards calls him Dalbreth. (Holinshed, ed. 1577, pp. 1175, 1176). Hall has Delabret.

NOTE XIII.

III. 6. 103—109. Pope, following the Quarto to a certain extent, alters the whole passage thus :

'We would have such offenders so cut off,
And give express charge that in all our march
There shall be nothing taken from the villages
But shall be paid for, and no French upbraided
Or yet abused in disdainful language;
When lenity and cruelty play for kingdoms
The gentler gamester is the soonest winner.'

NOTE XIV.

III. 6. 114—131. Pope gives the speech as follows :

'Thus says my King: say thou to Harry England,
Although we seemed dead, we did but sleep:
Advantage is a better soldier than rashness.
Tell him we could at Harfleur have rebuk'd him,
But that we thought not good to bruise an injury
Till it were ripe. Now speak we on our cue,
With voice imperial: England shall repent
His folly, see his weakness, and admire
Our suff'rance. Bid him therefore to consider

What must the ransom be, which must proportion
 The losses we have born, the subjects we
 Have lost, and the disgrace we have digested;
 To answer which, his pettiness would bow under.
 First for our loss, too poor is his Exchequer;
 For the effusion of our blood, his army
 Too faint a number; and for our disgrace,
 Ev'n his own person kneeling at our feet
 A weak and worthless satisfaction.
 To this defiance add; and for conclusion,
 Tell him he hath betray'd his followers,
 Whose condemnation is pronounc'd. So far
 My King and master; and so much my office.'

NOTE XV.

iv. Prol. 45. Theobald's reading of this obscure passage is as follows:

'Then, mean and gentle, all
 Behold, (as may unworthiness define)
 A little touch, &c.'

In his note he says: 'The poet, first, expatiates on the real influence that Harry's eye had on the camp: and then addressing himself to every degree of his audience, he tells them, he'll shew (as well as his unworthy pen and powers can describe it) a little touch, or sketch of this hero in the night.'

Hanmer reads,

'Then mean and gentle all
 Behold, &c.'

Capell, following substantially Theobald, reads,

'Then, mean and gentle all,
 Behold, &c.'

Theobald supports his reading by two quotations from previous speeches of the chorus (i. prol. 8; ii. prol. 35) in which the audience are addressed as 'gentles;' but this does not justify the supposition that he would address any of them as 'mean.' The phrase 'mean and gentle' appears to us to refer to the various ranks of the English army who are mentioned in the previous line. Delius's conjecture that a line is lost after the word 'all' seems very probable.

NOTE XVI.

iv. 1. 287, 288. Theobald says, "The poet might intend, 'Take from them the sense of reckoning those opposed numbers; which might pluck their courage from them.' But the relative not being expressed, the sense is very obscure; and the following verb seems a petition, in the imperative mood."

Perhaps a line has been lost, which, by help of the Quartos, we might supply thus:

'Take from them now
The sense of reckoning of the opposed numbers,
Lest that the multitudes which stand before them
Pluck their hearts from them.'

NOTE XVII.

iv. 2. 60. The conjectural reading, guidon: for Guard: on, which we have adopted, and which is attributed by recent editors to Dr Thackeray, late Provost of King's College, Cambridge, is found in Rann's edition, without any name attached. Dr Thackeray probably made the conjecture independently. We find it written in pencil on the margin of his copy of Nares's Glossary, under the word 'Guard.'

Palsgrave writes it gilderne and guydern.

NOTE XVIII.

iv. 3. 13, 14. Thirlby's emendation, which indeed seems absolutely to be required by the context, is supported by the corresponding passage in the Quartos:

'Clar. Farewell kind Lord, fight valiantly to day,
And yet in truth, I do thee wrong,
For thou art made on the true sparkes of honour.'

NOTE XIX.

iv. 3. 52. We retain his mouth, because it gives a very complete sense, and because the authority of the Folio is greatly superior to that of the Quarto. The names of the King, Bedford, &c. were to be familiar as household words in the mouth of the old veteran, that is, spoken of every day, not on one day of the year only. The neighbours, who had no personal recollections connected with those names, were only reminded of them by their host on St Crispin's day.

NOTE XX.

v. 1. 75. Although it appears from line 77, 'And there my rendezvous is quite cut off,' that Capell's emendation is what Shakespeare ought to have written, yet as the reading 'Doll' is found throughout both the Quartos and Folios, it is probable that the mistake is the author's own, and therefore, in accordance with our principle, we have allowed it to remain.

NOTE XXI.

v. 2. 178, 179. Warburton's printer by mistake gave 'married' for 'new-married.' Johnson says: "Every wife is a married wife: I suppose we should read 'new-married,'" which is in fact the reading of every edition before Warburton's. In line 152, he omitted to correct Warburton's misprint of 'Kate' for 'dear Kate.' The Doctor seems to have collated the older editions by fits and starts, with long intervals of laziness.

NOTE XXII.

v. 2. 180, 181. As it is clear that the king is meant to speak bad French, we leave uncorrected what we find in the Folios. His French is much worse in the Quartos. In line 214, most editors, somewhat inconsistently, leave 'mon' for 'ma' while they change 'cher' and 'devin' to 'chère' and 'divine.'

NOTE XXIII.

v. 2. 285. This curious misprint, 'hatred' for 'flattery,' escaped the notice of Pope, who repeated it in both his editions. Theobald first pointed it out in his Letters to Warburton, Nichols' Illustrations, Vol. II. p. 429.

NOTE XXIV.

v. 2. 332. Shakespeare copied both French and Latin from Holinshed, where by mistake 'Præclarissimus' is printed for 'Præcharissimus' (p. 1207, ed. 1577). The same error is found in Hall, Henry V. fol. 39 b (ed. 1550).

NOTE XXV.

v. 2. 365. The printer of the second Folio when he misread 'Sonet' for 'Senet,' probably supposed it to be the title of the poem of fourteen lines, which the Chorus speaks, though the position of the word is ambiguous. The printer of the fourth Folio and Rowe place it as if it belonged to the Enter Chorus rather than to the Exeunt. Pope omitted the word altogether, and it did not reappear till Mr Dyce restored it.
